More Witnesses Heard Before Judge Harris—Juryman Fails to Report on Account of Illness and Plourde Case Proceeds With 11 Jurors

The case of Green against the City of Lowell, which was started last week, was resumed before Judge Harris in the jury-waived session of the superior court this morning. Green brought suit to recover money which he alleges is due him as a member of the fire department. City Solicitor William W. Duncan represents the city, while Lawyer Donovan of Lawrence appears for the plaintiff.

It was nearly 11 o'clock when the court opened, owing to the fact that Judge Harris had to come from Bridgewater. Chief Edward S. Hosmer of the local fire department was called by City Solicitor Duncan. Handling witness a book containing the annual report of the department, Mr. Duncan asked: "In regard to this report which shows the names of the firemen there appears the name of William J. Green as hoseman. Now tell us about that."

"The substitutes had a badge which bore the word 'substitute' and the number of the company to which he belonged. In the report it will be seen that the numbers of the badge of the regular and call firemen are shown in that report, but the substitute men have no numbers, therefore the reason for no number appearing against their names."

Relative to a question asked by Lawyer Donovan, witness said that Green was not obliged to respond to a summons and if he failed to appear at a fire he committed no offense.

William King, who was formerly driver of the hose wagon of the City Co. No. 4 and also clerk of the company, was the next witness called. He gave a list of the names to which Green responded, also the dates of the alarms, the names of the persons for whom he substituted and the amount of money he received.

Jury Taken Ill
In the jury session of the court which is presided over by Judge Fox the case of Arthur Plourde against James P. Mahoney was resumed. Gardner W. Pearson for the plaintiff and William P. Curtin for the defense.

YEARS OF SUFFERING
Catarrh and Blood Disease—Doctors Failed to Cure
Miss Mabel P. Dawkins, 1214 Lafayette street, Fort Wayne, Ind., writes: "For three years I was troubled with catarrh and blood disease. I tried several doctors and a dozen different remedies, but none of them did me any good. A friend told me of Hood's Sarsaparilla. I took two bottles of this medicine and was as well and strong as ever. I feel like a different person and recommend Hood's to anyone suffering from catarrh."

IN POLICE COURT

Men Fined for Sunday Game of Dominoes

In police court today Krol Wymaski was charged with failing to provide the proper and necessary support for his wife and Krol, with what appeared to be natural modesty, denied the soft impeachment.

His wife Mary told Judge Hadley that her spouse had other women upon whom he bestowed his love and affection. She said that he gave other women his money instead of giving it to her. Asked as to his earning capacity Mary allowed that it had deteriorated. There was a time when he earned $15 and $16 a week, and Mary declared in broken English, punctuated with gestures, that her husband had given her on an average of less than $5 a week and that was not enough to support herself and the children.

Krol said that his wife was not telling the whole truth. He said he gave her on an average of $5.50 a week besides paying the rent and store bill and after doing all that he wanted to know how much he had left to lavish on other women. Krol answered his own question by stating that he didn't have enough left to buy tobacco. Judge Hadley heard all that Krol had to say and then ordered him to pay his wife $7.50 a week and the probation officer will see to it that Krol lives up to the terms of agreement set by the court.

Game of Dominoes
For playing dominoes on the Lord's day Christos Pappas, Michael Skolis, Anastasios Byriakeas and James Marinos were fined $10 each in police court today, and Charalabos Athanasios, George Derozas and Peter Poulos were fined $5 each for being present at the game. They were represented by Joseph Hennessy. The men were arrested from a house in Market street by Lieut. Freeman, Inspectors Walsh, Dwyer, Fox and Grady, and Sergeants Duncan and Ryan.

Withdrew His Appeal
James Allen, who was arrested a number of days ago on a charge of attempting to steal clothes in Talbot's apparel from a six months' sentence to the house of correction, withdrew his appeal today and his sentence stands affirmed.

The Drunken Offenders
Six first offenders were released; two were fined $2 each; Samuel Scott, a parole man, was returned to the state farm; Michael J. Turner, who was picked up on the road near Methuen and brought to Lowell by an automobile, was given a suspended sentence of four months. Michael's face looked like a raw mutton and he said he had been hooked by a cow. George Leach and John Roddy were fined $6 each.

Charles Poletier and Weltonia Beaulieu were charged with illicit cohabitation. The officers stated that the woman was married and was living apart from her husband. She was fined $75 and the man was fined $50.

Joseph Loughran appeared for the woman and James Stuart Murphy for the man.

Youngest Woman Ever Tried for Murder in Massachusetts—First Murder Trial With One Judge in Middlesex County—194 Talesmen Summoned for Jury Service—Case Opened This Morning

CAMBRIDGE, Nov. 25.—The Middlesex county court house at East Cambridge was thronged today by talesmen—194 in number—from whom will be drawn the jury which will try 17-year old Hattie Leblanc for the murder of her employer, Clarence F. Glover, at Waltham, Nov. 20, 1909. The trial opened at 10 a. m. today before Justice Daniel W. Bond, the oldest member of the Massachusetts superior court bench, both in age and seniority of service. The trial of the little French-Canadian girl from West Arlington, C. F. was notable in many respects. She is the youngest woman ever tried in Massachusetts for murder in the first degree. The case is generally considered one of the most mysterious with which the authorities have had to deal and for the first time in the history of the Middlesex county courts a single justice is presiding at a murder trial.

When court opened today all spectators were denied admission pending the empanelling of the jury. It was expected that the entire day would be given over to selecting the men who will pass judgment on the case.

District Attorney John J. Higgins conducted the case for the government and the interests of the youthful defendant were in the hands of Attorney Melvin M. Johnson.

Clarence Glover, proprietor of a Waltham laundry, died in a private hospital at Waltham on the night of Nov. 20, 1909. In an ante-mortem statement he declared that he had been shot by the Leblanc girl, who was employed as a domestic in his family. The girl was found three days after the death of Glover hiding under a bed in the Glover home.

Motion to Quash Overruled
The trial began with the customary motion by the defense for the quashing of the indictment for various reasons and of the overruling of the motion by the court. This gave Mr. Johnson, for Miss Leblanc, a chance to file exceptions, which will be one of the pleas for a new trial in case of an adverse verdict at the present trial.

The work of drawing a jury then began and in the first hour three men had taken seats in the box, out of 20 called from the panel.

Federal Troops Routed 400 Maderistas

Skirmish Occurred Near City of Chihuahua and Rebels Were Driven to the Mountains—Police Defied at Juarez, But Without Rioting

CHIHUAHUA, Mex., Nov. 28.—In an engagement near here yesterday which lasted from 9 o'clock in the morning until 2 in the afternoon, 600 federal troops routed a force of 400 Maderistas, driving them repeatedly from strong positions and compelling them to take to the wooded mountains. The revolutionists lost 15 killed and many wounded. There were no fatalities on the federal side, but several including three officers were wounded.

General Navarro was in command of the federal troops. He left Chihuahua at 5 o'clock yesterday at the head of four companies of the second battalion and two squads of cavalry from the 12th regiment. Near Presno, 12 miles out, one of the squads of cavalry fell behind to guard the road. They were ambushed by the rebels, who opened fire from hills on both sides of the road. Captain Flor-entino Garcia with 50 troopers, drove the enemy from their position. Captain Garcia waited for a portion of

TEX CONSULATORS ARRESTED.
MEXICO CITY, Nov. 28.—With the exception of the fighting at Chihuahua, reports reaching this city up to a late hour last night indicated no disturbances.
A company of the second cavalry and four pieces of artillery arrived at Orizaba to guard that place and Rio Blanco, where rioting has occurred recently. Ten men charged with conspiracy against the government were arrested and sent to this city for trial.
Sahillo reported the state of Coahuila (ranchos and Monterey and vicinity) were said to be peaceful.

MEXICO QUIET

NO DISTURBANCE WAS RECORDED YESTERDAY

LAREDO, Tex., Nov. 28.—Sunday was a day of quiet in northern Mexico, according to official advices received by General Villar, commander of the frontier forces of the Mexican army. Detachments stationed at different points about Matamoros and Ciudad Portillo Diaz sent despatches early yesterday morning and all were of the same tenor, that practically normal conditions prevail.

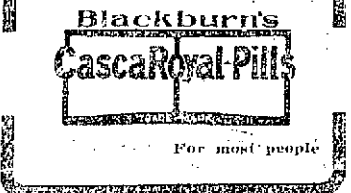

Similar statements were received from the detail of troops stationed along the border on the American side of the river. General fear of a formidable formation in the southern republic, seems to be dissipated.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

PAISED BY FIFTH AVENUE PASTOR

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—Women's clubs are superior to men's clubs, thinks Dr. Charles F. Aked, pastor of the Fifth Avenue Baptist church. "A man's club is for personal case, good cooking and good company," he said in his sermon yesterday. "The women's clubs of this country, so striking a feature in our national life, are organized for work. It may be for education, or propaganda, or charity, or philanthropy. They have not always lived up to their professions, a peculiarity which they share with churches, but at least they have in view something more than a comfortable chair and a well cooked chop."

"Our churches are generally manned by women. There is not a church in existence today which would be in existence but for love and yearnings of a woman's heart."

FOOTBALL RULES

Dr. Williams of Penn Discusses Them

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 28.—Dr. Carl Williams, representative of the University of Pennsylvania on the football rules committee and chairman of the advisory board of coaches, speaking of the new football rules yesterday said:

"There is no question that under the new rules there has been a decrease in the number of injuries. I contend, though, that the new rules have not succeeded in making the game more interesting to the public. The game has been marred by the fact that under the new rules prohibiting giving assistance to the runner, it is almost impossible for either of two evenly matched teams to gain more than two or three consecutive first downs. I would remedy this by permitting the runner to receive the assistance of at least one man. If such a rule were passed, it would be possible to restrict the forward pass to back of the line of scrimmage. This would give the offense an even chance. Then I would remove the 20 yard restriction from the on-side kick."

"With the experience of this year as a guide, next year's game should be far more interesting and just as safe."

Dr. Albert H. Shapiro, of Yale, coach of Penn Charter school, this city, and one of the best known referees in the country, said:

"As a coach and an official, I feel sure that the new game has reduced injuries, but it has not been an unqualified success. To improve it, I would remove the restrictions from the on-side kick. I would also eliminate the 20-yard zone intended to protect men going down the field under kicks and also the 5-yard zone back of the line of scrimmage beyond which a man had to stand when making a kick."

"I also think that the rules should be so framed as to permit a runner to catch hold of his interference, but I would not permit the runner to be shoved or pushed. The removal of restrictions from the on-side kick would compel the defense to open up and the attack could gain more consistently."

GENERAL OAKES

DROPPED ON SIDEWALK AND DIED SUDDENLY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—General James Oakes, who was retired in 1879 after thirty years of active service in the Mexican and Civil wars as well as the Indian uprisings in the southwest, sank unconscious to the pavement yesterday near his home and died 20 minutes later at a local hospital. Death was caused by heart trouble. General Oakes was 55 years old.

BROKEN RIB

SOWELL PLAYED GAME, THOUGH INJURED

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Nov. 28.—After the return from Philadelphia of the victorious Naval Academy football squad Saturday night it was learned that Ingram C. Sowell, the quarterback, played almost the entire game with the West Point Cadets Saturday suffering from a broken rib and probably a punctured lung.

The injury was sustained during the first few minutes of play, but Sowell paid no attention to it and his hurt was not known to any one else until the expiration of the first period. The quarterback's chest is heavily muscled and it was perhaps owing to this that examination of the field did not disclose serious injury. He was allowed to continue playing, but was told not to run with the ball. He disregarded that order, however.

Dr. A. H. Murphy, one of the Naval Academy surgeons, who was with the squad and who has since carefully examined Sowell, says that a rib is undoubtedly broken, but that he is not sure the lung has been punctured.

Sowell was put to bed at the hotel in Philadelphia soon after the game, but was considered well enough to return to Annapolis with the squad yesterday. The trip caused a rise in his temperature and last night it was 103 degrees.

Dr. Murphy is authority for the statement that the only possibility of danger lies in the chance of infection, of which there are no indications whatever.

TWO OVERCOME

IN FIRE AT READING LAST EVENING

READING, Nov. 28.—Two persons were overcome and rescued with difficulty and eleven others got to the street in their nightclothes barely in time to escape death in a fire which destroyed the home of C. W. Clark, opposite the Reading car barns early yesterday morning.

The flames had broken through the roof before they were discovered by M. C. Parkins, night foreman of the car barns. He ran across the street to awaken the inmates, while John Ronce, a motorman, went in alarm.

In the house, asleep, were Mr. Clark, his wife, their four children and seven lodgers. Parkins first awakened Clark and assisted him in getting Mrs. Clark and the children to the street in their nightclothes.

The lodgers were awakened and reached the street without trouble, except two, Ed Connors and Richard Bowman. The men were unconscious, and Black, Ronce and Parkins took them from the room and down into the street.

By the time the apothecaries arrived the house was fast gone. It is a total loss of about $5000.

TWO GAMBLERS TOOK A LONG CHANCE

LYNN, Nov. 28.—It was just by luck "Reddy" Perkins, who weighs 250 pounds, and another man whose name was lost in the shuffle landed last night, instead of on the pavement last night, when in an attempt to escape arrest in a gambling raid they crawled out of a third story window and perched themselves on a two-inch water pipe running along the side of the house underneath.

Officers Stringer and Reusen made the raid. They soft-footed their way up the stairs at 127 Oxford street, which was under suspicion of being a gambling resort, and entered a room on the third floor. As they did so they counted nine men present.

A MESSAGE TO THE "LIVE WIRES"

OF LOWELL

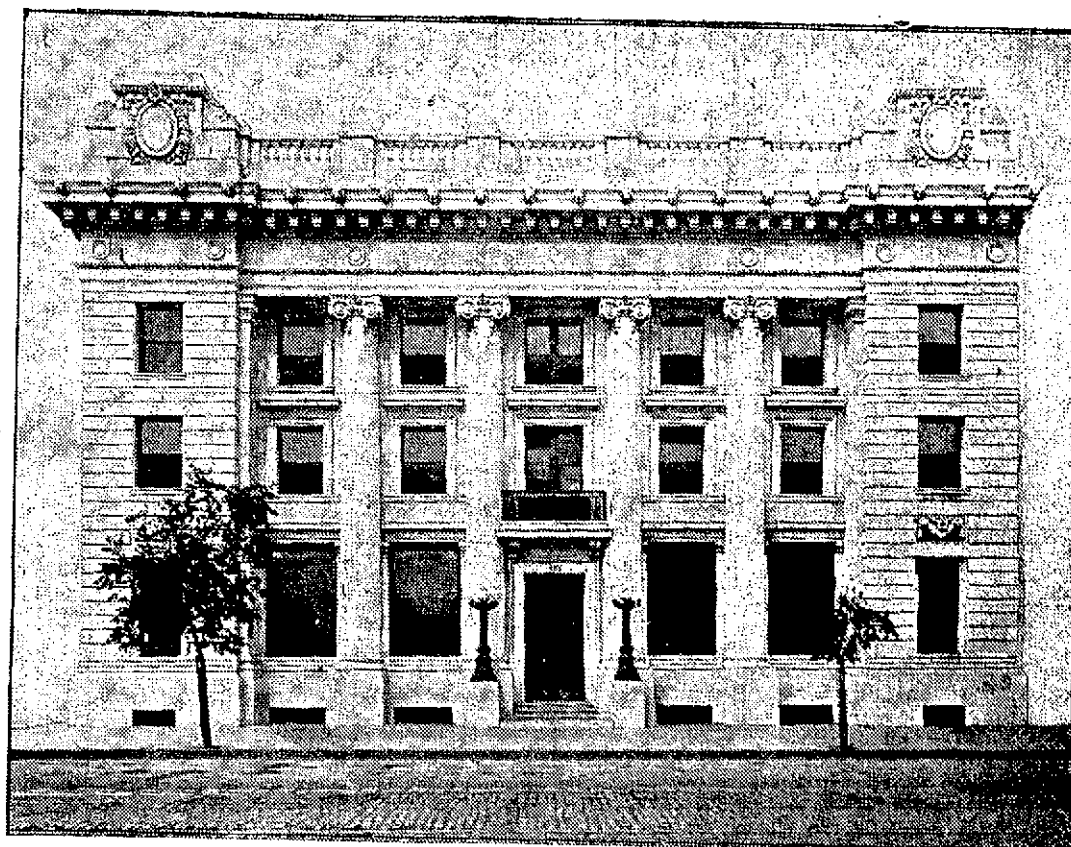

If you take all the men of Lowell and classify them you will have two groups—the "Live Wires" and the Failures. You will find some of the "Live Wires" in every factory, every shop and every busy place where men work together. These "Live Wires" are the men who are making good—they are giving the orders, doing the higher grades of work, and drawing the fat salaries. Ambition has lifted them above their fellows; they are successful because they are trained for their work. Their brain development is paying them dividends. The "Live Wires" are in demand—ask any employer.

There are many "Live Wires" in Lowell getting ready for the big jobs. They are the young men and women who are using their spare time and taking advantage of every opportunity to gain the knowledge that pays.

Then there is the other class—the Failures. They outnumber the "Live Wires" by a large majority. They will never get anywhere because they lack ambition and are content to plod along, working for small pay. There are so many of them that the "Live Wires" have a better chance. Success is only for the ambitious man who is in the game of life to win, and who is willing to pay the price, which is concentration of effort and hard work. The man without training, and without the energy necessary to get it, is beaten—he will remain for life in the ranks of the Failures.

Young Man, Are You a "Live Wire"?

If you are a "Live Wire" but lack the training that is necessary to make you successful, the Students Union can help you no matter what may be your present work or education. We can, through our system of training, place you in the high-salaried class in a short time if you are willing to do your part. The Students Union is a profit-sharing association furnishing the highest grade of technical instruction to its members. Nearly 1000 of the "Live Wires" of Greater Boston are now on its rolls and they are enthusiastic over its liberal plan.

Special Low Rates to Lowell Club of 100

In order to get the Students Union thoroughly introduced in Lowell the first 100 students enrolled will be given a special low rate. We know that when 100 of Lowell's ambitious men have become familiar with our unequalled system of salary-raising training their success will assist us to get hundreds of other students. Every "live wire"—every ambitious young man or woman—who wants to be prepared to fill a good position should grasp this opportunity. Don't let anything prevent you from joining this Club. It means success.

Here is a Partial List of the Positions For Which We Train You:

MECHANICAL DRAFTSMAN, MACHINE DESIGNER, FOREMAN MACHINIST, ELECTRICIAN, GAS ENGINE DESIGNER OR OPERATOR, PLUMBING AND HEATING ENGINEER, FOREMAN CARPENTER, STEAM ENGINEER OR FIREMAN, CIVIL ENGINEER, BOOKKEEPER, STENOGRAPHER, SHOW CARD WRITER, CIVIL SERVICE, ETC.

Recommends the Students Union

"I give you much credit for the thorough and practical manner in which you have laid out the course in Gas Engineering. What I thought would be difficult I find, with careful study, is quite easy, and would be glad to recommend the Students Union to every man who has any ambition. I believe it is the best investment and best correspondence school a young man could put his money into."

A NORTHERLY GALE

Swept Relentlessly Over Massachusetts Bay Yesterday

Incoming Ships Battered by Wind and Mountainous Seas—Boston Threatened With Scarcity of Fish

BOSTON, Nov. 28.—With unabated severity the northerly gale that for the past thirty-six hours has swept the Atlantic coast continued yesterday, and captains of steamers reaching port reported there were no signs of a let-up. The sea ran so heavy during the day some of the steamers due to arrive yesterday anchored outside in Massachusetts bay rather than run a chance of making port. It was the worst gale of the season and the wind varied from forty to sixty miles an hour during the day.

Schooner Ashore

On Cape Cod the storm was accompanied by snow and rain squalls, with occasional spells of blustering clear weather. As the storm center is northeast of Cape Cod, incoming liners during the next few days probably will have stories to tell of its effects. The Nova Scotia schooner Mercedes, bound for Boston, is ashore in the Bay of Fundy, and will likely be a total loss. Unable to get around the Cape because of the terrific seas running, the British steel hulk Sunlight, from Marcoris, San Domingo, with 450,000 gallons of molasses on board, is anchored off Wood End, near Provincetown. Capt. Crowley ran into shelter a few days ago when the gale started, fearing if he attempted to make this port his craft might meet with a mishap.

Seas Sweep Decks

Capt. Ernest Kinney of the steamer Prince Arthur, from Yarmouth, N. S., which docked at Long wharf at noon yesterday, reported that almost the entire passage was made in a blinding snow storm. The wind, he said, blew at the rate of sixty miles an hour, and only for a brief period did it abate.

The steamer made a very good run despite the fact that waves mountain high pounded her sides all night. She was about two hours late.

Eighty-five passengers on board the Prince Arthur, and all were glad to reach land once more. During the trip, one of the passengers said, no one ventured out on the decks, as the high waves made it extremely dangerous.

More than fifty schooners of the fishing fleet were obliged to remain at T wharf yesterday because of the gale, and as a consequence Boston will experience a scarcity of fish this week. Only four schooners made port yesterday, and the skippers of each reported having passed through one of the fiercest gales in years. At times the waves swept over the decks and threatened to sweep decks and men overboard.

The E. C. Hussey, while coming into the harbor Saturday night, was caught in the gale and lost her mainmast. She went into port yesterday morning. The schooner Lillian had a touch experience in the gale, but was fortunate in escaping damage. She received a severe pounding while coming around the cape. The Mattakesett and the Gloucester schooner John Hays Hammond were the others to come in.

Indian Forced to Anchor

Word reached the Merchant and Miners' steamship docks yesterday that the steamer Indian of that company, bound for this port from Philadelphia, anchored off Haverhill wharf on account of the first gale. The steamer Howard of the same company, from Baltimore, Newport News and Norfolk, with a large freight cargo and several passengers, reached port after dark. Capt. Henry S. Chase and the officers and crew of the steamer reported a howling gale blowing outside.

The steamer Transportation, bound for Baltimore, which left her berth Saturday night, did not continue on her passage. When she reached quarantine the wind was blowing so fast and the sea was so rough she dropped anchor to wait until the storm was over.

The Bay State, which sailed from Portland at 8 o'clock yesterday morning, reached Central wharf at 5:30 last night with 100 passengers, all cheerful after their breezy trip. The steamer had a very rough passage, but Capt. Linscott reported it was uneventful.

The Governor Dingley, which should have sailed for Portland Saturday night, did not leave this port until 7 o'clock yesterday morning.

The British freighter Burnholm, which was scheduled to reach port yesterday with a valuable cargo of sugar from Java, did not put in an appearance. No anxiety is felt for her safety, for she is a staunch craft and probably has been delayed by the rough sea. She is looked for today.

Seven Steamers Due

At least seven large steamers from foreign ports are scheduled to reach port today unless delayed by the storm. The Red Star liner Marquette, from Antwerp, with a large passenger list, will probably arrive early this morning. Before daylight the Buckland liner, from Calcutta and Colombo, the Houston steamer Hyperia from South American ports, with a cargo of wool, hides, etc., the Leyland liner, from Manchester, Eng., and the fruit steamer Esparto from Port Antonio should arrive.

There are three passenger steamers due this week, the White Star liner Canopus from Mediterranean ports, the liner Protarian from Glasgow, and the Leyland liner, from Liverpool. The Canopus has on board 147 passengers, mostly in the steerage.

FOUR FISHERMEN ARRIVE

BOSTON, Nov. 28.—A total amount of 140,500 pounds of fish was brought in on the four schooners that reached T wharf yesterday. Of that amount 12,000 pounds are haddock, 50,500 pounds cod, 19,000 pounds hake, 1800 pounds cod, 6500 pounds eusk, and 1000 pounds halibut.

The Gloucester fishing schooner John Hays Hammond, after a two weeks' trip to Roseway Bank, near La Hava, Nova Scotia, brought in 51,000 pounds of mixed fish. One thousand pounds were halibut. This was the first trip of the schooner to this port in a year.

The E. C. Hussey brought 22,000 pounds of mixed fish, the Lillian 22,000 pounds, and the Mattakesett 12,500 pounds.

WAS ASPHYXIATED

WORCESTER, Nov. 28.—Gas fumes from his automobile over which he was working in his garage, caused the death by asphyxiation yesterday of Edwin M. Hadley, a prominent Worcester manufacturer and capitalist. Mr. Hadley was 56 years of age and lived at 2 Lenox street. He is survived by a widow.

ANNUAL GOVERNORS' CONFERENCE WILL DISCUSS IMPORTANT SUBJECTS

FRANKFORT, Ky., Nov. 28.—Before the governors of the various states conclude their session at Frankfort and Louisville they promise to agree on how popular elections of United States senators can be secured and on the question of uniform divorce laws.

The opening session, held in Frankfort Nov. 29, is to be followed by the conference in Louisville of four days. Governor Elect Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey will talk on "The Possibilities of the Governors' Conference." Other features will be:

"The Governor—His Powers and Responsibilities—Short Ballot"—Address by Governor John Burke of North Dakota; address by Governor Herbert S. Hadley of Missouri.

"The Governor—His Powers and Responsibilities"—Address by Gamaliel Bradford.

"Conservation From the Standpoint of the State"—Address on "The Northwestern Idea of Conservation," by Governor Edwin L. Norris of Montana; address on "Conservation Within the State" by Governor Elect John A. Dix of New York. "Conservation of Human Life"—Comprising employers' liability law, child labor, pollution of streams, health, tuberculosis and other phases of the conservation of human life.

"The Income Tax Amendment"—Shall the states surrender to the federal government the power to tax incomes without apportionment among the states? If it should be deemed wise to grant this power, should it be conserved under the terms and phrasing of the proposed sixteenth amendment to the constitution?

"Direct Primaries"—Address by Governor John Franklin Fort of New Jersey.

FOR LODGE'S JOB

Col. Gaston, a Full Fledged Candidate

BOSTON, Nov. 28.—William Alexander Gaston hopes to succeed Senator Lodge from Massachusetts. This is not the first time Colonel Gaston has had the same hope. Colonel Gaston is a banker, clubman, lawyer and director in many corporations. He was born

May 1, 1859, in Massachusetts and is a graduate of Harvard law college. He was a democratic candidate for governor of Massachusetts in 1902. He secured his title of colonel from Gov. W. E. Russell. Colonel Gaston has been a delegate to the national democratic conventions and, with all his banking and law work, has had time to take a prominent part in the political world.

MARINE LECTURE

DELIVERED AT K. OF C. HALL YESTERDAY AFTERNOON

The Knights of Columbus hall in the Associate building was the scene of entertainment yesterday afternoon. It was the second in a series of Sunday afternoon entertainments and the feature was a talk given by James E. Burna, district passenger agent of the Cunard Steamship Co., his subject being "The Wonders of the Deep." His talk was accompanied by a number of colored views that were very interesting. The other members on the program consisted of piano selections by Arthur Mariel, songs, Miss Anna Brannen and readings by Miss Hazel Conner.

GARDNER RIGHT

For His Bout With Frank Klaus

YOU MAY TELL THE PEOPLE OF Lowell that Jimmie Gardner is in the pink of condition," said Billy Pierce, matchmaker of the Armory A. A. in a letter to the sporting editor of The Sun today.

Mr. Pierce to assure himself of Gardner's condition visited George Byers' training camp yesterday, where Gardner has been training with Sam Langford, and found him in great shape. The most confident man of all is Sam Langford who is putting out his money on Gardner.

In the first preliminary Freddie McGuire of this city will meet Tom Flanagan in a six round bout. Since Freddie put Flanagan away a year or more ago the latter has grown in weight and experience and has shown up lately at several bouts at the Armory club and an even affair is anticipated. A bang-up semi-final is expected when Joe Nelson of Lawrence and Tommy Furey of Attitash will clash.

The Boston sporting writers all predict that if Gardner is in shape he will best Klaus as the latter depends entirely on whiplash swings and they argue that Gardner being a much more skilful boxer can get inside of the swings and do the best work at short arm work.

A large delegation from Lowell will attend according to Fred Tibbe and Ed Cushing of this city, the local membership representatives of the Armory club.

IN CASE OF FIRE

Chief Hosmer Gives Some Sound Advice

If People Keep Cool and Exercise Care There is No Occasion for Loss of Life—Prompt Notification of Fire Department the Principal Thing—Lowell Cannot Have a Fire Similar to That Which Occurred in Newark Today

The fire which broke out in a four-story wooden building in Newark, N. J., Saturday in which 14 girls lost their lives, is sufficient to cause us to consider the possibility of such a catastrophe in Lowell. Fortunately, owing to the excellent fire department Lowell has at the present time, there have been no really big fires, that is when the equipment of the local department and the population and number of buildings in this city are compared with the same in other cities.

A representative of The Sun interviewed Chief E. S. Hosmer of the local fire department Saturday afternoon, relative to a fire similar to that in Newark occurring in this city.

Chief Hosmer's answer was: "If there was a panic and people jumped out of windows no fire department in the world could have been of any assistance under the terms and phrasing of the proposed sixteenth amendment to the constitution."

"Direct Primaries"—Address by Governor John Franklin Fort of New Jersey.

MATRIMONIAL
Mr. John F. Harmon and Miss Ellen H. Bauer were united in marriage on Friday afternoon at the parochial residence of St. Michael's church, by Rev. P. Mullin. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Lena Bauer, and Mr. Walter Smith was best man. A reception was held at the home of the bride and later in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Harmon left on a wedding trip. They will live at 379 Lakeside avenue and will be at home after Dec. 1.

SUTHERLAND—DAWSON.
Mr. William S. Sutherland and Miss Margaret E. Dawson were married Saturday evening by Rev. B. A. Willmott, pastor of the First Congregational church, at his residence. They were attended by friends. After a wedding trip they will take up their residence in this city.

EXCITING OPENING

Of British Campaign---Row In City of Cork

LONDON, Nov. 28.—The election address of Arthur J. Balfour, leader of the opposition in the house of commons, is a brief document. It declares that the Unionist program of legislation is practically the same as at the general election and asserts that behind the single chamber conspiracy lurks socialism and home rule.

It is because both nationalists and socialists were aware that their darling projects are not in harmony with the considered will of the people," says Mr. Balfour, "that they press for the abolition of the only constitutional safeguard which at critical moments will enable that will to prevail."

The opposition leader also alludes with the greatest brevity to the alternative scheme for the reform of the house of lords which Lord Lansdowne proposed.

RIOT AT CORK
DUBLIN, Nov. 28.—William Redmond's campaign in Cork against William O'Brien, has led to serious rioting by the rival factions. Several persons were injured there Saturday night and again last night. When a Redmondite procession tried to march through an O'Brienite quarter of the city, police blocked their way. Fights occurred on all hands and about 50 persons were injured. It is said that Mr. O'Brien has $125,000 at his command and will contest 24 seats, he himself contesting three, the constituencies of Cork City, East Cork and West Mayo.

A great demonstration was held in Dublin last night, with torchlights, bands and fireworks in honor of the return of Joseph Devlin, who addressed an enormous crowd on College Green on the success of his mission to America. John E. Redmond and John Dillon also made speeches praising Mr. Devlin's work.

BABIES STARVING

Chicago Strike Committee Reports 5000 Suffering

CHICAGO, Nov. 28.—The Citizens' strike committee, which has investigated conditions in the families of striking garment workers reported yesterday that 5000 babies are starving here as a result of the labor war. The report was made at a meeting at Hull house and a special babies' milk fund was started at once by members of the committee.

Estimates at the meeting showed it would take at least $100 a day to provide milk for babies in actual want, and the suffering appeared so great that $1100 was contributed by members of the committee. The fund is to be kept distinct from other strikers' funds.

The strike is no nearer settlement than a week ago, according to representatives of the union and both sides have settled down for a long struggle.

It is a pity that a thing would never occur to me, nor would it occur to many other drivers. For some reason or other, when I see that I am hopelessly out of a race, as at Savannah, I burst out with a regular school-boy laugh—not that I think it a joke to lose a race and a fat purse, and not that I do it intentionally. It is merely my substitute for hair-tearing and running up and down like a chicken with its head off. And, by the way, losing six or seven thousand dollars when it is just about under your nose is not a thing to bring a big smile to anyone, in view of the high cost of living. But they say I sneezed at Savannah, when I examined the car and saw all hope was gone.

It has always struck me that most foreign drivers do not try to develop "head-work" as they might and head-work in racing is something I have always paid a lot of attention to. I learned it in the bicycle racing game. Judging distance, speed, and especially gauging and keeping tabs on the other fellows, counts. It is just as necessary to retain your composure and avoid personal fatigue as it is to save the car. In fact what is known as head-work keeps you from "losing your head."

It strikes me that the driver who can remain cool and not get fussed when things go wrong during a contest is better able to stand the physical strain when he gets back in the running and invariably stands a better chance of catching up and I know a number of other drivers who agree with me.

RALPH DE PALMA

Tells of Experience in Auto Races

That automobile racing has peculiar psychological effects on drivers under certain circumstances is set forth in a rather lucid manner by Ralph De Palma, the well known automobile racer, who didn't do as well as he intended to in the Grand Prize race which was recently held in the south. He has the following to say about the race:

Since the Grand Prize race about everyone I have met after making a few remarks, facetious or otherwise, about the way I secured the lead in the last third of the big race,—something I shall never forget,—only to break down just before the finish, has inquired as to how much of a strain the contest was upon me physically. While some people may not believe it, that long race was the most enjoyable I have ever experienced on any course. For me, it was a "joy ride" in the true sense of the word. At the finish I do not think I was the least bit tired. If I did not feel fine it was because I was disappointed in losing out with a breakdown so near the finish, particularly when I had experienced absolutely no tire trouble. It was really remarkable that the Fiat's tires gave me no difficulty running for nearly 400 miles at 71 miles an hour average. It amused me a good deal just to watch how they stood up lap after lap. Why, while I was in the running I was having a great deal of fun waving to my friend, Bruce Brown, to stay back and not drive so fast. We were "kidding" each other frequently. The supposition that a mile road race is necessarily a hardship on a driver is a mistake.

On the other hand, take the case of Ray Harroun, who, when the race was a little more than half over, had to quit because he was exhausted and in bad shape. This statement is by no means any reflection on Harroun's ability, for he is one of the best. It merely shows that drivers cannot always keep in form for long periods under high speed conditions. That was demonstrated in a twenty-four hour race at Brighton last summer, when my name became paralyzed early in the grind, and Parker and Hawley and other seasoned men in the same race had the same trouble. This thing has occurred on other courses—a driver starting out in apparently perfect physical condition, and then having some part of his system go wrong—nausea or numbness, perhaps attacking him. Sometimes this is caused by a rough course or perhaps a little nervousness developed during the race, for while near accidents or bad skids have no after effect on the minds of some pilots (myself included), they have a decided effect on others.

I think a driver's temperament has a great deal to do with his actual physical condition while in a race. Take the French type of driver; as a class they are inclined to be excitable, or fly into a mad rage if something goes wrong while in the contest. Some of these have been known to start out after a slight delay and apparently lose their heads, driving a really "crazy" race, taking corners not only with recklessness but with bad, novice-like judgment as well. In fact a few years ago the wilder and crazier a speed merchant was, the bigger his reputation. There is a certain well known road driver who is always cool and perfectly calm while driving at phenomenal speed, but if anything irregular occurs to make him lose time he becomes highly nervous and has been known to bite his fingers or tear his hair in his excitement.

Now in a pinch such a thing would never occur to me, nor would it occur to many other drivers. For some reason or other, when I see that I am hopelessly out of a race, as at Savannah, I burst out with a regular school-boy laugh—not that I think it a joke to lose a race and a fat purse, and not that I do it intentionally. It is merely my substitute for hair-tearing and running up and down like a chicken with its head off. And, by the way, losing six or seven thousand dollars when it is just about under your nose is not a thing to bring a big smile to anyone, in view of the high cost of living. But they say I sneezed at Savannah, when I examined the car and saw all hope was gone.

It has always struck me that most foreign drivers do not try to develop "head-work" as they might and head-work in racing is something I have always paid a lot of attention to. I learned it in the bicycle racing game. Judging distance, speed, and especially gauging and keeping tabs on the other fellows, counts. It is just as necessary to retain your composure and avoid personal fatigue as it is to save the car. In fact what is known as head-work keeps you from "losing your head."

It strikes me that the driver who can remain cool and not get fussed when things go wrong during a contest is better able to stand the physical strain when he gets back in the running and invariably stands a better chance of catching up and I know a number of other drivers who agree with me.

THE QUESTION OF DAMS CAUSES TAFT WORRIMENT

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—There are dams and dams, and President Taft knows a bit about the difference, but he is not just sure when a dam is a dam, and as a result he is worried. The Chagres river down in Panama is a fearful stream of water. Now and then this river rises in its might and sweeps all before it. Colonel Goethals is sure his locks and dams and culverts will care for the rising of the Chagres, but engineers not in the employ of the government do not agree with him and have submitted much data to the president. Then the question of slides—that is, where the sides of the canal are sliding into the ditch—is another grave problem. President Taft has inspected the huge culverts, some twenty-four feet high, and he thinks they should carry off the water with the aid of various dams. But civil engineers are pointing out that the dams are built on insecure ground and that the huge culverts will not have serious breaks in the canal. President Taft hopes to solve some of the problems or at least make a clear report on the conditions in his message to congress.

an oleomargarine. Here is the parties record for the twelve months ended on June 30, as it shows in the files of the internal revenue bureau: One hundred and sixty-three million pounds of distilled spirits—30,000,000 more than the year before. Fifty-nine million, four hundred and sixty-five thousand, one hundred and sixteen barrels of fermented liquors, an increase of 3,000,000.

Seven billion, six hundred million cigars—100,000,000 more than 1909. Six billion, eight hundred and thirty million cigarettes—an increase of a million.

Four hundred and two million pounds of pig, fine cut, cube cut, granulated or sliced smoking or chewing tobacco—smuff—4,000,000 more than the year before.

One hundred and forty-one million eight hundred and sixty-two thousand two hundred and eighty-two pounds of oleomargarine—50,000,000 pounds increase.

Illicit distilling and other manufacturing of moonshine whiskey is on the increase, "especially," the bureau says, "where there are state-wide prohibition laws." Several Southern states had in offenses of that character. During the year officers closed 1911 of such plants, 290 more than the year before.

The internal revenue receipts on all these things—and certain other things, such as playing cards and mixed four—amounted to more than $289,000,000, and Commissioner Cabell's organization collected it all at a cost of about $5,000,000.

When the present year is ended, next June 30 Commissioner Cabell estimates his men will have collected at least $208,000,000.

LUMBERMEN

OF NEW ENGLAND WILL CONSIDER DEMURRAGE RULES

The New Hampshire Lumbermen's association, composed of a large number of lumber operators in various parts of New England, at a meeting which will be held in Manchester, N. H., Thursday, Dec. 22, will consider the demurrage rule of the railroads that has been an important issue the last few months.

The interstate commerce commission made a compromise with the shippers to the extent that the 48-hour rule, which was to have been put into effect October 1, would be suspended sixty days and beginning Dec. 1 the shippers in lumber and other forest products, grain and coal would have 72 hours free time for a period of six months. An independent demurrage board is to be established in Boston and an arbitrator appointed by the interstate commission to hear complaints and investigate conditions. At the end of the six months the arbitrator is to report to the commission what in his opinion are fair and just demurrage rules for New England, and whether or not the 72-hour time should be made permanent with reference to lumber and other forest products, grain and coal.

Attorney L. Ashton Thorp of Manchester, who is clerk of the Lumbermen's association, will probably appear before the arbitrator at Boston as counsel for many of the lumber shippers in this section of New England. There are a number of shippers who are interested in the demurrage rule which the railroads have tried to put into effect and who will use their influence to have the 72-hour rule adopted.

THE LOWELL SUN
JOHN H. HARRINGTON, Proprietor
SUN BUILDING, MERRIMACK SQUARE, LOWELL, MASS.
Member of the Associated Press
THREE DOLLARS PER YEAR. TWENTY-FIVE CENTS PER MONTH
The sworn daily average circulation of The Lowell Sun for the year 1909 was

Sworn to by John H. Harrington, proprietor, Martin H. Reidy, business manager, and Alfred Pilote, pressman, of The Sun, before me, January 1, 1910. J. JOSEPH HENNESSY, Notary Public.

This is by far the largest average circulation of any newspaper in Lowell.

The story of Cadahy's rise to wealth reads like a romance.

The poor, who cannot very well afford to purchase coal have been favored by the remarkably mild weather this fall.

J. Armstrong Drexel is credited with having gone farther heavenward than any other aviator.

There was no skating in Lowell at Thanksgiving, but there is a prospect of compensation when the Shedd skating park will have been opened.

Governor-elect Foss is determined to keep his word in regard to stamping the state against Lodge. Should Lodge be elected over all opposition he would undoubtedly be in a position to sneer at his enemies.

The present British crisis is one of the most exciting since the corn law agitation. The house of lords will make a mistake by putting up a battle against the British democracy.

The trial of Hattie Le Blanc will be followed with intense interest all over this state. The case is one of the most puzzling tried for a long time.

The people of Lowell got some good advice from Chief Hosmer in that interview published in Saturday's Sun relative to fires, fire panics and the best methods of saving life. Truly the panic in many cases is more dangerous than the fire.

GOOD PUBLIC POLICY

Not for a long time has any matter of public necessity been taken hold of with such business tact and good judgment as that of the contagious hospital by the Charity and Health Boards in conjunction with the city council. The members of the city council in joint convention listened to the convincing arguments of the Health Board and having heard the convincing arguments, the council on appropriations forthwith recommended the appropriation of $1000 for the purpose of having plans drawn. The city council at its next meeting will probably take action on the appointment of a commission to supervise the work. It is gratifying to find that the question has been handled so promptly and in such a practical manner.

It is good public policy to comply with the law that requires every city to have an infectious hospital. It is a protection to the health of the community against epidemics or outbreaks of any kind that may cause many deaths for lack of isolation.

DO THE PEOPLE LIKE TO BE HUMBUGGED?

The democratic party of this city has nominated a good municipal ticket and should now get together and elect it. Whatever little bickerings may have existed because of the failure of this or that man to be appointed to office, should be put aside and forgotten in the face of the imperative party duty. It will be said that Mayor Mehan should have appointed this or that man to such and such an office, and that because of being overlooked certain candidates have a right to be "sore" and to oppose the mayor's election. The mayor could not multiply the number of appointments so as to have enough to go around, and when he made his selection acting under his privilege as mayor, we do not believe it is the right policy for any democrat on that ground to oppose the success of the democratic ticket. The motive is purely selfish, and for that reason should not appeal to loyal democrats as justifying party treachery. There are others who at some time in the past failed to secure a nomination or election to some office and they want to get square with somebody and to vent their spleen by voting against the party ticket. The number of the disgruntled is very small, but their action is unjust, unreasonable, and will recoil upon themselves later on.

If the democrats this year are loyal to their ticket they can elect it easily; if they are disloyal, it is likely that they will throw away the best opportunity they may have for several years to win a signal victory for good government.

Mayor Mehan's administration has been eminently successful although quiet and conservative. He did not deem it advisable as a gallery play to trumpet up charges against any official board and remove them only to have them restored after the city had incurred considerable expense. He has demonstrated that it is not necessary for the mayor of a city who honestly conducts the business of his office to keep continually in the limelight.

It is time the people of Lowell should realize that they have been imposed upon in the past by irresponsible demagogues who raise up bignoses for the purpose of exciting the popular mind and thereby winning popular support.

When will the people begin to see the difference between the genuine and the counterfeit in politics, between hot air and political buncombe on the one side and common sense and the honest logic of facts on the other?

The man of quiet, conservative yet progressive methods, who conserve the city's interests, promote her prosperity and maintain her reputation unsullied while the sensationalist and the political horn-blower would keep up continual turmoil and excitement which lead people who do not know the circumstances to assume that our city is victimized by grafting, turbulence and political disorder. Thus we are injured as a city in the eyes of the outside world. We have had enough of such turmoil, and if the people should return to it again it would prove the truth of Hamlet's dictum: "The people have to be humbugged."

SEEN AND HEARD

The telephone is a great convenience, especially to the kitchen maid, who never remembers to give the whole of the order to the grocer.

Even the man who is so discouraged with life that he stands in the street and tells you dolefully that he wishes he were dead will jump promptly when an automobile goes "Honk! Honk!" behind him.

Children should be seen and not heard, and they ought not to be seen after nine o'clock at night.

COULD WE BUT KNOW
Could we but know what influence we wield
Over our fellowmen each day we live—
How crowns may hurt, or how a smile may give Courage to some faint heart in life's great field
Of battle; ah! methinks that we would
More careful of our actions as we go
Through this strange world of ours,
Could we but know.

Could we but stand in some one else's place,
Seeing our own selves from his point of view,
Our faults, of which we thought we had but few,
Would seem as countless as the stars in space
And all the great good traits we thought we had,
And all that we had done to lessen wrong
Might all be overbalanced by the bad,
Could we but know.

Could we but know how just the little things
Which we call commonplace mould the lives
Of all of us! The struggling man who strives
To reach a goal, and fall, and feels the stings
Of unjust critics pierce his very soul,
Knows what might words and words might do,
A kind word might have helped him reach the goal,
Could we but know.

Could we but know! Ah, we could we but know
The hearts that we have made to ache with pain
By little thoughtless deeds we would refrain
From doing them again and a world go
With fairer eyes and better hearts to
Ah, yes, our hearts would ever warmer grow
Toward all mankind as long as we
Could we but know.

When you see the janitor going through the hall carrying a all of sawdust, the temptation to say something about breakfast food is almost irresistible.

America has never yet had a poet laureate, and yet we have poets who are just as bad as Alfred Aldrich.

There is nothing quite so unsightly or uncomfortable as unbleached muslin cases, yet they are all the rage in some quarters.

Away up in the heaven there glows,
The moon, it's always big and bright;

LETTER CARRIERS

Made Merry at Elks Hall Saturday Night

The Lowell Letter Carriers' association, branch 25, held a very interesting meeting and smoke talk at Elks hall Saturday night. Almost every letter carrier who is a member of the association was present.

President John J. Dillon was in the chair. There was much business transacted. Several letters were read by Ed. J. Lynch from a dozen or more congressmen in regard to the retirement or civil pension for letter carriers. The contents were well applauded by the large number present. A committee of twelve was appointed to abolish Sunday work.

Brother George S. Howard spoke in regard to longer vacations. He pointed out the fact that the president and the department are heartily in favor of longer vacations. Hence it was the wish of those present that congress would favorably grant a longer vacation for the postal employees, so that they may return to their work rested and prepared to give the public the best possible service.

Brother Edward A. Howe, one of the old letter carriers in the country made remarks and he would be one of the first to hang up his hat for the last time and lay aside his suit of gray if congress would only "get busy" and hasten the day for the retirement of worthy letter carriers. Brother Al. Willis read a paper on what constituted a "good letter carrier" and Brother Joseph Sullivan made remarks.

Wm. J. Hising, secretary of the recent hall, made special mention of the carriers who sold so many tickets. Edward J. Lynch, recording secretary, read many communications from branches in other cities on the good of the order. John J. Sheehan reported that the catering had been attended to and a sumptuous spread awaited the members. President Dillon presented Charles A. Carey to the meeting as chairman of the entertainment committee.

The following program was carried out under the chairman's direction: Piano solo, "Sweet's Bride Elect," Robert E. Fay; reading, "Light Brigade," Edward J. Lynch; solo, "My Heart Has Learned to Love You," Fred Campbell; violin solo, "The Wind That Shakes the Barley," John P. Sheehan; buck and wing dance, Whitston and Howard; solo, "Sweet Sixteen," Thomas P. McQuarrie; solo, "I'm a Member of the Midnight Crew," Albert E. Willis; piano solo, "Il Travatore," Robert E. Fay; character song, Emma Carme "Mary Ann," by Charles A. Carey. Several encores were demanded and the latter added Blanche King's latest "Come Up Josephine in My Flying Machine."

TWO SUICIDES
BOSTON, Nov. 28.—Tim Keliher is down here dead a brief note found pinned on a bundle of clothes found on the edge of the dock near the Warren bridge over the Charles river by the police yesterday. The police cordoned the waters below and found the body of Timothy Keliher of 107 Rutherford avenue, Charlestown, with several pieces of railroad iron tied to his feet. The man had been out of work for some time.

Another Sunday suicide was discovered at 257 Shawmut avenue, where Thomas O'Kane, a printer, aged 50 years had taken his own life by gas.

COTTON FORECAST
11,445,000 BALES IS TOTAL CROP FOR 1910
NEW ORLEANS, La., Nov. 28.—A total of 11,445,000 bales is the final estimate of the Times Forecast for the cotton crop of 1910, as based on reports from correspondents through the cotton belt. This forecast reflects to the actual growth of the year and is exclusive of linters, repels, etc.

FIERCE GALE
LASHED BAY OF FUNDY FOR 48 HOURS
DIEBLY, N. S., Nov. 28.—For 48 hours the Bay of Fundy has been lashed by a fierce northeast gale which at times reached a velocity of 50 miles an hour. The storm was the longest and the worst for many years. Great damage has been done to the fishing stages and small craft that were anchored off points along the coast. The most serious disaster reported is that to the Nova Scotia schooner Mercedes, Captain R. H. Houshew, from Grand-Island, N. S., for Boston with a cargo of piling which inshore at Battery Point and will probably be a total loss. The crew escaped.

On land the storm was also very severe. Telegraph and telephone lines were carried down in all directions.

CONSTITUTION

ARIZONA'S WILL CONTAIN ONLY 16,000 WORDS

PHOENIX, Ariz., Nov. 28.—Arizona constitution will be the briefest written in recent years by any state. According to estimates it will contain less than 16,000 words, as against 25,000 for New Mexico's constitution and 104,000 for that of Oklahoma.

A significant fact in connection with these figures is that the constitution of New Mexico was written by a majority written on a "flexible" platform, declaring for a short constitution, while the democratic delegates who control the Arizona convention were elected on platforms promising reforms, variously designated as "progressive" or "radical." Democratic members pointed out that the convention has followed the suggestion of Pres. Taft, when in Arizona, held up the Oklahoma constitution as a "horrible example," and advised Arizonians to make their constitution as brief as possible and free from legislative details.

The final adoption will not take place before the middle of next week.

CHARTER REVISION

Public Meeting Held in Hamilton Hall Yesterday Afternoon

Free Discussion of the Charter From Every Point of View—Dr. McAvinue Makes a Sensible Speech

The proposed new charter for the city of Lowell was discussed by prominent citizens of Lowell yesterday afternoon at a public meeting held at Hamilton hall in Odd Fellows temple. This meeting being the first of a series of monster mass meetings which is to be held next Wednesday night at the hotel of Harvard college is to be the principal speaker.

The virtues of the initiative and referendum were explained as was the desirability of the new charter.

The attendance was very large. The principal speakers were William N. Osgood, Carl M. Phil and Fred C. Weld.

The first speaker was Mr. Osgood. He called to order shortly after four o'clock and spoke on the proposal of the proposed charter, the two elections which would be necessary for the choice of candidates for mayor and of the members of the city council, and the possibility of obtaining the new charter.

Mr. Phil, the next speaker, spoke, in part, as follows:

"We want a consensus of opinion relative to a certain sort of charter. We must know before we appeal to the legislature for the right to have the matter placed on our ballots. When the citizens of Lowell know what they want and when they get together and state that they want it, then they will get it."

"The city solicitor of Haverhill, Mr. Nichols, who spoke before the board of trade recently, said that the year previous to the adoption of the new charter the city of Haverhill had a deficit of $57,000. At the end of the first year, after the adoption of the new charter, all bills were paid and there was a surplus of $36,000 and there was a surplus on a tax basis of $12 per $1000."

"We may have had a better administration and better personnel than had Haverhill prior to the new charter, and perhaps that is why we are in better shape."

"When you hire a man to run a lathe you do not expect that he is a paper-miller, and that only. You hire a man who knows how to run a lathe. This

DR. KING, THE ADVERTISING DENTIST

DR. THOS. JEFFERSON KING.
Dr. King's "Natural Gum" sets of teeth absolutely defy detection.

A local paper, speaking of advertising dentists, says of Dr. King: "He, with his big dental practice, acquires a knowledge of up-to-date dentistry and little niceties of the profession, that the smaller practitioners, even with their years of experience, rarely earn. And then, his modern advertising dental office, luxuriously furnished, with his costly equipped laboratory, he does inside of a year if he failed to do good work—and as to price, Dr. King does a cash business only, and when you patronize him you are not taxed extra to help make up for the bills unpaid by the other fellow, as you surely do when you patronize the ordinary dentist, who fails to collect 50 per cent. of his bills, and must get it out of you."

Best set Teeth $5, good set $5. Gold crowns $5, bridge-work $5, gold fillings $1 up, other fillings 50c; painless extraction free when sets are ordered.

heads of the representatives of the people than anything else. It is to be used only when absolutely necessary. As an illustration I may mention the case of Somerville a few years ago. A big corporation wanted to erect a slaughter house there, with standing the fact that public opinion was very much against its erection. And the board of aldermen there voted to grant a permit for the erection of the slaughter house. The wrong was done, and the corporation turned out of office of the men who had voted for the building of the slaughter house at the end of the year, didn't right it."

Mr. Barrett wanted to know if the initiative and referendum had ever been used in Haverhill. He said it would require a whole lot of time to get 4000 or 5000 names on a petition. He believed the recall in Haverhill. "Where are you going to draw the line?" he asked. "Some matters must be acted upon immediately. You can't wait 60 days on them, until the people can decide whether they want to have them or not."

"The municipal council must appropriate certain amounts of money at the opening of the year, for current expenses," said Mr. Osgood.

"These, of course, are not the subject for a referendum. A riot, if it requires the amount of money, is quiet, it doesn't need a referendum vote taken. Or, if there should be a flood or an epidemic of disease, the safety of the citizens demands immediate action and the appropriation and expenditure of public money. Of course, no referendum would be asked or needed in those instances. The referendum would apply to those matters which are important but not urgent. It is not important that a sewer, or a schoolhouse be built in 60 days, although the sewer and the schoolhouse are in themselves absolutely necessary things."

"I believe in the initiative and referendum, but I want to see it practical and effective," said Mr. Barrett.

The subject was discussed at length by Andrew Barrett, Mr. Phil, Henry Carr, Robert J. Crowley and others.

Dr. McAvinue made a stirring speech in which he said:

"It is not the thing to come here and make statements about something underneath the charter movement unless something can be explained. I don't like to hear such statements made unless something can be shown that is true, unless there is tangible evidence of such things. It is a statement much in line with what I have received several times recently, but on no occasion could I get anything tangible in support of such a statement. Men are liable to judge men by their own feelings. Unless we can get something more definite I think we are doing a great injustice to the city of Lowell by making such statements. It would be detrimental to the city whether you change your charter or not. A commission is the unfortunate word to use. It is a stretch in the mouths of these citizens, sometimes. There are commissions which I believe to be of the very best, and one of them is the park commission. However, to apply the word commission to this council is unfortunate. I think this new brand of government is surely coming, or something like it. It is coming because it is progressive. Not one of the cities which has adopted it has gone back to the old charter. You will have to make men all over if you don't want men to try and get ahead of his fellows. Any system of government by men as men are made nowadays will have men striving to defeat their fellows. But that does not argue in the slightest against the new charter. Occasionally this new plan may get men who do not serve the people faithfully. The recall is the sword which hangs over their heads, the sword which every man inclined to be corrupt in their duty to the right thing. I think this new order of things is coming. I hope you will not allow the remarks made about something underneath this movement to stick in your minds, until there is more support of such statements. We don't want Lawrence to get ahead of us. Down there, the other night, they had a meeting of citizens to consider a new charter. Lawrence has beaten us in one way, she had a mayor sent to prison, and we do not know how I hope to God we'll never have anything like that here. Think this thing over."

Mr. Kirkpatrick spoke in favor of having laboring men consulted in framing the charter.

Thomas J. Goyette said the committee of six men who walk of life and that no charter had yet been drafted while none would be drawn until every society in Lowell was heard from.

Mr. Weld was the third speaker, and he gave his reason for the adoption by the city of the Des Moines charter. He said that part of the charter idea was taken from the charter of the city of Galveston, Texas. There was no great and awful corruption rampant in Des Moines, but there was waste and extravagance. The workers for the charter there worked for a charter slightly different from the form of the New England town meeting, where the selectmen, in their own right, are elected annually. Possibly a dozen of the voters do all the talking at town meeting, but the others can listen to what they say, said Mr. Weld. Then all go and vote.

Mr. Weld said that there is always the suspicion where the new form of charter has not been tried that it is to be a less popular form of government. "You go to the polls in a city election," he said, "and vote for a mayor, nine aldermen and three councilmen. There are 37 men elected altogether, yet you do not have an opportunity to vote for one-half of those men. The new plan strikes me as being more popular than the one we have in use today, and it certainly is a better business form."

Mr. Weld then asked everybody present to attend the meeting in Association hall next Wednesday night to hear Dr. Elliot speak on city charters. In conclusion he said that in Des Moines the five members of the municipal council are elected every two years; in Haverhill, three men are elected one year and two the next. The speaker thought the Des Moines plan more perfect than any of the others.

At this point the meeting was invited to ask questions relative to the proposed charters. John Walsh asked if Dr. Elliot was close enough to the main people to know what they want for a city charter. Mr. Phil stated that Mr. Elliot knew a lot about charters.

William J. Carroll

William J. Carroll said that the matter was not so much a matter of men as the merits of the charter itself. He favored providing a charter for future contingencies, a charter which would allow the owning by the city of its public utilities, without forcing the people, years hence, to go before the legislature to ask for the permission to vote on such a question. He wanted provision made for the future tearing down of the rat-trap in the city and for the purchase of land on the outskirts, where modern, sanitary homes might be erected.

Andrew Barrett

Andrew Barrett said he wanted to get away from Dr. Elliot, because he had given forth statements since he left Harvard university which had been condemned throughout the country. He wanted to know something about the initiative and referendum.

Mr. Osgood in reply to the questioner said: "The initiative and referendum acts more as a club over the

I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it did just as you told me and now I am perfectly cured, and have a big baby boy."—MRS. ANNA ANDERSON, Box 10, Black Duck, Minn.

Consider This Advice.

No woman should submit to a surgical operation, which may mean death, until she has given Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made exclusively from roots and herbs, a fair trial.

This famous medicine for women has for thirty years proved to be the most valuable tonic and invigorator of the female organism. Women residing in almost every city and town in the United States bear witness to the wonderful virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It cures female illness, and creates radiant, buoyant female health. If you are ill, for your own sake as well as those you love, give it a trial.

No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine, made exclusively from roots and herbs, as

Y. M. C. A. SUNDAY

Observed in Protestant Churches Yesterday

WORK OF THE ASSOCIATION IN UNITED STATES

Educational State Secretary Spoke at High Street Church—Told of Wonderful Development of Association Work in This Country

Yesterday was Y. M. C. A. Sunday and it was quite generally observed in this city, official representatives of the association speaking at several of the Protestant churches.

A. C. Smith, educational secretary of the state committee of the Y. M. C. A. for Massachusetts and Rhode Island, spoke on "The Association and Its Community," at the High Street church yesterday morning. He said in part:

"The wonderful development of the association work in the United States, in which it has been so largely used, is shown in the tremendous material and equipment, which have advanced in 10 years from $25,000,000 to $67,000,000, and in the various activities ranging from 150 per cent. to 760 per cent. the tremendous response which the people of the United States have given to this universal call for brotherhood has placed upon the association a great responsibility which it has sought to discharge in its help toward making for efficient Christian manhood in meeting the young man at the point of his greatest need, leading him on to a higher and better type of manhood and citizenship."

"This problem of the conservation of human life and character among its people is a problem of supreme importance to the future economic welfare of our country. The association has had a definite program to offer the young man for his leisure time, and it is because it has helped young men in such a wide range of activities that the work has been so blessed. These activities have expressed themselves in a large number of departments, and it will be interesting to take up briefly the work in the individual department."

"The army and navy department has done a tremendous work for our soldier and sailor boys who are denied the privilege of home in so many ways; who lead a lonely life, and the association has given these boys a haven of rest in the various ports and places where they locate. The wonderful influence it has upon their life is shown in the use to which two of our associations are put by the men in Newport and Charleston."

"Early this month the cornerstone of a $250,000 building was laid at the corner of State and Commercial streets, the gift of Dr. S. W. Wetmore, the gift of Mrs. Thomas J. Emery, and a similar building has already been completed at Norfolk."

Meetings are held in all of the ports on board ship, and the tremendous interest which a large number of the soldiers and sailors attending these meetings have shown is an example of their appreciation of this need in their lives."

"The industrial department is doing a wonderful work in the civic education of the immigrant and in cultivating the spirit of Christian brotherhood in its social service. When we consider that 78 per cent. of 25 of the largest Massachusetts cities are foreign born, we consider the tremendous significance of this work which has as its objective, first, to bring them into contact with Christian ideals by personal contact and by teaching, and to cultivate in our own men a spirit of missionary service; to the resident immigrant and to the returning immigrant. Thousands of immigrants are being taught the elements of English through a system outlined by Dr. P. T. Roberts."

"The Young Men's Christian Assoc-

ation," said the president, "has demonstrated its usefulness throughout the United States, and we know what we are talking about when we speak of it as an instrument for the elevation of any community in which it is established. Those of us who have looked into it know its practical value. In these days of innate desire for improvements in eloquence and in stirring periods, the danger that we encounter is in being so busy that we do not get down to details, and practical method of doing things."

"The boys' department has expressed itself in a group of boys' activities including the boy to a healthful, natural unfolding in language will undoubtedly be the most wholesome surroundings. The state department of the two states conducted two camps, one at Hackett, Mass., and another at Friendship, Me., where some 400 boys each year, for a period of nine weeks, get a concrete example of helping the other fellow. The association has taken steps to form an organization known as the Boy Scouts of America, which must not be confounded with the American Boy Scouts, and presents the greatest opportunity to organize boys on wholesome lines of character building, which has been the president of the American people. With its watchword 'preparedness' it is sweeping the country."

The railroad and county work were also treated.

BOWLING SCORES

Result of Last Week's Contests

The announcement of the withdrawal of the Burkes team from the Catholic bowling league will undoubtedly come as a surprise to members of the league as well as the bowlers in general throughout the city. Francis Burkes, secretary-treasurer of the league, and one of the leading members of the organization, has also tendered his resignation.

BADLY INJURED

Two Lowell Men Fell Between Cars

BOSTON, Nov. 28.—When the Montreal express was leaving the North station last night the drawbar between the second and third last cars parted, separating the vestibules just as Michael McInerney, 56, of 492 Broadway, Lowell, and Patrick J. Marvin, 55, another Lowell man, were going through. Both fell to the tracks and were so severely injured they were taken to the Massachusetts General hospital.

McInerney sustained two fractured ribs and a sprained back, and was seriously scalded by steam. Marvin is suffering from contusions of the scalp. The train was in charge of Conductor Hind and Engineer Edward Chandler.

Makes Hopeful Reference to Gloom Rests Over City of New-Jersey Fisheries Dispute ark, New Jersey

At Closing of Parliament Today—King's Speech Was Notable for Its Brevity

LONDON, Nov. 23.—The second parliament in the reign of the late King Edward VII, which met on Feb. 15 last, was dissolved today in pursuance of the program of the liberal government to go before the country on the question of the prerogatives of the house of lords. The king's speech was notable for its brevity, the only reference to the legislative crisis being a colorless expression of regret that the conference between the leaders of the opposing controlling parties had failed of an agreement over the reformation of the upper chamber.

The longest and most interesting paragraph which immediately followed an allusion to the death of his majesty's father dealt with the recent arbitration of the New Foundland's fisheries dispute with the United States and read:

"I confidently hope that the questions connected with the North Atlantic fisheries between Canada and New Foundland on one hand and the United States of America on the other, which have been the subject of controversy for nearly a century, have been at last finally settled by the award of the Hague tribunal. It is a cause of special satisfaction that it has been found possible to solve by arbitration problems of such an intricate and difficult nature and that the award has been received by both sides in a spirit which must tend to increase good will."

Today's dissolution of parliament brings to a crisis the supreme struggle now in progress to limit the legislative powers of the house of lords and thereby permit the elective branch of parliament, the house of commons, to exert larger powers in effecting legislation, more particularly measures relating to Irish home rule and the financial budgets.

The present house of commons has a ministerial majority of 124 and the present standing of the various elements is as follows:

Liberals, 275; labor members, 40; nationalists, 71; independent nationalists, 11; unionists, 273.

Of the foregoing the first four groups are generally counted as supporters of the ministry, giving a ministerial strength of 397 as against the unionist strength of 273, or a net ministerial majority of 124.

The proclamation of dissolution summons a new parliament to assemble on Jan. 31, 1911.

NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 23.—Only one unidentified body remained in the morgue here last night, only one employee of the Wolf Manufacturing company is still missing, and it now seems that Saturday night's estimate of the death list from Saturday's factory fire will still stand at 25. Five additional identifications were made yesterday, among the bodies at the morgue. They are:

MINNIE GOTTLIBER.
TILLIE GOTTLIBER.
DORA GOTTLIBER.
CHARLOTTE HECKLER.
MRS. LUCY SULLIVAN.

No bodies were found in the burned building, and Fire Chief Astley was convinced last night that no more will be found. He will keep his men at work, however, until the ruins have been turned over, brick by brick. All approaches to the scene were crowded while daylight lasted with a moving mass of humanity. It was estimated that 200,000 sightseers pushed against the police lines.

While the firemen were digging among the tumbled walls, a staff of detectives from the county prosecutor's office were making examinations of their own in an effort to determine responsibility for the loss of life. Photographs and measurements were taken to be used in the official inquiry that will be held later.

The factory was an old one and the city authorities take the stand that they cannot be held accountable for any lack of fire escapes. The inquiry may reveal that they have justly decided only over new buildings and additions or alterations to those already in use. Then they can enforce the city ordinances, but in the case of a building already standing the state law holds, and that law, they say, is less rigid than the more modern city ordinances.

No date for the inquiry has yet been set.

Near the morgue clustered a great crowd of morbidly curious, who were kept in check by lines of policemen. Knockers were kept busy denying admission to persons who sought mythical dead.

Yesterday morning in churches of all denominations there were references in the sermons to the tragedy. In some churches prayers for the dead were said.

PHELPS ON TRIAL

Monroe Bridge Bandit Charged With Murder

GREENFIELD, Nov. 23.—Silas N. Phelps, known throughout the north-west section of Massachusetts as the "Monroe Bridge desperado," was today placed on trial for the murder of Deputy Sheriff Emmet Haskins, last June at Phelps' home at Monroe Bridge. Judge William Schofield presided at the trial. District Attorney Irwin of Northampton conducted the prosecution and Attorney William Davenport of Greenfield appeared for the defendant.

The empanelling of a jury from the 101 townsmen who were served with venire was expected to occupy the entire day and at least one more day was considered necessary to allow the jury to visit the scene of the murder.

Phelps is alleged to have killed Haskins when the officer attempted to arrest him on a warrant charging him with slaying W. N. Bennett, superintendent of a paper mill at Monroe Bridge, where Phelps was employed. After the death of Haskins Phelps fled to the wooded mountainside, taking his rifle with him. He was a skilled woodsman and "sure shot" and for several days caused a reign of terror. At last, Phelps was captured.

FUNERALS

ERICKSON.—The funeral services of Albert Theodore Erickson, son of Oscar and Mary Erickson, were held yesterday afternoon from the home of his parents, 100 Elm avenue, South Lowell, at 3 o'clock, and were largely attended. Rev. Sven F. Hammarlof, pastor of the Swedish Lutheran church, officiated. Frank E. Lindquist sang "Safe in the Arms of Jesus" and "My Heavenly Home." Among the beautiful floral tributes were a mound inscribed "At Rest," from the parents, and a wreath from Oscar Johnson and Miss Alva Pearson. Burial took place in the family lot in the Edison cemetery, under the direction of Undertaker William H. Saunders.

The bearers were Prosper Deslaunais, Dolph Deslaunais, John Rochette, J. E. Gaudette, Louis Tremblant and Bartholomew Courtemanche.

There were many friends present from Nashua, Haverhill and Boston. At the grave, Rev. Fr. Magnan read the committal prayers, and the burial was in St. Patrick's cemetery, in charge of Undertakers J. F. O'Donnell & Sons.

McGARRAHAN.—The funeral of Mrs. Jane McGarrahan took place Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the chapel of Undertakers C. H. Molloy & Sons, and was largely attended. The floral offerings were numerous and beautiful. The bearers were Peter Glynn, Jas. Whelton, Edward Graham and Daniel J. Regan. Burial was in the Catholic cemetery under the direction of Undertakers C. H. Molloy & Sons.

DONOVAN.—The funeral of Mrs. Elizabeth Donovan, one of the oldest parishioners of St. Patrick's church, took place yesterday afternoon from the home of her sister, Mrs. Daniel F. Lyons, at 25 Cross street, and was largely attended by relatives and friends. There were many beautiful floral tributes, including a large pillow inscribed "Sister," from Mrs. D. F. Lyons; large wreath of roses and ferns from Mr. and Mrs. Jeremiah Leary; large wreath of ivy leaves from the McVey family; spray of pinks and roses from Mrs. Patrick Mahoney of Manchester, N. H.; spray of chrysanthemums, from Miss Nellie Coughlin and Miss Nellie Hurley; spray of pinks, from Miss Elizabeth Shuttleworth, and a large wreath of roses, from Miss Margaret Quinn. The bearers were Jeremiah Leary, James McCarthy and John Ambrose. The burial was in St. Patrick's cemetery, in charge of Undertakers J. F. O'Donnell & Sons.

O'CONNOR.—The funeral of Garrett O'Connor took place Saturday afternoon from the home of his mother, Mrs. Ellen O'Connor, of 21 Coburn street, and was largely attended. Among the beautiful floral tributes were a pillow inscribed "Garrett," from his mother, Mrs. John Dolan, and John Dolan; large wreath of roses, from Uncle Michael, wife and family. The bearers were Jeremiah Moynihan, Edward Glifflin, Edward Hoar, Edward Peterson, J. O'Neill and Andrew Roach. At the grave Rev. Denis Murphy of St. Michael's church read the committal prayers, and the burial was in St. Patrick's cemetery in charge of Undertakers J. F. O'Donnell & Sons.

BUTTERWORTH.—The funeral of Mrs. Louisa Butterworth took place yesterday afternoon from the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Leach, of 840 Lakeview avenue, Rev. F. A. Macdonald, pastor of the Fifth Street Baptist church, officiated. The bearers were George Heyes, Alexander Brooke, Milton Schofield and James Bax. Among the many beautiful floral offerings were: Large pillow, inscribed "Mother," the family; sprays, Mr. and Mrs. Stevens, Mr. and Mrs. Bax, Merrimack cloth room, Mr. and Mrs. Hilton Schofield, Mr. and Mrs. Holmes and family, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Howarth, Mrs. Kershaw and family, and others. Burial was in the Western cemetery under the direction of Undertaker George M. Eastman.

COLLINS.—The funeral of the late Denis Collins took place this morning at 10 o'clock from his home in Shaw-shen street, Tewksbury, and was largely attended. At 10 o'clock a mass of requiem was sung at the O. M. I. novitiate, Tewksbury. Rev. Patrick Phelan, O. M. I., officiating. The choir sang the Gregorian mass and during services appropriate selections were rendered. There were many beautiful floral tributes. The bearers were John Keating, Daniel S. O'Brien, Patrick O'Brien, Joseph O'Brien. At the grave Rev. John Flynn, O. M. I., of the Sacred Heart church, this city, read the committal prayers and the burial was in St. Patrick's cemetery in charge of Undertakers J. F. O'Donnell & Sons.

QUINN.—The body of the late Joseph Quinn, a former resident of this city, who died recently in St. Paul, Minn., arrived in this city Saturday afternoon and was interred in St. Patrick's cemetery.

TRUNK MYSTERY

Police Hear From Two New Witnesses

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—A new turn was given the trunk mystery today by statements of witnesses who declare that Albert Callier, the supposed victim, was seen alive in 1905, three years after the date when the crime is believed to have been committed. The trunk containing the partially mummified body recently discovered in a dwelling house basement is alleged to have been left there in 1902 by William Lewis, a waiter, for whom a wide-spread search is now progressing. Callier, a French artist, who was a close friend of Lewis, disappeared in 1902 and until now his whereabouts have been unknown. The authorities with two persons who declare that they saw Callier in this city in 1905. The investigation of the mysterious crime is turning today largely in the direction of inquiries whether the murder may have been committed in a later year than 1902.

AUTO DESTROYED

Dr. Mahony's Machine Burned to Frame

BLAZE IN THE MASSACHUSETTS MILL

Fire in a Walker Street Building Caused by Lighted Candle—Chimney Fire.

An automobile belonging to Dr. Francis Mahony was destroyed by fire on the Pawtucket boulevard shortly before midnight Saturday night. Engine 5 was summoned to extinguish the flames, but by the time the apparatus arrived nothing but the framework of the machine was left.

The auto had been in the repair shop for several days, and it is thought that one of the garage employees was trying out the machine when it caught fire.

Slight Mill Fire

The alarm from box 13, Merrimack square, sent in Saturday night about 7:30 o'clock, of a threatening blaze in the Massachusetts mill. A kettle of grease in the wheel room caught fire in some unknown manner, and, fearing that it would spread, the department was called. The damage was confined entirely to the wheel room, and was slight.

Fire on Walker Street

Saturday night about nine o'clock a telephone alarm summoned a portion of the fire department to a house in Walker street belonging to Mrs. Nora J. Butler. Some person entered the shed in the rear of the house, and placed a lighted candle on the floor. In returning the person forgot the candle and when it burned to the floor it set fire to the woodwork. The department responded promptly and the blaze was extinguished before much damage was done.

Chimney Fire

A chimney fire yesterday forenoon and two grass fires, one off the Rogers street side of the Lowell cemetery and another in Humphrey street, kept the department busy.

MICHAEL CUDAHY

Millionaire Packer Dies of Pneumonia

CHICAGO, Nov. 23.—Michael Cudahy, founder and president of the packing firm bearing his name, died last night at a hospital here of pneumonia. Mr. Cudahy had been ill for five days, the disease becoming serious early Saturday morning.

Mr. Cudahy was 69 years old. He was the last of the old guard of packers.

He came with his parents from Callan county, Kilkenny, Ireland, when 8 years old, and at 14 was working for packer Edward Roddis in Milwaukee for $6 per week. Later he was with Plankington. His brothers began work in packing houses as soon as they were able.

In 1865 he came to Chicago and became superintendent for Armour & Co. For 17 years he had charge of all the packing business of Armour & Co. and had a one-eighth interest in the company.

An intimate friendship existed between Cudahy and P. D. Armour. Mr. Armour was deeply grieved one day to hear Mr. Cudahy say:

"I'm going to quit. I'm going into business for myself."

"Why, Mike," exclaimed Mr. Armour in surprise, "haven't I always treated you right? We have always been the best of friends, and I don't see why you want to leave me."

"But you cannot blame me for desiring to run my own business. You know the pleasure of prosperity and I want to enjoy some of it," replied Mr. Cudahy.

An examination of the books revealed that Mr. Cudahy's interest in the company was worth a little more than $2,000,000, and Mr. Armour agreed to give Mr. Cudahy a bonus of that much if Mr. Cudahy would remain with the firm two years longer.

J. Ogden Armour had been working at the yards for the tasteless of Mr. Cudahy about a year. This younger Armour had proven an adept pupil. Mr. Cudahy pointed this out and argued that with a few instructions now and again from his father, the Junior Armour could take care of the plant. Mr. Cudahy told Mr. Armour that he would not feel inclined to go were it not "for the boy's (J. Ogden Armour) success."

When Mr. Armour found there was no way to prevent their business separation he changed his mind. He considered Mr. Cudahy warmly and said, "Well, all right, Mike, and we shall always be good friends. Two million dollars is not much money to enter an industry that is already crowded, but any time you need my help wire me and it will be forthcoming immediately."

This was in 1890. Later that promise of the great packer was made good. In 1893 John Cudahy, who was the plunger of the family had made $1,000,000 selling wheat short in company with N. B. Rønn and "Nat" Jones, and he had been considered a chance for millions on the low side of provisions. Associated with him were N. K. Fairbanks and Austin Wright.

They carried hog products up at that time to the highest prices since the war; pork was $21 a barrel and lard 12 cents a pound. Then came on a cholera scare, followed by the panic of that year. The pool went to smash. John Cudahy lost $2,300,000, mostly to Armour. Wright went into bankruptcy. Fifteen commission houses failed. Fairbanks, who always had a long pocket, paid his losses. Cudahy was forced to give notes for $1,500,000, which Michael Cudahy, father, took. They were paid promptly on maturity.

Michael Cudahy then made John promise to quit the plunging and gambling end of business. Since then the only deals "Jack" Cudahy has been interested in are the sales and purchases of provisions on the board of trade; result, he is a millionaire, due largely to the generosity of his brother, Michael.

Michael Cudahy's fortune is rated at between $7,000,000 and $10,000,000. He was a strict Catholic and a liberal giver to charity.

Mr. Cudahy was one of the organizers and president of the North American transportation and trading company.

NINETY YEARS OLD

Mrs. Gratia A. Coburn Observed Birthday Yesterday

Mrs. Gratia A. Coburn, of 878 Chelmsford street, was 90 years old yesterday and four generations were present at the informal observance of her birthday. She was made the recipient of many beautiful bouquets of choice flowers and she received innumerable postal cards from friends. Mrs. Coburn, despite her long chain of years, is in excellent health. She is a member of the "Bible" Congregational church, her maiden name was Gratia A. Parker. She was born in Chelmsford, Mass., on the 28th of November, 1820. She lived there until

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

Tonight the opera house will offer Lew Dockstader and his "twentieth century minstrels," now under the management of the Messrs. Shubert. As usual Dockstader comes this year with an all new show, not one feature of last year's production having been retained. The effort of this comedian has always been aimed at producing real minstrelsy and in this direction his show differs considerably from the usual minstrel bills which present the old familiar minstrel park circle, followed by the vaudeville act. All this has been eliminated and real minstrelsy, as Mr. Dockstader knows it, is the result.

The book and lyrics for this year's entertainment, "It is Minstrelsy," are the contribution of Vincent Bryan who has earned a reputation for himself as a writer on account of his work in several musical comedy successes. The first curtain rises on the "Pecos Hunt Club house," showing the lawn of the club house brilliantly illuminated and the members seated in chairs and on the English hunting costume. The plot or story of the play begins at the introduction of Mr. Dockstader, who is persuaded by the president of the club to participate in a draught which takes him to slumberland and the curtain descends as he dreams during the rendition of some beautiful melodies by the vocal choir. Of course this is but an interlude to the first part, songs and waltzes, but the idea is carried throughout the entire evening. In the second part shows the minstrel impersonating many well known public men. Some of the scenes of especial mention are the Island of "Shanah," the costume for this act alone is believed to create unusual comment on account of their richness, a spectacular travel on the comic opera "Pinafore," and a dancing act which serves to introduce Carroll Johnson called "Louisiana."

Mr. Dockstader has an abundance of songs, dances and stories, and proves his claim of up-to-date minstrel by flying out over the heads of the audience in a real airplane. The singing strength of this year's company is another feature believed to be deserving of special mention including Chas. Miller, Harry A. Ellis and Tom McKenna, late of "The Quartette." Also Campbell and Wm. Smith. Associated with Mr. Dockstader on the fun list are Carroll Johnson, Eddie Mazler, "Happy" Naulty, Johnny Foley and in all about eighty persons.

THE STAMPEDE

The new comedy-drama, "The Stampede," which is the joint work of Lillian Buckingham and Cecil B. De Mille, the author of "Classmates," is written around a contest between the Wits Creek Indians of Southern Nevada, similar to that lately exposed by Thomas P. Gore, the billed statesman of Oklahoma, and incidentally, Miss Buckingham, who is the star of the production, relates a story taken from an old diary, showing the Indians' astuteness and detective instinct. Some years ago the government lost a package containing a large amount of money which was stolen from the mail route between Mesquite and Pinedale in Southern Nevada. Spectators worked on the case with success for some time, the carrier on the route was suspected, and declared his innocence although the sleuths were almost certain of his guilt. Finally Chief, an Indian runner on the Wits Creek route, was traced to the scene, and following a slight chase, easily succeeded in finding the tracks of the thief in a cornfield and uncovered several feet in the ground. "The Stampede," comes to the opera house, Tuesday for two days.

KLARK-URBAN COMPANY

The Klark-Urban company which will appear at the Lowell opera house for a three night and two matinee engagement has secured for its opening play, David Higgins' great comedy drama, "His Last Dollars," which is full of comedy and pathos, remarkable for the number of strong parts it contains and will be produced with all special scenery, electrical and mechanical effects the same as the original production. The following high class vaudeville features will be introduced at each and every performance. Fred Bollinger, aerial artist, A. B. Tenny, comedy juggler; Robert and Edith, bounding rope and slack wire; Marion Alden, acrobatic dancer; Marie Hodgkins, vocalist; Grace Leith, the funny and to give to its patrons a large clean performance. Special efforts are made to please the ladies and children. Performances are at 2 in the afternoon and at 6.45 and 8.30 in the evening.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC

A big show will be presented at this house this week. The Electric 1 are the greatest funmakers in the business, you should see them. They are wonderful in their own right. They will present several other novelty acts on the bill, including Robst, magic whistles, and a comedy sketch by Mr. and Mrs. Cortis, entitled "The Tamer," which is full of laughs. The pictures will be all new subjects and prove to be entertaining in better place to spend an afternoon or evening than the Academy as it is the best show in town for the money and don't forget Wednesday evening is amateur night.

EMPIRE THEATRE

The bill for the first three days of next week at this popular little house contains many novel features, chief among them being Willard & Co. in a stirring dramatic playlet, entitled "The Blue and the Gray."

John and Charlie, an exceptionally clever sketch team will present a Dutch Comedy act, "The Arrival of Lena," that has called forth encore after encore wherever they have appeared, and Bob Finlay in his songs and funny stories will complete a thoroughly enjoyable entertainment.

For our Grand Sarsen attraction on Sunday, there will be an entire change of pictures, and the Italian Troubadours in some new selections.

"WOMEN FIRST"

Boston Clergymen Attacks L Road Signs

BOSTON, Nov. 28.—Declaring the newly erected signs asking for preference to women on footways to be the mark of a traveling public as a whole, the Rev. Allan A. Stockdale, at the Union Congregational church last night concluded his sermon on "Women First, Please," with a satirical little poem against the recent action of the Elevated.

"I think the proportion of men who risk life and limb in boarding the cars before they have reached a seat is very few. I think there is no need of insulating the whole traveling male population for the sake of getting at those few unfortunates," mean persons," declared the pastor in beginning his sermon.

"It's bound to produce revolt, antipathy and perked-up spirit sooner or later. I do not think that the men who are traveling in the cars are uncharitable, mean persons," declared the pastor in beginning his sermon.

THEATRE VOYONS

There are probably several hundred Irishmen in Lowell who came to this country poor and by their pluck, courage and industry have made names and riches for themselves in the Land of the Free. Today the Theatre Voyons shows a picture taken in Ireland on a trans-Atlantic steamer and in New York telling the story of an Irish lad who does just this thing. The scenes taken in Ireland show his hard work and poorer conditions of life. He becomes discouraged and starts for America where he finds prosperity is the reward of industry and thrift and in time goes back to the old country to find his boyhood sweetheart. There is much in the picture that the Irishman will readily recognize both in the story and in the scenes taken in Ireland and will prove a real treat to everyone who sees it.

MILK RATE TROUBLE

Taken to the Interstate Commerce Commission

George Albree, of Concord, Mass., Files Complaint Against Boston & Maine and Other New England Railroads

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—The vigorous fight in the New England railroads between the independent milk shippers and the big railroad operators over the rates and methods of dairy transportation in that section shifted to the interstate commerce commission today when George Albree of Concord, Mass., a farmer and independent milk shipper filed a complaint against the Boston & Maine, St. Johnsbury & Lake Champlain and the New York, New Haven & Hartford roads. The complaint sets forth that the local commodities tariff of the Boston & Maine and the participating carriers does not contain rates for shipment of milk "in cans" but makes rates for milk only "in chartered cars," thus making no provision for the independent shippers except in the cars chartered by other shippers, called operators, with whom the independents have to settle, under the specific rules of the roads. The only provision for taking of milk is in the chartered cars. The complaint declares that the rates involve manifest inequalities between different points and between carload and less than carload rates and asks that the commission ascertain lawful rates and practices that should be maintained for milk shipments.

FUNERALS

SULLIVAN—The funeral of Humphrey F. Sullivan took place at 9:30 o'clock from his home, 71 Fourth street, and was largely attended. The funeral cortege proceeded to St. Michael's church, where requiem mass was sung at 10 o'clock by Rev. John J. Shaw, pastor of St. Michael's. Present at the services was a delegation from the Mathew Temperance institute of which deceased was a past president consisting of President James J. Gallagher, Treasurer P. E. Brady, Financial Secretary James F. Bourke and William J. Boyle. The bearers were Messrs. James J. Quirk and John Dwyer, representing the Mathews and Thomas H. Donoghue, Patrick J. Lynch, James Maguire and Howard Wood. Interment was in the family lot in St. Patrick's cemetery, where Rev. Fr. Murphy conducted the service at the grave. The funeral was in charge of Funeral Director James W. McKenna.

Among the many beautiful floral tributes were the following: Pillow of roses and carnations, inscribed "To my dear husband, from the wife; pillow of roses and carnations, inscribed "Our Humphrey," from his parents and brothers and sisters; wreath of roses with ribbon inscribed "Humphrey," from Mrs. Sherry and family; large anchor on base inscribed "At Rest," from the Mathew Temperance institute; standing wreath, inscribed on base "At Rest," from Mrs. Logue and Miss Logue; cross of roses, inscribed on base "Asleep," from the Misses Delchany; cross of roses on base from Mrs. James Maguire; wreath of roses and carnations on base, from Mrs. Kelly; wreath of roses from Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Lynch and family; spray of chrysanthemums from Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Sullivan and John McNulty; cross of roses and carnations, inscribed "At Rest," from Mr. and Mrs. Fitzgibbon; spray of roses, Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Callahan; spiritual bouquet from Mrs. M. James McLean and Miss Kathleen McLean; spray of carnations, from the Burns children; cross of roses, inscribed on base "At Rest," from James Quirk, John Dwyer, William Gargan and Ed. J. Donnelly; wreath of roses, Mrs. McCann and family; spray of chrysanthemums, Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Webb; spray of chrysanthemums, from Mr. and Mrs. Patrick J. Riley; spray of chrysanthemums, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Donoghue and family; wreath of roses, Wood-Lonsdale families; wreath, McAleney family; wreath, Mr. and Mrs. Timothy Sullivan and Mrs. Williams of Providence, R. I.; R. A. Griffith; spray, J. A. Erien.

DONNELLY—The funeral of Catherine Donnelly took place this morning from her late home, 62 Howard street, at 8:15 o'clock. A high mass of requiem was sung at St. Peter's church at 9 o'clock. Rev. D. J. Heffernan officiating. The choir sang the Gregorian mass. At the offertory Miss Mary Whately sang "O Meritum Passionis" and after the elevation James E. Donnelly sang "Pie Jesu." At the conclusion of the choir, rendered "Paradisum." Among the many floral tributes was a pillow inscribed "Daughter," from father; wreath, from Mr. Donnelly; sprays, from Misses Mary and Catherine Tobin, Mr. and Mrs. Cassins and Mary Tobin of North Chatham. The bearers were James Sullivan, William Sanford, Arthur Hutchinson and Dennis Sullivan. Interment was in St. Patrick's cemetery, where Rev. Fr. Heffernan read the committal prayers. P. H. Savage in charge.

WONOSOWICZ—The funeral of Antoni Wonosowicz took place this morning at 9:30 o'clock from his late home, 128 Fayette street, and was very largely attended by relatives and friends. The funeral proceeded to the Lithuanian church, where at 10 o'clock a solemn high mass of requiem was sung by the pastor, Rev. Fr. Urbanovicz. The choir, under the direction of the organist, Mr. August Jankauskas, sang the Gregorian mass. At the offertory "Domini Jesu Christi" was sung, and as the remains were being borne from the church the choir sang "De Profundis." After the mass the funeral cortege wended its way to St. Patrick's cemetery, where the prayers for the departed were recited by Rev. Fr. Urbanovicz, and the remains were tenderly laid at rest in the family lot. The bearers were four relatives of the deceased. The funeral arrangements and burial were under the direction of Undertaker John A. Finnegan.

HATTIE LEBLANC AND JUDGE BOND BEFORE WHOM SHE WILL BE TRIED ON CHARGE OF MURDER

Youngest Woman Ever Tried for Murder in Massachusetts—First Murder Trial With One Judge in Middlesex County—194 Talesmen Summoned for Jury Service—Case Opened This Morning

CAMBRIDGE, Nov. 28.—The Middlesex county court house at East Cambridge was thronged today by talesmen—194 in number—from whom will be drawn the jury which will try 17-year-old Hattie LeBlanc for the murder of her employer, Clarence F. Glover, at Waltham, Nov. 20, 1909. The trial opened at 10 a. m. today before Justice Daniel W. Bond, the oldest member of the Massachusetts superior court bench, both in age and seniority of service. The trial of the little French-Canadian girl from West Archat, C. B. was notable in many respects. She is the youngest woman ever tried in Massachusetts for murder in the first degree. The case is generally considered one of the most mysterious with which the authorities have had to deal and for the first time in the history of the Middlesex county courts a single justice is presiding at a murder trial.

When court opened today all spectators were denied admission pending the empanelling of the jury. It was expected that the entire day would be given over to selecting the men who will pass judgment on the case.

District Attorney John J. Higgins conducted the case for the government and the interests of the youthful defendant were in the hands of Attorney Melvin M. Johnson.

Clarence Glover, proprietor of a Waltham laundry, died in a private hospital at Waltham on the night of Nov. 20, 1909. In an ante-mortem statement he declared that he had been shot by the LeBlanc girl, who was employed as a domestic in his family. The girl was found three days after the death of Glover hiding under a bed in the Glover home.

Motion to Quash Overruled
The trial began with the customary motion by the defense for the quashing of the indictment for various reasons and of the overruling of the motion by the court. This gave Mr. Johnson, for Miss Leblanc, a chance to file exceptions, which will be one of the pleas for a new trial in case of an adverse verdict at the present trial.

The work of drawing a jury then began and in the first hour three men had taken seats in the box, out of 20 called from the panel.

"Pat" Ward on Jury
The jury was completed shortly after one o'clock, 35 talesmen having been examined. Court then adjourned for luncheon, after which it was thought the jury might visit Waltham. The jury is composed as follows: Winthrop H. Fairbanks, Sudbury, farmer, foreman; Charles H. Perry, Burlington, painter; Stillman R. Parker, Reading, clerk; J. Frank Robbins, Stow, farmer; James G. McGrath, Newton, painter; Elsie D. Martell, Ayer, retired; Lawrence P. Yeager, Natick, teamster; William H. Campbell, Wayland, farmer; Albin Antis, Shirley, elastic web weaver.

Wilfrid A. Clark, Newton, harness manufacturer; Patrick S. Ward, North Chelmsford, merchant; Leon Whitcomb, Peppercell, lawyer.

THOMAS BUTLER
Said to Have Jumped Into Black Brook

A man giving his name as Thomas Butler and his residence as 31 Rensselaer place, attempted to end his life shortly after eight o'clock this morning by jumping into Black brook, in the vicinity of the power house of the Boston & Northern Street Railway Co., in Middlesex street.

Employees of the street railway were attracted to the scene by passerby who witnessed the strange actions of the man and after some little difficulty Butler was pulled out of the water and the ambulance summoned.

Upon the arrival of the ambulance the man was removed to the Lowell hospital. It is thought that he will be none the worse for his bath.

GREEN AGAINST CITY

Firemen's Civil Service Case Resumed Today

More Witnesses Heard Before Judge Harris—Juryman Fails to Report on Account of Illness and Plourde Case Proceeds With 11 Jurors

The case of Green against the City of Lowell, which was started last week, was resumed before Judge Harris in the jury-waived session of the superior court this morning. Green brought suit to recover money which he alleges is due him as a member of the fire department. City Solicitor William W. Donovan represents the city, while Lawyer Donovan of Lawrence appears for the plaintiff.

It was nearly 11 o'clock when the court opened, owing to the fact that Judge Harris had to come from Bridgewater. Chief Edward S. Hosmer of the local fire department was called by City Solicitor Duncan. Handling witness, a book containing the annual report of the department, Mr. Duncan asked: "In regard to this report which shows the names of the firemen there appears the name of William J. Green as a hoseman. Now tell us about that."

"The substitute had a badge which bore the word 'substitute' and the number of the company to which he belonged. In the report it will be seen that the numbers of the badge of the regular and call firemen are shown in that report, but the substitute men have no numbers, therefore the reason for no number appearing against their names."

Relative to a question asked by Lawyer Donovan, witness said that Green was not obliged to respond to a summons, and if he failed to appear at a fire he committed no offense. William King, who was formerly driver of the hose wagon of Engine Co. No. 4 and also clerk of the company, was the next witness called. He had the company records and upon being questioned by Mr. Duncan, witness gave a list of the names of the persons for whom he substituted and the amount of money he received.

Shortly before noon the testimony was all in and after the arguments had been made by Messrs. Duncan and Donovan the judge took the matter under advisement.

In the afternoon the two cases of Gately, trustee, against Kappler were taken up. J. F. Owens and M. G. Rogers appeared for Gately while Kappler was represented by John P. Farley.

Juror Taken Ill
In the jury session of the court which is presided over by Judge Fox the case of Arthur Plourde against James F. Mooney was resumed. Gardner W. Pearson for the plaintiff and William F. Curtin for the defense.

This is an action of tort in which the ad damnum is $10,000. Plourde claims that he was in the employ of the defendant, who is a slater, and that on May 6, 1909, while carrying a pile of slates up a ladder to the roof of a building in Keene street, the ladder broke and precipitated him to the ground, severely injuring the ankle bone of his left foot.

At the opening of the session a message was received by the court to the effect that Alfred D. Swallow, of Dunstable, one of the jurors sitting on the case, is seriously ill and unable to attend court. Messrs. Pearson and Curtin agreed to proceed with 11 jurors.

FEDERATION

OPENED AT EAST BOSTON THIS MORNING
BOSTON, Nov. 28.—Christianity's progress in Massachusetts was the general theme of the delegates who attended the annual meeting of the State Federation of Churches at the Presbyterian church, East Boston, today. Private sessions of the official council were held at 10 a. m. and 2 p. m. Public meetings took place in the morning and in the afternoon.

E. Talmadge Root, field secretary, summarized the progress of the year and Albert J. Keane, of the South End house, led a discussion of the religious and social situation in East Boston. Other speakers were Ralph Brown, president of the Lynn Inter-Church union, and Rev. George L. Paine, first vice president of the New Boston Federation.

The meeting will close this evening with addresses by Rev. O. F. Gifford and Rev. James Barton, foreign secretary of the A. B. C. F. M.

GOV. ELECT OF CALIFORNIA
BALKS ON INAUGURAL BALL
SACRAMENTO, Cal., Nov. 28.—Hiram W. Johnson, governor-elect, prior to his departure for Washington Saturday, dictated a letter to the mayor of Sacramento declining to attend a ball in his honor, which was planned for his inauguration. A few days ago the mayor appointed a committee of 30 citizens to arrange for the customary inaugural ball.

In his letter Mr. Johnson says: "So far as I am personally concerned, I prefer that your plans be not carried out. The design of the administration I am about to enter upon is simple and direct; I wish my inauguration to be of the most simple and direct character, without ceremony or ostentation."

6 O'CLOCK DISASTROUS FIRE

Destroyed Several Buildings in Princeton, Mass.

FITCHBURG, Nov. 28.—The Wachusett house, a four story wooden structure in Princeton Centre, was destroyed by fire this forenoon, a building occupied as a telephone station in the rear of the hotel was badly damaged and two nearby buildings were scorched as a result of a fire which started from a defective chimney in the hotel. Fanned by a strong east wind, the flames for a time threatened all the buildings in the centre of the town and help was sent from Hubbardston and East Princeton. The loss is not expected to exceed $30,000.

NEARLY FROZEN Cold Forced Goodwin to Surrender

DANVERS, Nov. 28.—Shivering with cold and nearly famished, Martin C. R. Goodwin, who shot and killed Bertram W. Galloway at the latter's home, 7 Dodge street, Friday evening, walked into the police station last night and gave himself up.

PLEADS NOT GUILTY SALEM, Nov. 28.—Chester Goodwin pleaded not guilty when formally charged with the murder of Bertram Galloway at Danvers when brought before the first district court in this city today. He waived the reading of the complaint and was held without bail for the January term of the Essex county grand jury.

Goodwin, who worked with Galloway in the moth extermination service and boarded at Galloway's home, is alleged to have shot and killed Galloway.

Masses Changed at St. Peter's Church

REV. FR. BURNS DELIVERED ELOQUENT SERMON

At Memorial Services of Brockton Knights of Columbus Last Evening

At all the masses yesterday at St. Peter's church, a change in the hours of the masses on Sundays was announced for the winter season, to go into effect immediately. The masses will be celebrated at 6, 7, 8, 9, 10 and 11 o'clock, with the children's mass at 8:30 o'clock. At high mass yesterday Rev. Fr. O'Brien was the celebrant and a thoughtful sermon on the gospel of the day was preached by Rev. Fr. Burns.

Memorial services for the departed members of Seville council, K. of C., were held at St. Edward's church, Brockton, last evening and the eulogy was delivered by Rev. Fr. Burns of St. Peter's church, this city, and it was an eloquent effort. He referred to the good the order has done, not only for the families of the needy, and for the orphans, but in a religious and educational way. He praised the order as being one of the great forces in building up Catholic manhood in this country.

HOOKED BY COW

Michael Turner Found on the Road

"I thought I was going to bleed to death and I gave myself up to die," said Michael Turner at the police station last night. Michael was found badly injured in the road near William Dooley's farm in Methuen. He was picked up by J. H. Walsh of Boston who, while going along in his automobile discovered the man in the road. Mr. Walsh brought Michael to the police station. He was suffering from severe cuts about the eyes and nose and he said he had been hooked by a cow. Keeper John Mulry washed Michael's wounds and while Mr. Mulry was convinced that Michael was given the hook he had his doubts as to a cow passing it to him, but Michael insisted that it was a cow and "nobody else" that did the trick. "I work for Mr. Dooley," he said, "and I was giving the cows their fodder when one of them raised her head and caught me in the face with her horn. I thought I was going to bleed to death and I gave myself up to die. I thought I was getting pretty near my last kick when the fellow came along with the automobile. It was my first automobile ride and I would have enjoyed it more if I could have had it before I met the cow." Michael had more of the ardent ardor than was good for him and after his wounds had been attended to he was booked for drunkenness and locked up.

IN POLICE COURT

Men Fined for Sunday Game of Dominoes

In police court today Krol Winaski was charged with failing to provide the proper and necessary support for his wife and Krol, with what appeared to be natural modesty, denied the soft impeachment.

His wife Mary told Judge Hadley that her spouse had other women upon whom he bestowed his love and affection. She said that he gave other women his money instead of giving it to her. Asked as to his earning capacity Mary allowed that it had deteriorated. There was a time when he earned $15 and $16 a week, but now he is earning about $10 a week, and Mary declared in broken English, punctuated with gestures, that her husband had given her on an average of less than $5 a week and that was not enough to support herself and the children.

Krol said that his wife was not telling the whole truth. He said he gave her on an average of $7.50 a week besides paying the rent and store bill and after doing all that he wanted to know how much he had left to lavish on other women. He answered his question by stating that he didn't have enough left to buy tobacco. Judge Hadley heard all that Krol had to say and then ordered him to pay his wife $7.50 a week and the probation officer will see to it that Krol lives up to the terms of agreement set by the court.

Game of Dominoes

For playing dominoes on the Lord's day, Christos Pappas, Michael Skells, Anastasio Tzialis and James Marinos were fined $10 each in police court today, and Charalabos Athanasi, Poulos Dorozas and Peter Poulos were fined $5 each for being present at the game. They were represented by J. Joseph Honessy. The men were arrested from a house in Market street by Lieut. Freeman, Inspectors Veleth, Dwyer, Fox and Grady, and Sergeants Duncan and Ryan.

Withdrew His Appeal

James Allen, who was arrested a number of days ago on a charge of attempting to steal clothes in Talbot's, appealed from a six months' sentence to the house of correction, withdrew his appeal today and his sentence stands affirmed.

The Drunken Offenders

Six first offenders were released; two were fined $2 each; Samuel Scott, a parole man, was returned to the state farm; Michael J. Turner, who was picked up on the road near Methuen and brought to Lowell by an automobilist, was given a suspended sentence of four months. Michael's father, like a war man and he said he had been hooked by a cow. George Leach and John Roddy were fined $9 each.

Charles Feitler and Welhelma Beaulieu were charged with illicit cohabitation. The officers stated that the woman was married and was living apart from her husband. She was fined $75 and the man was fined $50. Joseph Loughran appeared for the woman and James Stuart Murphy for the man.

was such a big success last season. The association will organize with the election of officers from those who will attend the opening meeting. It is proposed to hold monthly meetings, which will be addressed by coaches, trainers and experts while it is also proposed to hold an indoor event during Christmas week and an outdoor meet on the South common on Patriots day. The association will also control the baseball league during the spring and summer season.

ARTHUR SULLIVAN

THREE KILLED

IN RAILROAD WRECK AT GRAFTON, W. VA.

GRAFTON, W. Va., Nov. 28.—Baltimore & Ohio passenger No. 7, the New York and Chicago express, westbound via Wheeling, one of the fastest trains of the system, was wrecked at midnight at the head of a 17-mile grade, and three trainmen were killed and three injured, while a number of passengers received scratches and bruises. An extra engine had helped the passenger train up the heavy grade and had steamed ahead to take a siding. It was backing on the siding when the collision came with the on-coming passenger train, a miscalculation having been made by one or both of the engineers. The impact was terrific. The helper engine was demolished and its tank thrown upon the adjoining eastbound track. The passenger engine was derailed and overturned, as were the baggage car and the smoker. There were only one or two passengers in the smoker. Freight train No. 64 eastbound, was passing at the time and ran into the tank of engine 1793, causing the derailment of the freight locomotive and several cars.

ALLEOTONE, the New Remedy for Colds and Grippe, Embodies an Interesting Principle

A COLD is due to lowered vitality. Everyone knows that.

But what is lowered vitality?

It is exactly this: Your body is built up of numberless tiny cells which are constructed of certain chemical elements. When the supply of some of these elements runs short, that form of lowered vitality results, which we call "a cold."

All the medicine you ever took was made from drugs that are foreign to the body. They are used because they set up a disturbance in the system which instantly tries to throw them off. True, the cure is often accomplished but the use of drugs has an evil effect on the system, and causes needless waste of vitality.

These statements sound radical. They are radical but true. Hundreds of physicians are prescribing ALLEOTONE for colds, pneumonia, and infectious conditions. Before your cold develops into something worse, get a bottle of ALLEOTONE. You will find it gives speedy relief with no unfavorable reaction.

At Druggists, 50c and $1.00 a Bottle.

ALLEOTONE cures colds by giving to the cells the food which they lack. And the signal of that lack is your cold.

ALLEOTONE cures exactly as water cures thirst.

You don't have any peccate or calomel or camphor in your system. But every ingredient in ALLEOTONE is an ingredient of every part of your body.

ALLEOTONE is a cell-food—not a stimulant, except as food is a stimulant.

But after all, what interests you is not the principle of ALLEOTONE, but the fact that its use remedies colds and allied ailments more quickly than any other treatment.

ALLEOTONE will make you absolutely safe from pneumonia and infectious diseases if taken in time, because it gives to the cells of the body exactly the nutrition they demand.

A MESSAGE TO THE "LIVE WIRES"

OF LOWELL

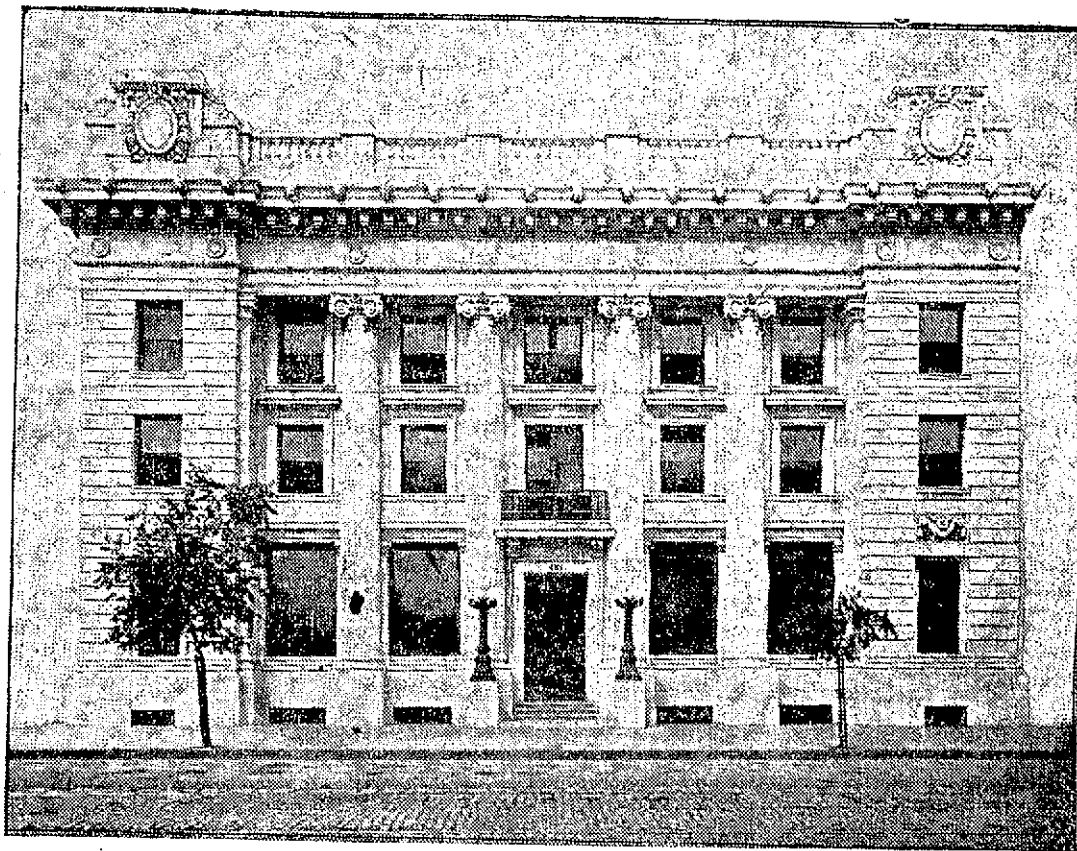

If you take all the men of Lowell and classify them you will have two groups—the "Live Wires" and the Failures. You will find some of the "Live Wires" in every factory, every shop and every busy place where men work together. These "Live Wires" are the men who are making good—they are giving the orders, doing the higher grades of work, and drawing the fat salaries. Ambition has lifted them above their fellows; they are successful because they are trained for their work. Their brain development is paying them dividends. The "Live Wires" are in demand—ask any employer.

There are many "Live Wires" in Lowell getting ready for the big jobs. They are the young men and women who are using their spare time and taking advantage of every opportunity to gain the knowledge that pays.

Then there is the other class—the Failures. They outnumber the "Live Wires" by a large majority. They will never get anywhere because they lack ambition and are content to plod along, working for small pay. There are so many of them that the "Live Wires" have a better chance. Success is only for the ambitious man who is in the game of life to win, and who is willing to pay the price, which is concentration of effort and hard work. The man without training, and without the energy necessary to get it, is beaten—he will remain for life in the ranks of the Failures.

Young Man, Are You a "Live Wire"?

If you are a "Live Wire" but lack the training that is necessary to make you successful, the Students Union can help you no matter what may be your present work or education. We can, through our system of training, place you in the high-salaried class in a short time if you are willing to do your part. The Students Union is a profit-sharing association furnishing the highest grade of technical instruction to its members. Nearly 1000 of the "Live Wires" of Greater Boston are now on its rolls and they are enthusiastic over its liberal plan.

HOME OF THE STUDENTS UNION.

Special Low Rates to Lowell Club of 100

In order to get the Students Union thoroughly introduced in Lowell the first 100 students enrolled will be given a special low rate. We know that when 100 of Lowell's ambitious men have become familiar with our unequalled system of salary-raising training their success will assist us to get hundreds of other students. Every "live wire"—every ambitious young man or woman—who wants to be prepared to fill a good position should grasp this opportunity. Don't let anything prevent you from joining this Club. It means success.

Here is a Partial List of the Positions For Which We Train You:

MECHANICAL DRAFTSMAN, MACHINE DESIGNER, FOREMAN MACHINIST, ELECTRICIAN, GAS ENGINE DESIGNER OR OPERATOR, PLUMBING AND HEATING ENGINEER, FOREMAN CARPENTER, STEAM ENGINEER OR FIREMAN, CIVIL ENGINEER, BOOKKEEPER, STENOGRAPHER, SHOW CARD WRITER, CIVIL SERVICE, ETC.

Recommends the Students Union

I give you much credit for the thorough and practical manner in which you have laid out the course in Gas Engineering. What I thought would be difficult I find, with careful study, is quite easy, and would be glad to recommend the Students Union to every man who has any ambition. I believe it is the best investment and best correspondence school a young man could put his money into.

EXCITING OPENING

Of British Campaign---Row In City of Cork

LONDON, Nov. 28.—The election address of Arthur J. Balfour, leader of the opposition in the house of commons, is a brief document. It declares that the Unionist program of legislation is practically the same as at the general election and asserts that behind the single chamber conspiracy lurks socialism and home rule.

"It is because both nationalists and socialists were aware that their darling projects are not in harmony with the considered will of the people," says Mr. Balfour, "that they press for the abolition of the only constitutional safeguard which at critical moments will enable that will to prevail."

The opposition leader also alludes with the greatest brevity to the alternative scheme for the reform of the house of lords which Lord Lansdowne proposed.

RIOT AT CORK
DUBLIN, Nov. 28.—William Red-

mond's campaign in Cork against William O'Brien, has led to serious rioting by the rival factions. Several persons were injured there Saturday night and again last night. When a Redmondite procession tried to march through an O'Brienite quarter of the city, police blocked their way. Riots occurred on all hands and about 50 persons were injured. It is said that Mr. O'Brien has $125,000 at his command and will contest 24 seats, he himself contesting three, the constituencies of Cork City, East Cork and West Mayo.

A great demonstration was held in Dublin last night, with torchlight, bands and fireworks in honor of the return of Joseph Devlin, who addressed an enormous crowd on College Green on the success of his mission to America. John E. Redmond and John Dillon also made speeches praising Mr. Devlin's work.

RALPH DE PALMA

Tells of Experience in Auto Races

That automobile racing has peculiar psychological effects on drivers under certain circumstances is set forth in a rather lucid manner by Ralph De Palma, the well known automobile racer, who didn't do as well as he intended to in the Grand Prize race which was recently held in the south. He has the following to say about the race:

Since the Grand Prize race about everyone I have met after making a few remarks, facetious or otherwise, about the way I secured the lead in the last third of the big race—something I shall never forget—only to break down just before the finish, has inquired as to how much of a strain the contest was upon me physically. While some people may not believe it, that long race was the most enjoyable I have ever experienced on any course. For me, it was a "joy ride" in the true sense of the word. At the finish I do not think I was the least bit tired. If I did not feel fine it was because I was disappointed in losing out with a breakdown, so near the finish, particularly when I had experienced absolutely no tire trouble. It was really remarkable that the Fiat's tires gave me no difficulty running for nearly 400 miles at 71 miles an hour average. I amused me a good deal just to watch how they stood up lap after lap. Why, while I was in the running I was having a great deal of fun waving to my friend, Bruce Brown, to stay back and not drive so fast. We were "kidding" each other frequently. The supposition that a 400 mile road race is necessarily a hardship on a driver is a mistake.

On the other hand, take the case of Ray Harroun, who, like the case of a little more than half over, had to quit because he was exhausted and in bad shape. This statement is by no means any reflection on Harroun's ability, for he is one of the best. It merely shows that drivers cannot always keep in form for long periods under high speed conditions. That was demonstrated in a twenty-four hour race at Brighton last summer, when my arms became paralyzed early in the grand, and Parker, Hawley and other seasoned men in the same race had the same trouble. This thing has occurred on other courses—a driver starting out in apparently perfect physical condition, and then having some part of his system go wrong—nausea or numbness perhaps attacking him. Sometimes this is caused by a rough course or perhaps a like nervousness developed during the race, for while near accidents or bad skids have no after effect on the minds of some pilots (myself included), they have a decided effect on others.

I think a driver's temperament has a great deal to do with his racing physical condition while in a race. Fats, the French type of driver, as a class they are inclined to be excitable, or fly into mad rage if something goes wrong while in the contest. Some of these have been known to start out after a slight delay and apparently lose their heads, driving a really "crazy" race, taking corners not only with recklessness but with bad, novice-like judgment as well. In fact a few years ago the wilder and crazier a speed merchant was, the bigger his reputation. There is a certain well known road driver who is always cool and perfectly calm while driving at phenomenal speed, but if anything irregular occurs he becomes highly nervous and has been known to bite his fingers or tear his hair in his excitement.

Now in a pinch such a thing would never occur to me, nor would it occur to many other drivers. For some reason or other when I see that I am hopelessly out of a race, as at Savannah, I burst out with a regular school-boy laugh—not that I think it is a joke to lose a race and a fat purse, but that I do it intentionally. It is merely my substitute for hair-tearing and running up and down like a chicken with its head off. And, by the way, losing six or seven thousand dollars when it is just about under your nose is not a thing to bring a big smile to anyone, in view of the high cost of living. But they say I succeeded at Savannah, when I examined the car and saw all hope was gone.

It has always struck me that most foreign drivers do not try to develop "head-work" as they might. Head-work in racing is something I have always paid a lot of attention to. I learned it in the bicycle racing game, judging distance, speed, and especially keeping tabs on the other fellows' counts. It is just as necessary to retain your composure and avoid personal fatigue as it is to save the car. In fact what is known as head-work keeps you from "losing your head."

It strikes me that the driver who can remain cool and get fussed when things go wrong during a contest is better able to stand the physical strain when he gets back in the running and invariably stands a better chance of catching up and I know a number of other drivers who agree with me.

ONE OF THE CULVERTS WHICH IS TO HELP BRIDGE CHAGRES RIVER. (BY AMERICAN PRESS ASSN.)

THE QUESTION OF DAMS

CAUSES TAFT WORRIMENT

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—There are dams and dams, and President Taft knows a bit about the difference, but he is not just sure when a dam is a dam, and as a result he is worried. The Chagres river down in Panama is a fearful stream of water. Now and then this river rises in its might and sweeps all before it. Colonel Goethals is sure his locks and dams and culverts will care for the rising of the Chagres, but engineers not in the employ of the government do not agree with him and have submitted their data to the president. Then the question of "slides"—that is, where the sides of the canal are sliding into the ditch—is another grave problem. President Taft has inspected the huge culverts, some twenty-four feet high, and he thinks they should carry off the water with the aid of various dams. But rival engineers are pointing out that the dams are built on insecure ground and that the huge culverts will not save serious breaks in the canal. President Taft hopes to solve some of these problems, or at least make a clear report on the conditions in his message to congress.

RELIEF IS FELT

Rio Janeiro Fleet Again in Control

RIO JANEIRO, Nov. 28.—The city awoke yesterday morning with a feeling of inexpressible relief. The warships of the fleet were again in the hands of the government, which last evening sent officers to take command. Trains from the interior brought back families which had fled in fear of the bombardment of the mutineers and the newspapers rejoice that the people had been delivered from what they term a nightmare. Several of the newspapers publish articles on "The heroes of the rebellion" for the purpose of creating a sympathetic atmosphere.

One of the sailors on the scout ship Bahia denied many of the reports concerning the crews of the various ships taking part in the revolt and the differences among the men which were said to have arisen. All of them, he said, were obedient to the orders issued by the battleship Minas Geraes and Jean Candido, the leader who was loved and respected by the entire navy.

At no time did the mutineers have the least fear of the destroyers, which ships, now did they have any fear of the fortresses, which could have been silenced by the big guns on the warships. The mutineers did not lack for certain supplies, but had difficulty in securing water and coal. The principal grievance, adjustment of which the men demanded, was the employment by the officers of a leather whip called "chibata" and the stories of the punishment inflicted upon the men as told in the newspapers show this to have been veritable torture. Journalists here are astonished at the severity of the comments on the rising which have appeared in the foreign newspapers, considering them too hasty.

A series of curious coincidences in conjunction with the mutiny is set forth in one of the papers. In 1711 the French ship Duguay Trouin, bombarded Rio Janeiro, prior to the capture of the city by the French. In 1810 the French training ship Duguay Trouin was in the harbor when the mutineers threw shells into the city. On November 23, 1891, Marshal Paredo da Fonseca, then president of the republic, was deposed by the navy. On November 23 the present revolt took practical form—a day prophetic for the Fonseca. The names of the three warships on which the mutiny started, the Sao Paulo, the Minas Geraes and the Bahia, are the same as the three states which opposed the candidacy of Moraes da Fonseca for the presidency and, finally, when the Portuguese cruiser Adamastor bombarded the royal palace at Lisbon, the Brazilian battleship Sao Paulo was present, and when the Sao Paulo bombarded Rio Janeiro the Adamastor was present.

OF NEW ENGLAND WILL CONSIDER DEMURRAGE RULES

The New Hampshire Lumbermen's association, composed of a large number of lumber operators in various parts of New England, at a meeting which will be held in Manchester, N. H., Thursday, Dec. 22, will consider the demurrage rule of the railroads that has been an important issue the last few months.

The interstate commerce commission made a compromise with the shippers to the extent that the 48-hour rule, which was to have been put into effect thirty days and beginning Dec. 1, the demurrage in lumber and other forest products, grain and coal would have 72 hours free time for a period of six months. An independent demurrage board is to be established in Boston and an arbitrator appointed by the interstate commission to hear complaints and investigate conditions. At the end of the six months the arbitrator is to report to the commission whether or not the 72-hour time shall be made permanent with reference to lumber and other forest products, grain and coal.

Attorney J. Ashton Thorne of Manchester, who is clerk of the lumbermen's association, will probably appear before the arbitrator at Boston as counsel for many of the largest shippers in this section of New England. There are a number of shippers who are interested in the demurrage rule which the railroads have tried to put into effect and who will use their influence to have the 72-hour rule adopted.

BABIES STARVING

Chicago Strike Committee Reports 5000 Suffering

CHICAGO, Nov. 28.—The Citizens' strike committee, which has investigated conditions in the families of striking garment workers, reported yesterday that 5000 babies are starving here as a result of the labor war. The report was made at a meeting at Hull house and a special babies' milk fund was started at once by members of the committee.

Estimates at the meeting showed it would take at least $100 a day to provide milk for babies in actual want, and the suffering appeared so great that $1100 was contributed by members of the committee. The fund is to be kept distinct from other strikers' funds.

The strike is no nearer settlement than a week ago, according to representatives of the union and both sides have settled down for a long struggle.

Developing a Boy's Ambition

YOUR boy's ambition, like that of a man, will develop only when tension is put upon it. Active-minded boys enjoy the responsibility of getting and holding SATURDAY EVENING POST customers for precisely the same reasons that ambitious men choose strenuous occupations instead of idle lives.

Our selling-plan helps boys to understand their fellow-beings. It develops the best that is in them. Their agency work is to them quite as earnest an affair as real life is to you.

Not alone from the play standpoint is the plan good for boys. In thousands we are developing ambition and self-reliance, the value of which cannot be reckoned in money.

THREE DOLLARS PER YEAR. TWENTY-FIVE CENTS PER MONTH

The sworn daily average circulation of The Lowell Sun for the year 1909 was

Sworn to by John H. Harrington, proprietor, Martin H. Reidy, business manager, and Alfred Pilotte, pressman, of The Sun, before me January 1, 1910. J. JOSEPH HENNESSY, Notary Public.

This is by far the largest average circulation of any newspaper in Lowell.

The story of Cudahy's rise to wealth reads like a romance.

The poor who cannot very well afford to purchase coal have been favored by the remarkably mild weather this fall.

J. Armstrong Drexel is credited with having gone farther heavenward than any other aviator.

There was no skating in Lowell at Thanksgiving, but there is a prospect of compensation when the Shedd skating park will have been opened.

Governor-elect Foss is determined to keep his word in regard to stumping the state against Lodge. Should Lodge be elected over all opposition he would undoubtedly be in a position to sneer at his enemies.

The present British crisis is one of the most exciting since the corn law agitation. The house of lords will make a mistake by putting up a battle against the British democracy.

The trial of Hattie Le Blanc will be followed with intense interest all over this state. The case is one of the most puzzling tried for a long time.

The people of Lowell got some good advice from Chief Hosmer in that interview published in Saturday's Sun relative to fires, fire panics and the best methods of saving life. Truly the panic in many cases is more dangerous than the fire.

GOOD PUBLIC POLICY

Not for a long time has any matter of public necessity been taken hold of with such business tact and good judgment as that of the contagious hospital by the Charity and Health Boards in conjunction with the city council. The members of the city council in joint convention listened to the logic of facts as presented by Drs. McCarty and Martin, and having heard the convincing arguments, the committee on appropriations forthwith recommended the appropriation of $1000 for the purpose of having plans drawn. The city council at its next meeting will probably take action on the appointment of a commission to supervise the work. It is gratifying to find that the question has been handled so promptly and in such a practical manner.

It is good public policy to comply with the law that requires every city to have an infectious hospital. It is a protection to the health of the community against epidemics or outbreaks of any kind that may cause many deaths for lack of isolation.

DO THE PEOPLE LIKE TO BE HUMBUGGED?

The democratic party of this city has nominated a good municipal ticket and should now get together and elect it. Whatever little bickering may have existed because of the failure of this or that man to be appointed to office, should be put aside and forgotten in the face of the imperative party duty. It will be said that Mayor Meehan should have appointed this or that man to such and such an office, and that because of being overlooked certain candidates have a right to be "sore" and to oppose the mayor's election. The mayor could not multiply the number of appointments so as to have enough to go around, and when he made his selection acting under his privilege as mayor, we do not believe it is the right policy for any democrat on that ground to oppose the success of the democratic ticket. The motive is purely selfish, and for that reason should not appeal to loyal democrats as justifying party treachery. There are others who at some time in the past failed to secure a nomination or election to some office and they want to get square with somebody and to vent their spleen by voting against the party ticket. The number of the disgruntled is very small, but their action is unjust, unreasonable, and will recoil upon themselves later on.

If the democrats this year are loyal to their ticket they can elect it easily; if they are disloyal, it is likely that they will throw away the best opportunity they may have for several years to win a signal victory for good government.

Mayor Meehan's administration has been eminently successful although quiet and conservative. He did not deem it advisable as a gallery play to trump up charges against any official board and remove them only to have them restored after the city had incurred considerable expense. He has demonstrated that it is not necessary for the mayor of a city who honestly conducts the business of his office to keep continually in the limelight.

It is time the people of Lowell should realize that they have been imposed upon in the past by irresponsible demagogues who raise up bugaboos for the purpose of exciting the popular mind and thereby winning popular support.

When will the people begin to see the difference between the genuine and the counterfeit in politics, between hot air and political buncombe on the one side and common sense and the honest logic of facts on the other?

The man of quiet, conservative yet progressive methods, will conserve the city's interests, promote her prosperity and maintain her reputation unsullied while the sensationalist and the political horn-blower would keep up continual turmoil and excitement which lead people who do not know the circumstances to assume that our city is victimized by grafting, turbulence and political disorder. Thus we are injured as a city in the eyes of the outside world. We have had enough of such turmoil, and if the people should return to it again it would prove the truth of Barnum's dictum that "the people like to be humbugged."

COULD WE BUT KNOW

Could we but know what influence we wield
Over our fellowmen each day we live—
How frowns may hurt, or how a smile may give
Courage to some faint heart in life's great field
Of battle; ah! methinks that we would
More careful of our actions as we go
Through this strange world of ours,
Could we but know.

Could we but stand in some one else's place,
Seeing our own selves from his point of view,
Our faults, of which we thought we had but few,
Would seem as countless as the stars in space;
And all the great, good traits we thought we had
And all that we had done to lessen woe
Might all be overbalanced by the bad,
Could we but know.

Could we but know how just the little things
Which we call commonplace mould the lives of us,
Of all that strive. The struggling man
To reach a goal, and falls, and feels the stings
Of unjust critics pierce his very soul.
Knows what kind words are worth;
And long ago
A kind word might have helped him reach the goal,
Could we but know.

Could we but know! Ah! could we but know
The hearts that we have made to
The hearts that we have made to
By little thoughtless deeds, we would refrain
From doing them again; and we would go
With fear-wet eyes and beg them to forgive—
Ah, yes, our hearts would ever warmer grow
Toward all mankind as long as we should live,
Could we but know.

THE BLESSED PAIR

There was a young woman without any mother
Or father or sister or aunt or brother,
Who met a young man in her own walk and station
Who had, I am told, not a single relation.

This motherless maid and this fatherless fellow
Went courting each other, and life seemed all mellow
And sweet, for they had to please only each other,
And not any aunt or father or mother.

"I love you," he said, and he never diluted
His love with the hope that his father was suited;
"I love you," she said, and she added no other
Remark about hoping he'd please her dear mother.

And love seemed to smile on the whole of their coupling,
For they posed no stand of relation relieving.
They wanted each other and not some odd dozens
Of uncles and aunts and parents and cousins.

And these kinless youngsters, pray note ye the moral,
Were married without having had a real quarrel.
They were not distinguished or wealthy or clever—
But oh, they were happy for ever and ever!

LETTER CARRIERS

Made Merry at Elks Hall Saturday Night

The Lowell Letter Carriers association, branch 25, held a very interesting meeting and smoke talk at Elks hall Saturday night. Almost every letter carrier who is a member of the association was present.

President John J. Dillon was in the chair. There was much business transacted. Several letters were read by Ed. J. Lynch from a dozen or more congressmen in regard to the retirement of civil pension for letter carriers. The contents were well applauded by the large number present. A committee of twelve was appointed to abolish Sunday work.

Brother George S. Howard spoke in regard to longer vacations. He pointed out the fact that the president and the department are heartily in favor of longer vacations. Hence it was the wish of those present that congress would favorably grant a longer vacation for the postal employees, so that they may return to their work rested and prepared to give the public the best possible service.

Brother Edward A. Howe, one of the oldest letter carriers in the country made remarks and he would be one of the first to hang up his bag for the last time and lay aside his gray if congress would only "get busy" and hasten the day for the retirement of worthy letter carriers. Brother Al. Wilson read a paper on "What constitutes a 'good letter carrier' and Brother Joseph Sullivan made remarks.

Wm. J. Higgins, secretary of the recent ball, made special mention of the carriers who sold so many tickets. Edward J. Lynch, recording secretary, read many communications from branches in other cities on the good of the order. John P. Sheehan reported that the catering had been attended to and a sumptuous spread awaited the members. President Dillon presented Charles A. Carey to the meeting as chairman of the entertainment committee.

The following program was carried out under the chairman's direction: Piano solo, "Souza's Bride Elect," Robert E. Bay; reading, "Light Brigade," Edward J. Lynch; solo, "My Heart Has Learned in Love You," Fred Campbell; violin solo, "The Wind That Shakes the Barley," John P. Sheehan; buck and wing dance, Whitston and Howard; solo, "Sweet Sixteen," Thomas P. Meagher; solo, "I'm a Member of the Midnight Crew," Albert E. Willis; piano solo, "H. Trevor," Robert E. Bay; character song, "Emma Carus," "Mary Ann," by Charles A. Carey. Several encores were demanded and the latter added Blanche King's latest "Come Up Josephine in My Flying Machine."

FIERCE GALE

LASHED BAY OF FUNDY FOR 48 HOURS

DIGBY, N. S., Nov. 28.—For 48 hours the Bay of Fundy has been lashed by a fierce northeast gale which at times reached a velocity of 50 miles an hour. The storm was the longest and the worst for many years. Great damage has been done to the fishing stages and small craft that were anchored at points along the coast. The most serious disaster reported is that to the Nova Scotia schooner Mercedes, Captain R. H. Henshaw, from Clementsport, N. S., for Boston with a cargo of pilchard which is ashore at Batters Point and will probably be a total loss. The crew escaped.

On land the storm was also very severe, telegraph and telephone lines being carried down in all directions.

CONSTITUTION

ARIZONA'S WILL CONTAIN ONLY 16,000 WORDS

PHOENIX, Ariz., Nov. 28.—Arizona's constitution will be the briefest written in recent years by any state. According to estimates it will contain less than 16,000 words, as against 25,000 for New Mexico's constitution and 104,000 in that of Oklahoma.

A significant fact in connection with these figures is that the constitution of New Mexico was written by a majority written on a "flexible" platform, declaring for a short constitution, while the democratic delegates who control the Arizona convention were elected on platforms promising reforms, variously designated as "progressive" and "radical." Democratic members point out that the convention has followed the suggestion of Pres. Taft, who when in Arizona, held up the Oklahoma constitution as a "horrible example," and advised Arizonians to make their constitution as brief as possible and free from legislative details. The final adoption will not take place before the middle of next week.

According to the returns made to the internal revenue bureau, the capital stock of the corporations was $22,371,626,750 and their bonded and other indebtedness was $31,333,952,696.

CHARTER REVISION

Public Meeting Held in Hamilton Hall Yesterday Afternoon

Free Discussion of the Charter From Every Point of View—Dr. McAvinee Makes a Sensible Speech

The proposed new charter for the city of Lowell was discussed by prominent citizens of Lowell yesterday afternoon at a public meeting held at Hamilton hall in Odd Fellows temple, this meeting being the forerunner to the monster mass meeting which is to be held next Wednesday night at the Des Moines hall, at which President Eliot of Harvard college is to be the principal speaker.

The virtues of the initiative and referendum were explained as was the Des Moines charter.

The attendance was very large. The principal speakers were William N. Osgood, Carl M. Phil and Fred C. Weld.

The first speaker was Mr. Osgood. He called to order shortly after four o'clock and spoke on the proposal of the proposed charter the two elections which would be necessary for the choice of candidates for mayor and of the wedding out process which would obtain, providing the Des Moines or Haverhill ideas were put into effect.

Mr. Phil, the next speaker, spoke, in part, as follows:

"We want a consensus of opinion relative to a certain sort of charter. We must know before we appeal to the legislature for the right to have the matter placed on our ballots. When the citizens of Lowell know what they want and what they get together and state that they want it, then they will get it."

"The city solicitor of Haverhill, Mr. Nichols, who spoke before the board of trade recently, said that the year previous to the adoption of the new charter the city of Haverhill had a deficit of $27,000. At the end of the first year, after the adoption of the new charter, all bills were paid and there was a surplus of $38,000 to the credit of the city. The city is now running its affairs on a tax basis of $12 per $1000."

"We may have had a better administration and better personnel than had Haverhill prior to the new charter, and perhaps that's why we are in better shape."

"When you hire a man to run a laithe you do not expect that he is a paper-maker, and that only. You hire a man who knows how to run a laithe. This holds good in the running of municipal affairs, as in everything else.

"Your police, fire and pauper departments eat up immense sums of money yearly, and you want somebody who understands something about the spending of money for you."

"A new charter will give us a place where we can always place the responsibility for anything we want done, and for things which should have been done and are not. The municipal council of a smaller number of men brings us down nearer the old town meeting standing. We usually know something about the men at the top of the ticket, but we don't often know much about the aldermen. If we don't know about them, then we can't vote intelligently for them."

"Your ideas come into the highest vote will be those to run the city's affairs. This gives a broader opportunity for the citizens, and it gives the men in office more authority and a better chance to do something for the city, without being hampered by a mass of red tape. In Haverhill the men on the council there figure the city's income just as men do anywhere. The heads of departments there are all members of the council."

Fred C. Weld

Mr. Weld was the third speaker, and he gave his reason for the adoption by the city of the Des Moines charter. He said that part of the charter idea was taken from the charter of the city of Galveston, Texas. There was no great and awful corruption rampant in Des Moines, but there was waste and extravagance. The workers for the charter there worked for the charter slightly different from the form of the New England town meeting, where the selectmen and a town treasurer are elected annually. Possibly a dozen of the voters do all the talking at a town meeting, but the others can listen to what they say, said Mr. Weld. Then all go and vote.

Mr. Weld said that there is always the suspicion where the new form of charter has not been tried that it is to be a less popular form of government.

"You go to the polls in a city election," he said "and vote for mayor, nine aldermen and three councilmen. There are 37 men elected altogether, yet you do not have an opportunity to vote for one-half of those 37 men. The new plan strikes me as being more popular than the one we have in use today, and it certainly is a better business form."

Mr. Weld then asked everybody present to attend the meeting in Association hall next Wednesday night to hear Dr. Eliot speak on city charters.

In conclusion he said that in Des Moines the five members of the municipal council had elected every two years; in Haverhill three men are elected one year and two the next. The speaker thought the Des Moines plan more perfect than any of the others.

At this point the meeting was invited to ask questions relative to the proposed charter. John Walsh asked if Dr. Eliot was close enough to the plain people to know what they want for a city charter. Mr. Phil stated that Mr. Eliot knew a lot about charters.

William J. Carroll

William J. Carroll said that the matter to be discussed was not so much men as the merits of the charter itself. He favored providing a charter for future generations, a charter which would allow the coming by the city of its public utilities, without forcing the people, years hence, to go before the legislature to ask for the permission to vote on such a question.

He wanted provision made for the future tearing down of the rat-trap tenements in the city and for the purchase of land on the outskirts, where modern, sanitary homes might be erected.

Andrew Barrett

Andrew Barrett said he wanted to get away from Dr. Eliot, because he had given forth statements since he left Harvard university which had been condemned throughout the country. He wanted to know something about the initiative and referendum.

Mr. Osgood in reply to the question said: "The initiative and referendum acts there as a club over the heads of the representatives of the people, than anything else. It is to be used only when absolutely necessary. As an illustration I may mention the case of Somerville a few years ago. A big corporation wanted to erect a slaughter house there, notwithstanding the fact that public opinion was very much against its erection. And the board of aldermen there voted to grant a permit for the erection of the slaughter house. The wrong was done, and the turning out of office of the men who had voted for the building of the slaughter house, at the end of the year, didn't right it."

Mr. Barrett wanted to know if the initiative and referendum had ever been used in Haverhill. He said it would require a whole lot of time to get 4000 or 5000 names to any petition.

He believed the recall all buncombe. "Where are you going to draw the line?" he asked. "Somebody must be acting upon immediately. You can't wait 60 days on them, until the people can decide whether they want to have them re-submitted."

"The municipal council must appropriate certain amounts of money at the opening of the year for current expenses," said Mr. Osgood.

"These, of course, are not the subject for a referendum. A riot, if it requires an amount of money to quell it, doesn't need a referendum vote taken. If there should be a flood or an epidemic of disease, the safety of the citizens demands immediate action and the appropriation and expenditure of public money. Of course, no referendum would be asked or needed in those instances. The referendum would apply to those matters which are important that a severe or a schoolhouse be built in 60 days, although the sewer and the schoolhouse are in themselves absolutely necessary things."

"I believe in the initiative and referendum, but I want to see it practical and effective," said Mr. Barrett.

The subject was discussed at length by Andrew Barrett, Mr. Phil, Henry Carr, Robert J. Crowley and others.

Dr. McAvinee

Dr. McAvinee made a stirring speech in which he said:

"It is not the thing to come here and make statements about something underneath the charter movement unless that something can be explained. I don't like to hear such statements made unless something can be shown that it is true, unless there is tangible evidence of such things. I think a statement in line with what I have received several times recently, but on no occasion could I get anything tangible in support of such a statement. Men are liable to judge men by their own feelings. Unless we can get something more definite I think I should regard great injustices to the city of Lowell by making such statements. It would be detrimental to the city whether you change your charter or not. A commission is an unfortunate word to use. It is a stretch in the nostrils of decent citizens sometimes. There are commissions which I believe to be the very best, and one of them is the park commission. However, to apply the word commission to this council is unfortunate. I think this new brand of government is surely coming, or something like it. It is coming because it is progressive. I believe in the great which has adopted it has gone back to the old charter. You will have to make men all over if you don't want man to try and get ahead of his fellows. Any system of government by men as men are made nowadays will reveal men striving to defeat their fellows. But that does not argue in the slightest against the new charter. Occasionally this new plan may get men who do not serve the people faithfully. The recall is the sword to hang over their heads, the sword which will make any man inclined to do his duty in the light of the new order of things is coming. I hope you will not allow the remarks made about something underneath this movement to sink deeply into your minds, until there is more in support of such statements. We don't want to advance to the next stage, to say there, the other night, we had a meeting of citizens to consider a new charter. Lawrence has beaten us in one way. She had a mayor sent to prison, and we do not envy her. I hope to God we will never have anything like that here. Think this thing over."

Mr. Kirkpatrick spoke in favor of having laboring men consulted in framing the charter.

Thomas J. Goyette said the committee of sixty were from all walks of life and that no charter had yet been drafted while none would be drawn until every society in Lowell was heard from.

Y. M. C. A. SUNDAY

Observed in Protestant Churches Yesterday

WORK OF THE ASSOCIATION IN UNITED STATES

Educational State Secretary Spoke at High Street church—Told of Wonderful Development of Association Work in This Country

Yesterday was Y. M. C. A. Sunday and it was quite generally observed in this city, official representatives of the association speaking at several of the Protestant churches.

W. C. Smith, educational secretary of the state committee of the Y. M. C. A. for Massachusetts and Rhode Island, spoke at the High Street church yesterday morning. He said in part:

"The wonderful development of the association work in the United States, in which it has been so largely used shows in the tremendous material development in association building and equipment, which have advanced in 10 years from $25,000,000 to $67,000,000, and in the various activities ranging from 150 per cent. to 750 per cent; the tremendous response which the people of the United States have given to this universal call for brotherhood has placed upon the association a great responsibility which it has sought to discharge in its help toward making for efficient Christian manhood in meeting the young man at the point of his greatest need, speeding him on to a higher, better type of manhood and citizenship."

"This problem of the conservation of human life and character among its young men is a problem of supreme importance to the future economic welfare of our country. The association has had a definite program to offer the young man for his leisure time, and it is because it has helped young men in such a wide range of activities that the work has been so blessed. These activities have expressed themselves in a large number of departments, and it will be interesting to take up briefly the work in the individual departments."

"The army and navy department has done a tremendous work for our soldier and sailor boys who are denied the privilege of home in so many ways; who lead a lonely life, and the association has given these men a haven of rest in the various ports and places where they locate. The wonderful influence it has upon their life is shown in the use to which two of our associations are put by the men in Newport and Charleston."

"Early this month, the cornerstone of a $250,000 building was laid at Newport by Senator Wadsworth, the gift of Mrs. Thomas J. Emory, and a similar building has already been completed at Norfolk."

Meetings are held in all of the ports on board ship, and the tremendous interest which a large number of the soldiers and sailors attending these meetings have shown in an example of their appreciation of this need in their lives."

"The industrial department is doing a wonderful work in the civic education of the immigrant and in cultivating the spirit of Christian brotherhood in its social service. When we consider that 78 per cent. of 25 of the largest Massachusetts cities are foreign born, we consider the tremendous significance of this work which has as its objective, first, to bring them into contact with Christian ideals by personal contact and by teaching, and to solve in our own men a spirit of missionary service to the resident immigrant and to the returning immigrant. Thousands of immigrants are being taught the elements of English through a system outlined by Dr. Potter Roberts."

WORK OF THE ASSOCIATION IN UNITED STATES

Educational State Secretary Spoke at High Street church—Told of Wonderful Development of Association Work in This Country

Yesterday was Y. M. C. A. Sunday and it was quite generally observed in this city, official representatives of the association speaking at several of the Protestant churches.

W. C. Smith, educational secretary of the state committee of the Y. M. C. A. for Massachusetts and Rhode Island, spoke at the High Street church yesterday morning. He said in part:

"The wonderful development of the association work in the United States, in which it has been so largely used shows in the tremendous material development in association building and equipment, which have advanced in 10 years from $25,000,000 to $67,000,000, and in the various activities ranging from 150 per cent. to 750 per cent; the tremendous response which the people of the United States have given to this universal call for brotherhood has placed upon the association a great responsibility which it has sought to discharge in its help toward making for efficient Christian manhood in meeting the young man at the point of his greatest need, speeding him on to a higher, better type of manhood and citizenship."

"This problem of the conservation of human life and character among its young men is a problem of supreme importance to the future economic welfare of our country. The association has had a definite program to offer the young man for his leisure time, and it is because it has helped young men in such a wide range of activities that the work has been so blessed. These activities have expressed themselves in a large number of departments, and it will be interesting to take up briefly the work in the individual departments."

"The army and navy department has done a tremendous work for our soldier and sailor boys who are denied the privilege of home in so many ways; who lead a lonely life, and the association has given these men a haven of rest in the various ports and places where they locate. The wonderful influence it has upon their life is shown in the use to which two of our associations are put by the men in Newport and Charleston."

"Early this month, the cornerstone of a $250,000 building was laid at Newport by Senator Wadsworth, the gift of Mrs. Thomas J. Emory, and a similar building has already been completed at Norfolk."

Meetings are held in all of the ports on board ship, and the tremendous interest which a large number of the soldiers and sailors attending these meetings have shown in an example of their appreciation of this need in their lives."

"The industrial department is doing a wonderful work in the civic education of the immigrant and in cultivating the spirit of Christian brotherhood in its social service. When we consider that 78 per cent. of 25 of the largest Massachusetts cities are foreign born, we consider the tremendous significance of this work which has as its objective, first, to bring them into contact with Christian ideals by personal contact and by teaching, and to solve in our own men a spirit of missionary service to the resident immigrant and to the returning immigrant. Thousands of immigrants are being taught the elements of English through a system outlined by Dr. Potter Roberts."

"The Young Men's Christian Association"

ation," said the president, "has demonstrated its usefulness throughout the United States, and we know what we are talking about when we speak of it as an instrument for the elevation of any community in which it is established. Those of us who have looked into it know its practical value. In these days of innate desire for improvements, the danger that we encounter is in having that feeling go off in smoke, because we do not get down to details, and practical method of doing things."

"The boys' department has expressed itself in a group of boys' activities inviting the boy to a healthful, natural unfolding of his best self and amid the most wholesome surroundings. The state department of the two states conducted two camps, one at Becket, Mass., and another at Friendship, Me., where some 400 boys each year, for a period of nine weeks, get a concrete example of helping the other fellow."

"The association has taken steps to form an organization known as the Boy Scouts of America, which must not be confounded with the American Boy Scouts, and presents the greatest opportunity to organize boys on wholesome lines of character building, which has yet been presented to the American people. With its watchword 'preparedness' it is sweeping the country."

The railroad and county work were also treated.

BOWLING SCORES

Result of Last Week's Contests

The announcement of the withdrawal of the Burke team from the Catholic Club league will undoubtedly come as a surprise to members of the league as well as the bowlers in general throughout the city. Francis Burke, treasurer of the league, and one of the leading members of the organization, has also tendered his resignation.

Mr. J. J. leads the league with the Knights of Columbus in second place. Coleman of the Y. M. C. I. has the list of individual averages.

The schedule for the week team and individual standings are given below: Monday—K. of C. vs. Burke. (Withdrawn.) Tuesday—Y. M. C. I. vs. St. Peter's. Wednesday—Bealvaders vs. C. M. A. Thursday—Alpine vs. Y. M. C. I.

PERRIN AND FIELDING

Perrin and Fielding were the winners of the two-man team match at the Catholic Club league yesterday afternoon. Their scores were respectively 320 and 296, a total of 616.

Chester Marten won the turkey contest with a three-string total of 235.

There were two good games played in the Manufacturers league Saturday afternoon. In one the Appletons captured two points from the Bigelows and in the other the Lowell Machine shop defeated the Massachusetts club.

The Milling shoe shop and Lamson C. S. S. teams met on the alleys Saturday afternoon and the former team won all three points. The scores:

BOGUS CHECKS

MAN WORKED THEM IN LAWRENCE AND OTHER CITIES

A bogus check worker has been operating in Lawrence recently and succeeded in swindling several of the people in the down-river city out of small amounts of money. His scheme was to tender checks when making purchases or paying for lodging and in return he would receive a small amount of money.

It is thought that the same man might have operated in Lowell and surrounding cities. He is described as about 50 years of age, 5 feet 5 inches tall, sandy complexioned, with a brown mustache tinged with gray.

BADLY INJURED Two Lowell Men Fell Between Cars

BOSTON, Nov. 28.—When the North station express was leaving the North station last night the drawbar, between separating the vestibules just as Michael McInerney, 35, of 159 Broadway, Lowell, and Patrick J. Marvin, 35, another Lowell man, were going through. Both fell to the tracks and were so severely injured they were taken to the Massachusetts General hospital.

McInerney sustained two fractured ribs and a sprained back, and was seriously scalded by steam. Marvin is suffering from contusions of the scalp. The train was in charge of Conductor Hind and Engineer Edward Chandler.

KING GEORGE'S SPEECH DEATH ROLL 25

Makes Hopeful Reference to Fisheries Dispute

Gloom Rests Over City of Newark, New Jersey

At Closing of Parliament Today—

King's Speech Was Notable for Its Brevity

LONDON, Nov. 28.—The second parliament in the reign of the late King Edward VII, which met on Feb. 15 last, was dissolved today in pursuance of the program of the liberal government to go before the country on the question of the prerogatives of the house of lords. The king's speech was notable for its brevity, the only reference to the legislative crisis being a colorless expression of regret that the difference between the leaders of the opposing controlling parties had failed of an agreement over the reformation of the upper chamber.

The longest and most interesting paragraph which immediately followed an allusion to the death of his majesty's father, dealt with the recent arbitration of the New Foundland's fisheries dispute with the United States and read:

"I confidently hope that the questions connected with the North Atlantic fisheries between Canada and New Foundland on one hand and the United States of America on the other, which have been the subject of controversy for nearly a century, have been at last finally settled by the award of the Hague tribunal. It is a cause of special satisfaction that it has been found possible to solve by arbitration problems of such an intricate and difficult nature and that the award has been received by both sides in a spirit which must tend to increase good will."

Today's dissolution of parliament brings to a crisis the supreme struggle now in progress to limit the legislative powers of the house of lords and thereby permit the elective branch of parliament, the house of commons, to exert larger powers in effecting legislation, more particularly measures relating to Irish home rule and the financial budgets.

The present house of commons has a ministerial majority of 124 and the present standing of the various elements is as follows:

Liberals, 275; labor members, 40; nationalists, 71; independent nationalists, 11; unionists, 273.

Of the foregoing the first four groups are generally counted as supporters of the ministry, giving a ministerial strength of 397 as against the unionist strength of 273, or a net ministerial majority of 124.

The proclamation of dissolution summons a new parliament to assemble on Jan. 31, 1911.

NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 28.—Only one unidentified body remained in the morgue here last night, only one employee of the Wolf Manufacturing company is still missing, and it now seems that Saturday night's estimate of the death list from Saturday's factory fire will still stand at 25. Five additional identifications were made yesterday, among the bodies at the morgue. They are:

MINNIE GOTTLIEB.
TILLIE GOTTLIEB.
DORA GOTTLIEB.
CHARLOTTE HECKLER.
MRS. LUCY SULLIVAN.

No bodies were found in the burned building and Fire Chief Astley was convinced last night that no more will be found. He will keep his men at work, however, until the ruins have been turned over, brick by brick. All approaches to the scene were crowded while daylight lasted with a moving mass of humanity. It was estimated that 200,000 sightseers pushed against the police lines.

While the firemen were digging among the tumbled walls, a staff of detectives from the county prosecutor's office were making examinations of their own in an effort to determine responsibility for the loss of life. Photographs and measurements were taken to be used in the official inquiry that will be held later.

The factory was an old one and the city authorities take the stand that they cannot be held accountable for any lack of fire escapes the inquiry may reveal. They say they have jurisdiction only over new buildings and additions or alterations to those already in use. Then they can enforce the city ordinances, but in the case of a building already standing the state law holds, and that law, they say, is less rigid than the more modern city ordinances.

No date for the inquiry has yet been set.

Near the morgue clustered a great crowd of morbidly curious, who were kept in check by lines of policemen. Doorkeepers were kept busy denying admissions to persons who sought mythical dead.

Yesterday morning in churches of all denominations there were references in the sermons to the tragedy. In some churches prayers for the dead were said.

PHELPS ON TRIAL

Monroe Bridge Bandit Charged With Murder

GREENFIELD, Nov. 28.—Silas N. Phelps, known throughout the north-west section of Massachusetts as the "Monroe Bridge desperado," was today placed on trial for the murder of Deputy Sheriff Emmet Haskins, last June at Phelps' home at Monroe Bridge. Judge William Schofield presided at the trial. District Attorney Irwin of Northampton conducted the prosecution and Attorney William Davenport of Greenfield appeared for the defendant.

The empanelling of a jury from the 101 townsmen who were served with venire was expected to occupy the entire day and at least one more day was considered necessary to allow the jury to visit the scene of the murder.

Phelps is alleged to have killed Haskins when the officer attempted to arrest him on a warrant charging him with stabbing W. N. Benman, superintendent of a paper mill at Monroe Bridge, where Phelps was employed. After the death of Haskins Phelps fled to the wooded mountainside, taking his rifle with him. He was a skilled woodsman and "sure shot" and for several days caused a reign of terror. At last, nearly dead from exposure and thirst, Phelps was captured.

FUNERALS

ERICKSON.—The funeral services of Albert Theodore Erickson, son of Oscar and Mary Erickson, were held yesterday afternoon from the home of his parents, 100 Elm avenue, South Lowell, at 3 o'clock, and were largely attended. Rev. Sven F. Hammarlof, pastor of the Swedish Lutheran church, officiated. Frank E. Lindquist sang "Safe in the Arms of Jesus" and "My Heavenly Home." Among the beautiful floral tributes was a mound inscribed "At Rest," from the parents, and a wreath from Oscar Johnson and Miss Alva Pearson. Burial took place in the family lot in the Edison cemetery, under the direction of Undertaker William H. Saunders.

The bearers were Prosper Deslauries, Joseph Deslauries, John Rochette, J. E. Gaudette, Louis Tetreault and Bartholomew Courtemanche.

There were many friends present from Nashua, Haverhill and Boston. At the grave, Rev. Fr. Magan read the committal prayers, and the burial was in St. Patrick's cemetery, in charge of Undertakers J. F. O'Donnell & Sons.

McGARRAHAN.—The funeral of Mrs. Jane McGarrahan took place Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the chapel of Undertakers C. H. Molloy & Sons and was largely attended. The floral offerings were numerous and beautiful. The bearers were Peter Glynn, Jas. Whelan, Edward Graham and Daniel J. Regan. Burial was in the Catholic cemetery under the direction of Undertakers C. H. Molloy & Sons.

DONOVAN.—The funeral of Mrs. Elizabeth Donovan, one of the oldest parishioners of St. Patrick's church, took place yesterday afternoon from the home of her sister, Mrs. Daniel Lyons, 22 Cross street, and was largely attended by relatives and friends. There were many beautiful floral tributes, including a large pillow inscribed "Sister," from Mrs. D. F. Lyons; large wreath of roses and ferns from Mr. and Mrs. Jeremiah Leary; large wreath of ivy leaves from the McVey family; spray of pinks and roses, from Mrs. Patrick Mahoney of Manchester, N. H.; spray of chrysanthemums, from Miss Nellie Coughlin and Miss Nellie Hurley; spray of pinks, from Miss Elizabeth Shuttleworth, and a large wreath of roses, from Miss Margaret Leary. The bearers were Jeremiah Leary, James McCarthy and John Ambrose. The burial was in St. Patrick's cemetery, in charge of Undertakers J. F. O'Donnell & Sons.

O'CONNOR.—The funeral of Garrett O'Connor took place Saturday afternoon from the home of his mother, Mrs. Ellen O'Connor, of 21 Coburn street, and was largely attended. Among the beautiful floral tributes were: Large pillow inscribed "Garrett," from godmother, Mrs. John Dolan, and John Dolan, and a large wreath on case from Uncle Michael, wife and family. The bearers were Jeremiah Movvihan, Edward Gilliland, Edward Boarden, Edward Peterson, T. O'Neill and Andrew Ronch. At the grave Rev. Denis Murphy of St. Michael's church read the committal prayers, and the burial was in St. Patrick's cemetery in charge of Undertakers J. F. O'Donnell & Sons.

BUTTERWORTH.—The funeral of Mrs. Louisa Butterworth took place yesterday afternoon from the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Leach, of 349 Lakeview avenue. Rev. F. A. Macdonald, pastor of the Fifth Street Baptist church, officiated. The bearers were George Evers, Alexander Brooks, Hilton Schofield and James Bax. Among the many beautiful floral offerings were: large pillow, inscribed "Mother," the family; sprays, Mr. and Mrs. Stevens, Mr. and Mrs. Bax, Merrimack cloth room, Mr. and Mrs. Hilton Schofield, Mr. and Mrs. Holmes and family, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Howarth, Mrs. Ker-shaw and family, and others. Burial was in the Westlawn cemetery under the direction of Undertaker George M. Eastman.

COLLINS.—The funeral of the late Denis Collins took place this morning at 9:30 o'clock from his home in Shaw-sheen street, Tewksbury, and was largely attended. At 10 o'clock a mass of requiem was sung at the O. M. I. novitiate, Tewksbury. Rev. Patrick Phelan, O. M. I. officiating. The choir sang the Gregorian mass and during services appropriate selections were rendered. There were many beautiful floral tributes. The bearers were John Keating, Daniel S. O'Brien, Patrick O'Brien, Joseph O'Brien. At the grave Rev. John Flynn, O. M. I. of the Sacred Heart church, officiated. The committal prayers and the burial was in St. Patrick's cemetery in charge of Undertakers J. F. O'Donnell & Sons.

QUINN.—The body of the late Joseph Quinn, a former resident of this city, who died recently in St. Paul, Minn., arrived in this city Saturday afternoon and was interred in St. Patrick's cemetery.

TRUNK MYSTERY

Police Hear From Two New Witnesses

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—A new turn was given the trunk murder mystery today by statements of witnesses who declare that Albert Calver, the supposed victim, was seen alive in 1905, three years after the date when the crime is believed to have been committed. The trunk containing the partially mummified body recently discovered in a dwelling house basement is alleged to have been left there in 1902 by William Lewis, a waiter, for whom a wide-spread search is now progressing. Calver, a French artist, who was a close friend of Lewis, disappeared in 1902 and until now no one has reported having seen him since. The authorities today, however, are in communication with two persons who declare that they saw Calver in this city in 1905. The investigation of the mysterious crime is turning today largely in the direction of inquiries whether the murder may have been committed in a later year than 1902.

AUTO DESTROYED

Dr. Mahony's Machine Burned to Frame

BLAZE IN THE MASSACHUSETTS MILL

Fire in a Walker Street Building Caused by Lighted Candle—Chimney Fire

An automobile belonging to Dr. Francis Mahony was destroyed by fire on the Pawtucket boulevard shortly before midnight Saturday night. Engine 5 was summoned to extinguish the flames, but by the time the apparatus arrived nothing but the framework of the machine was left. The auto had been in the repair shop for several days, and it is thought that one of the garage employes was trying out the machine when it caught fire.

Slight Mill Fire
The alarm from box 13, Merrimack square, sent in Saturday night about 7:30 o'clock, was for a threatening blaze in the Massachusetts mill. A kettle of grease in the wheel room caught fire in some unknown manner and, fearing that it would spread, the department was called. The damage was confined entirely to the wheel room, and was slight.

Fire on Walker Street
Saturday night about nine o'clock a telephone alarm summoned a portion of the fire department to a house in Walker street belonging to Mrs. Nora J. Rafter. Some person entered the shed in the rear of the house and placed a lighted candle on the floor. In returning the person forgot the candle and when it burned to the floor it set fire to the woodwork. The department responded promptly and the blaze was extinguished before much damage was done.

Chimney Fire
A chimney fire yesterday forenoon and two grass fires, one of the Rogers street side of the Lowell cemetery and another in Humphrey street, kept the department busy.

MICHAEL CUDAHY

Millionaire Packer Dies of Pneumonia

CHICAGO, Nov. 28.—Michael Cudahy, founder and president of the packing firm bearing his name, died last night at a hospital here of pneumonia. Mr. Cudahy had been ill for five days, the disease becoming serious early Saturday morning.

Mr. Cudahy was 69 years old. He was the last of the old guard of packers.

He came with his parents from Calan county, Kilkenny, Ireland, when 8 years old, and at 14 was working for packer Edward Roddis in Milwaukee for $6 per week. Later he was with Plankinton. His brothers began work in packing houses as soon as they were able.

In 1866 he came to Chicago and became superintendent for Armour & Co. For 17 years he had charge of all of the packing business of Armour & Co. and had a one-eighth interest in the company.

An intimate friendship existed between Cudahy and P. D. Armour. Mr. Armour was deeply grieved one day to hear Mr. Cudahy say:

"I'm going to quit. I'm going into business for myself."

"Why, Mike," exclaimed Mr. Armour in surprise, "haven't I always treated you right? We have always been the best of friends, and I don't see why you want to leave me."

"But you cannot blame me for desiring to run my own business. You know the pleasure of property and I want to enjoy some of it," replied Mr. Cudahy.

An examination of the books revealed that Mr. Cudahy's interest was worth a little more than $2,000,000, and Mr. Armour agreed to give Mr. Cudahy a bonus of that much if Mr. Cudahy would remain with the firm two years longer.

J. Ogden Armour had been working at the yards under the tutelage of Mr. Cudahy about a year. This younger Armour had proven an adept pupil. Mr. Cudahy pointed this out and argued that with a few instructions now and again from his father, the junior Armour could take care of the plant. Mr. Cudahy told Mr. Armour that he would not feel inclined to go were it not for the boy's (J. Ogden Armour) success.

When Mr. Armour found there was no way to prevent their business separation he clasped the hand of Mr. Cudahy warmly and said, "Well, all right, Mike, and we shall always be good friends. When you want a million dollars is not much money to enter an industry that is already crowded, but any time you need my help wire me and it will be forthcoming immediately."

This was in 1890. Later that promise of the great packer was made good. In 1893 John Cudahy, who was the plunger of the family had made $1,000,000 selling wheat short in company with N. B. Ream and "Nat" Jones, saw what he considered a chance for millions on the long side of provisions. Associated with him were N. K. Fairbanks and Austin Wright.

They carried hog products up at that time to the highest prices since the war; pork was $21 a barrel and lard 12 cents a pound. Then came a cholera scare, followed by the panic of that year. The pool went to smash.

John Cudahy lost $2,500,000, mostly to Armour. He went into bankruptcy. Fifteen commission houses failed. Fairbanks, who always had a long pocket, paid his losses. Cudahy was forced to give notes for $1,500,000, which Michael Cudahy indorsed. They were paid promptly on maturity.

Michael Cudahy then was the man who promised to quit the plunging and gambling end of business. Since then the only deals "Jack" Cudahy has been interested in are the sales and purchases of provisions on the board of trade; result, he is a millionaire, due largely to the generosity of his brother, Michael.

Michael Cudahy's fortune is rated at between $7,000,000 and $10,000,000. He was a strict Catholic and a liberal giver to charity.

Mr. Cudahy was one of the organizers and president of the North American transportation and trading company.

Football Rules Board Should Consult Players When Working on New Code This Winter

RECENTLY the football rules committee sent out to all officials and coaches blank forms with a number of questions as to the working out of the revised code. It is the idea of the committee to obtain as wide a range of comment as possible on the efficiency of the new sections of the book. The answers are likely to form a basis for a further revision, but it is apparent that the committee does not intend to are not made for his welfare and to prevent his being badly injured in the discharge of his duty. He is compensated about with all sorts of safeguards, but not ones that he asks for the attraction in spite of its popularity to the professional or to the man who is not in college. That it can be played by men of twenty-eight and thirty has been pretty well proved several times

There must be some change, therefore, in the attitude of the graduates toward the game itself, and, whatever this change is, it is pretty likely to have an effect upon his spoken opinion to say about the game they engage in? If it is not practicable for the rules committee to call a meeting of the players of this year, why would it not be a good plan to prepare special point directly after the season closes would almost certainly be of value. Out of the large number of officials and coaches it would be difficult to select a fair majority of men who do not aim first toward the preservation of the game as nearly as it is now for purposes of their own. These men depend to a certain extent on the game, and, moreover, they are likely to be "politically" interested in one way or another.

The player, on the other hand, knows why he likes to play football, if he does like it. He knows what features are not pleasing to him and why they are not pleasing. He knows, if he has played the game for more than one year, how the revised rules have affected his particular position.

As far as the spectators are concerned, their viewpoint may or may not be of value. Football isn't half as spectacular a game as the public thinks it is. If he doubts that statement let him go some time to see a contest between two teams of which he knows nothing and whose members have not attained any degree of fame on the gridiron. The college atmosphere, a certain permeation of the college spirit, bands, crowds, and all that sort of thing help football immensely. It was exciting enough when it could produce but one long run in a game.

Spectacularly, unless one knows a great deal about it or has a special interest in one of the contending teams, football is a frost. The spectators at a football game who worry about penalties and the why and wherefore of this, that and the other thing probably do the same at a baseball contest, where the rules are so old that they are moss covered.

Let Players Have a Voice in Changes. At any rate, why not let the players have just one good say about it and let them say it now while the game is a not altogether theoretical proposition? Every one else, including, as Ted Coy, Yale's head coach, says, "legislatures and college presidents," has had a crack at it. Send out blanks for each position and let the player tell about that position as well as about his general opinion of the game. It may produce just what every football enthusiast is looking for, a game that will satisfy every one.

The circular recently issued by the rules committee includes the following questions: Are fair or unfair tactics on the increase? Is it possible for only two officials to officiate properly and fairly and control a game of intercollegiate football?

What have been the fundamental changes in the game resulting from the changes in the rules? State in order of importance along what lines the changes have been beneficial.

Similarly state unfavorable results. What changes would you suggest? What effect does the "new game" have on the safety of the players and the condition of the men?

Have the present rules eliminated the danger of the game? State rulings you think are conflicting, overlapping or otherwise defective. Is it possible for an official to obtain information as to signals, formations, etc., while on duty?

What is your opinion of the advisability of having a digest of particular duties of the different officials, with each jurisdiction carefully specified? The football rules committee will meet in New York the last week in December to pass on the answers to the above questions.

Line Plunging a Thing of Past. In all football games this season it has been proved that line plunging in football is a thing of the past. For a back to gain ten yards through a line without interference or the pushing and pulling of his teammates is practically impossible.

The science of football in the future must be in the running of the ends, the forward pass, the inside kick and, above all, the running back of punts. Punting figures so largely in the game now that the catching of the ball and running it back must become an exact science.

The open game has come to stay, and it must be admitted that it is much more pleasing to the spectator. The rule preventing interference, which has practically abolished line plunging, is the strongest blow that has been struck at the old time dangerous mass plays since the rules committee first began to tamper with the rules.

Many rules in the past have been but slight evasions, but the elimination of interference hit the vital spot. It opened the game and did away with danger.

Heavy Defensive Back in Demand. Football coaches are seeking heavy defensive backs. Not only must the back have ability to advance the ball, but he must have the beef and bulk to stop play through the line. Back field players will have to have football instinct and uncanny ability in sizing up plays. The offensive team will be tricky and deceptive in its maneuvers, so a mistake in diagnosing a play may result in a touchdown. With forward kicks and inside kicks to worry the defense, the lot of the eleven defending its own goal is beset with many difficulties. Above all things, football "brains" are essential.

PUSHING AND PULLING STYLE OF OTHER YEARS MISSING THIS SEASON.

do any more tampering until all sides of each question have been heard. Next to consulting the player himself, whose attitude, after all, makes for the success or failure of any game, this method would seem to be an aid to the committee in every material way. It is up to the men who answer the questions to weigh them pretty well before they make their replies.

The Player Seldom Consulted. It is a peculiar thing about football that the player actively engaged in the game is the last one thought of in any matter of reconstruction—not that rules himself. He is given a game that is built for him by men who used to play or once were interested onlookers, but that is all. Of course the nature of the football as being a college and school sport entirely makes this so to a large extent. Still, it would be interesting if at the close of the present season the rules as they stand now were put up to a representative undergraduate body composed of wearers of the football insignia for comment if for nothing else.

Players Could Offer Good Suggestions. American college football is alone among games in that it offers very lit-and his efforts to wield an influence in the making of new rules. Practically every other amateur game is changed or remodeled by active players. Why shouldn't these players have something blanks and send them around? Football men are usually brainy enough to know how to approach the subject. They would certainly give the matter serious consideration, and their view-

HOW SAMMY SMITH, PUGILIST, TAMED A BULLY.

A pale, delicate looking youth wearing eyeglasses was teased by a robust young chap in a rush hour crowd in New York a few nights ago.

"Don't do that," said the slightly built youth, "or I will be compelled to chastise you."

"Why, you little insignificant shrimp," said the larger man, "take off those glasses and I will hand you a few you will not forget."

"Better go on about your business," counseled the youth with the spectacles.

"I'll make you go along," was the reply as the big fellow gave the other a shove.

"Under the circumstances," said the little fellow, "I feel compelled to remove my glasses."

Taking them off, he carefully put them in the case and placed it in his pocket.

"I am at your service now," said the little fellow, and the big man aimed a crushing blow at the other's face. The face shifted, and the blow missed by a foot. Then the big man got a punch on the nose that brought blood. This was followed by a stinger over the left eye that raised a dark lump. Bang went a hard right into the diaphragm, and the big man doubled up and sank to the sidewalk.

The little fellow adjusted his glasses and, admonishing the big man to be a little more careful in future, went on his way.

"Who was that?" queried the battered chap as he got to his feet and began to brush off his clothes.

"That," said an amused spectator, "was 'Young Sammy' Smith, probably the best lightweight boxer in the world."

GOLF CLUBS REQUIRE CARE.

Wooden Ones Need Attention In Wet Weather.

No practiced golfer needs to be told any longer that the risk of bringing ruination upon his clubs, especially the wooden ones, by playing with them in the wet is very considerable, particularly when those wooden clubs have such delicate and sensitive shafts as the new Dreadnoughts. Great precautions must be taken and great attention should be given to them after play.

Two good soakings, neglected, are quite enough to ruin a thin driver shaft. It is simply wicked to take good clubs out on a wet day in a bag which is without a hood. After each shot the player should wipe and dry the sole and face of the head and the shaft—it can all be done in a few seconds—and at the end of the day he should see for himself that the shafts are dried thoroughly, but not by putting them close to a fire or stove. Chalk the faces of the drivers to keep out the wet.

The ancients knew many good dodges which have been forgotten. A very old annual says that in winter the player should put a piece of gutta serena in a small stoppered bottle and fill the bottle up with ether. Then when the solution becomes as thick as cream it should be poured off and applied in a thin coat to the face of the wooden clubs, where it serves the dual purpose of keeping the wet out of the wood and giving a good grip to the ball. The idea seems excellent.

TO BOOM WESTERN ROWING.

Minnesota Now Working For College Regatta on Mississippi.

Minnesota university has established a rowing camp at Lake Minnetonka, and candidates are being coached by Richard Grant. They have a big desire in some of the western colleges to establish a big rowing regatta on the Mississippi river.

Coach Conibear of the University of Washington is one of the most enthusiastic backers of the scheme. Since his advent at the Seattle university there has arisen a boom in ornamental rowing, which resulted in the Washington race last summer. When Wisconsin was training and Washington hurling challenges right and left, the middle western colleges began to grow interested. The formation of crews was discussed at Minnesota, Chicago and Nebraska. Some of the most ardent enthusiasts tried to do missionary work at other institutions.

UNIQUE FOOTBALL TEAM.

Olathe, Kan., Boasts of Strong Team of Deaf Mutes.

The Kansas State School for the Deaf and Dumb in Olathe boasts of probably the most remarkable football team in the country. All the players are deaf mutes, and so is the coach, who is no less a person than L. V. Taylor, better known to the public as "Dummy" Taylor, for eight years one of the pitchers with the New York National league team and last year with Buffalo in the Eastern league. Taylor was graduated from the Kansas school in 1895 and has for the last few years spent his winters in Olathe as a boys' supervisor at the school. This year he took charge of the football team and has made it one of the best teams of similar age in the west. The ages of the players range from fifteen to eighteen years, but they are a husky bunch of boys and have a standing challenge out to any team of anything like their size in the middle west. The team has not so far found it necessary to carry its point by bucking the line, preferring tandem plays and end runs.

The team uses ordinary sign language used by deaf mutes. As the players have to depend upon the faculty of sight, that sense becomes very sharp, and the quickness with which the signals can be communicated understood is marvelous to those who are not under the necessity of cultivating the sense of sight as the mutes do.

The team signals are much safer than those used by other eleven, as there is little likelihood that any one on a non-mute team will be able to understand them, no matter how openly given.

"The team," said Coach Taylor recently, "I think is a wonderful one."

BASHTI TO RACE ABROAD.

Whitney's $30,000 Horse Expected to Win Many Races on English Turf.

Every American horseman wishes Mr. Whitney good luck with Bashti on the English turf next year. The master of Brookdale paid $30,000 for the daughter of Adam.

That she will be useful on the other side in 1911 there is hardly room for doubt. She has a brilliant turn of speed. She is as game a youngster as ever ran.

Bashti hasn't the size of either Belvedere or Artful, respectively the great cat two-year-old mares of 1904 and 1905. If she does as well for Mr. Whitney in England as Artful did in this country five years back the master of Brookdale may count himself lucky.

The yearlings that have gone abroad with Bashti are Brookdale bred sons and daughters of Hambro, Burgomaster, Adam and Brookstark. They have been tried at Mr. Whitney's farm.

Another English Sprinter Turns Pro.

H. A. Wilson, the famous member of the Hallamsire hurriers, is the latest English amateur to turn professional. He went to South Africa with R. A. Walker. Wilson finished second to Melvin Sheppard in the 1,500 meter final at the Olympic games in 1908 and won the 1,500 meter trial in the record time of 3 minutes 45.5 seconds. His time when he won the English A. A. U. mile championship was 1 minute 20.15 seconds. This was also registered in 1908.

POLO ON PACIFIC COAST.

Several Tournaments For Valuable Cups Are Now Assured.

The polo season will open on the Pacific coast Dec. 1. The dates already settled for tournaments are: Coronado, Jan. 1, 1911; Riverside, Feb. 16-22; Coronado championships, March 23 to April 5, and Pasadena, April 5 to 12. The first tourney at Coronado will establish the rating of the players. The series at Riverside will be for the Frank Mackey cup. The second tourney at Coronado will be for the All American polo trophy, valued at $4,000, the Spreckels cup championship of California and many other cups. The Pasadena tournament will be for the Hogan and other cups.

CRACK TEAMS FROM THE EASTERN STATES AND ALSO CANADA, MEXICO AND GREAT BRITAIN ARE EXPECTED TO COMPETE.

New Plan For Baseball Prizes. In deploring the Lajoie-Cobb batting scandal, which, he says, has done the game a great injury, President Barney Dreyfuss of the Pittsburgh team says that the automobile prize, if it had to be offered, should be put up for the player that drove in the most runs. That would have given all a show, and there would have been no chance to cheat nor would there have been any scandal. As it is, great injury has been done to baseball.

SOCKER ROUGH SPORT.

The Game Played In America Is Not Like That Abroad.

Soccer football as it is played in the United States is entirely too rough and unmanly, says R. S. Court, the well known soccer official. A referee has a miserable time while he is on the field during a game. The spectators in some towns are worse than the players. Spectators should encourage the referee when he is trying to prevent all the names they can think of.

In England and Scotland, where this game is played mostly, the referee will play out of the game immediately for talking back or for dirty rough playing. Forty thousand people at a game in England or Scotland, in Scotland a few years ago in a game between England and Scotland there were between 100,000 and 120,000 spectators present. This annual game is

Son of Former Billiard Champion Is After Title.

The followers of the billiard game may hear of a new wizard ruling his way to the championship before many more years. It may be true that Willie Hoppa is the master of the green table games, but let it be known that Jacob Schaefer, Jr., the son of the late Jake, is showing ability in teasing the ivory balls. When Schaefer's father was champion of the world several years ago he was considered as great an artist with the cue as any in the game. The straight rail game was easy, but the balk line was a style of play still easier for the man who was known in those days as the wizard of billiards.

Jake Schaefer, Jr., although only sixteen years old, is playing in even better form than his father displayed at that age. The kid recently defeated Chas. Wright, the champion of the Pacific coast. In the game with Wright young Schaefer clipped off a run of 129 at the 18.2 balk line style, and his average was sixteen.

In the last few years the young billiard artist has been practicing at his home in Denver under the tutelage of Johnny McAniff, an expert at the game. The lovers of the billiard game in Denver and other experts who have seen this young man handle the cue say that he will develop into one of the world's greatest players. Schaefer plays his best game at the 18.2 balk line game. He is beginning to nurse the balls in the same manner which made his father the champion of all players.

15 REBELS KILLED

Federal Troops Routed 400 Maderistas

Skirmish Occurred Near City of Chihuahua and Rebels Were Driven to the Mountains—Police Defied at Juarez, But Without Rioting

CHIHUAHUA, Mex., Nov. 28.—In an engagement near here yesterday which lasted from 9 o'clock in the morning until 2 in the afternoon, 600 federal troops routed a force of 400 Maderistas, driving them repeatedly from strong positions and compelling them to take to the wooded mountains. The revolutionists lost 15 killed and many wounded. There were no fatalities on the federal side, but several including three officers, were wounded.

General Navarro was in command of the federal troops. He left Chihuahua at 5 o'clock yesterday at the head of four companies of the second battalion and two squads of cavalry from the 12th regiment. Near Fresno, 12 miles out, one of the squads of cavalry fell behind to guard the road. They were ambushed by the rebels, who opened fire from hills on both sides of the road. Captain Florentine Gavica with 50 troopers, drove the enemy from their position. Captain Gavica waited for a portion of the federalists who had gone forward, to reinforce him before pursuing the insurrectionists. In the meantime the latter took a position on another hill, a short distance away and prepared to resist an attack.

Within half an hour General Navarro reached the scene with his infantry and opened fire. Again the rebels retreated, only to seek a new position from which they were again dislodged. At last they fortified themselves behind a stone wall, where they made a determined stand. The firing was heavy and here most of the loss of life occurred.

After several hours of skirmishing the rebels broke for the mountains. They were pursued by the infantry for some three miles. The cavalry did not join in the pursuit because of the rough character of the country. Behind the stone wall the bodies of 15 rebels and 10 dead horses were found. The federalists abandoned the pursuit in order to make camp and care for their wounded. Several of the most seriously injured were sent to this city for treatment.

Artillery and cavalry left late last night, it is said, making a detour to intercept the revolutionists.

QUIET AT JUAREZ

EL PASO, Nov. 28.—Sunday passed without any insurrectionary demonstrations in Juarez or at any place on the border near here.

At the bull fight in Juarez scenes of last Sunday were repeated. At the close of the exhibition several young bloods entered the arena and seizing the victorious matador carried him through the streets, shouting defiance to the police.

The races of the Juarez Jockey club took place without interference and were attended by 4000 Americans. Newspapers received here from Chihuahua yesterday gave a conservative account of the trouble in that city and state. The insurrectionists are referred to as Maderistas. The federal troops, to the number of 1500, are now stationed there. According to the papers, much action is expected to take place at Juarez, and a number of persons were killed, including one American.

TEN CONSPIRATORS ARRESTED

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 28.—With the exception of the fighting at Chihuahua, reports reaching this city up to a late hour last night indicated no disturbances.

A company of the second cavalry and four pieces of artillery arrived at Orizaba to guard that place and Rio Blanco, where rioting has occurred recently. Ten men charged with conspiracy against the government were arrested and sent to this city for trial.

Saltito reported the state of Coahuila tranquil and Monterrey and vicinity were said to be peaceful.

MEXICO QUIET

NO DISTURBANCE WAS RECORDED YESTERDAY

LAREDO, Tex., Nov. 28.—Sunday was a day of quiet in northern Mexico, according to official advices received by General Villar, commander of the frontier forces of the Mexican army. Detachments stationed at different points about Matamoros and Ciudad Portillo Diaz sent despatches early yesterday morning and all were of the same tenor, that practically normal conditions prevail.

Similar statements were received from the detail of troops stationed along the border on the American side of the river. General fear of a formidable formation in the southern republic, seems to be dissipated.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

PAISED BY FIFTH AVENUE PASTOR

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—Women's clubs are superior to men's clubs, thinks Dr. Charles F. Akod, pastor of the Fifth Avenue Baptist church. "A man's club is for personal ease, good cooking and good company," he said in his sermon yesterday. "The women's clubs of this country, so striking a feature in our national life, are organized for work. It may be for education, or propaganda, or charity, or philanthropy. They have not always lived up to their professions, a peculiarly which they share with churches, but at least they have in view something more than a comfortable chair and a well cooked food."

"Our churches are generally manned by women. There is not a church in existence today which would be in existence but for love and yearnings of a woman's heart."

FOOTBALL RULES

Dr. Williams of Penn Discusses Them

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 28.—Dr. Carl Williams, representative of the University of Pennsylvania on the football rules committee and chairman of the advisory board of coaches, speaking of the new football rules yesterday said:

"There is no question that under the new rules there has been a decrease in the number of injuries. I contend, though, that the new rules have not succeeded in making the game more interesting to the public. The game has been marred by the fact that under the new rules prohibiting giving assistance to the runner, it is almost impossible for either of two evenly matched teams to gain more than two or three consecutive first downs. I would remedy this by permitting the runner to receive the assistance of at least one man. If such a rule were adopted, it would be possible to restrict the forward pass to back of the line of scrimmage. This would give the offense an even chance. Then I would remove the 20 yard restriction from the on-side kick."

"With the experience of this year as a guide, next year's game should be far more interesting and just as safe."

Dr. Albert H. Sharpe, of Yale, coach of Penn Charter school, this city, and one of the best known referees in the country, said:

"As a coach and an official, I feel sure that the new game has reduced injuries, but it has not been an unqualified success. To improve it, I would remove the restrictions from the on-side kick. I would also eliminate the 20-yard zone intended to protect men going down the field under kicks and also the 8-yard zone back of the line of scrimmage beyond which a man had to stand when making a kick."

"I also think that the rules should be so framed as to permit a runner to catch hold of his interference, but I would not permit the runner to be shoved or pushed. The removal of restrictions from the on-side kick would compel the defense to open up and, the attack could gain more consistently."

GENERAL OAKES

DROPPED ON SIDEWALK AND DIED SUDDENLY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—General James Oakes, who was retired in 1873 after thirty years of active service in the Mexican and Civil wars as well as the Indian uprisings in the south west, sank unconscious to the pavement yesterday near his home and died 20 minutes later at a local hospital. Death was caused by heart trouble. General Oakes was 85 years old.

MANILA, Nov. 28.—Detachments of troops and constabulary are operating against the hostile Manobos in Davao, Mindanao island. One column has killed several of the tribesmen, including two who were implicated in the murder of Earl Gorr, a planter from Seattle. Another column has killed three of the tribesmen implicated in the murder of Gorr and other planters, and has succeeded in recovering Gorr's body.

The third detachment had two soldiers wounded while a fourth lost one soldier, killed in ambush. The rounding up of the tribesmen continues.

BROKEN RIB

SOELL PLAYED GAME, THOUGH INJURED

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Nov. 28.—After the return from Philadelphia of the victorious Naval Academy football squad Saturday night it was learned that Ingram C. Soell, the quarterback, played almost the entire game with the West Point Cadets Saturday suffering from a broken rib and probably a punctured lung.

The injury was sustained during the first few minutes of play, but Soell paid no attention to it and his hurt was not known to any one else until the expiration of the first period. The quarterback's chest in heavily muscled and it was perhaps owing to this that examination on the field did not disclose serious injury. He was allowed to continue playing, but was told not to touch the ball. He disregarded that order, however.

Dr. A. H. Murphy, one of the Naval Academy surgeons, who was with the squad and who has since carefully examined Soell, says that a rib is undoubtedly broken, but that he is not sure the lung has been punctured.

Soell was put to bed at the hotel in Philadelphia soon after the game, but was considered well enough to return to Annapolis with the squad yesterday. The trip caused a rise in his temperature and last night it was 103 degrees. Dr. Murphy is authority for the statement that the only possibility of danger lies in the chance of infection, of which there are no indications whatever.

TWO OVERCOME

IN FIRE AT READING LAST EVENING

READING, Nov. 28.—Two persons were overcome and rescued with difficulty and eleven others got to the street in their nightclothes barely in time to escape death in a fire which destroyed the home of C. W. Black, opposite the Reading car barns early yesterday morning.

The flames had broken through the roof before they were discovered by Al. C. Parkins, night foreman of the car barns. He ran across the street to awaken the inmates, while John Rence, a motorman, sent in an alarm.

In the house, asleep, were Mr. Black, his wife, their four children and seven lodgers. Parkins first awakened Black and assisted him in getting Mrs. Black and the children to the street in their nightclothes.

The lodgers were awakened and reached the street without trouble, except two, Ed Connors and Richard Bowman. The men were unconscious, and Black, Rence and Parkins took them from the room and down into the street.

By the time the apparatus arrived the house was far gone. It is a total loss of about $5000.

ON A PIPE

TWO GAMBLERS TOOK A LONG CHANGE

LYNN, Nov. 28.—It was just by luck "Reddy" Perkins, who weighs 250 pounds, and another man whose name was lost in the shuffle, landed in jail, instead of on the pavements last night, when in an attempt to escape arrest in a gambling raid they crawled out of a third story window and perched themselves on a two-inch water pipe running along the side of the house under-neath.

Officers Springer and Reams made the raid. They soft-footed their way up the stairs at 127 Oxford street, which was under suspicion of being a gambling resort, and entered a room on the third floor. As they did so they counted nine men present.

In the hubbub that followed their arrival they missed sight of some of those present, but after everything, including the other occupants of the room, had subsided, and they counted noses, there were but seven. It was a mystery they couldn't fathom until Springer noticed the window was open.

Looking out he saw Perkins and the other man clinging to the side of the house, with the pipe slowly pulling loose. He pulled them both in, both ways, just in time to save their necks. The reunited nine were then taken to police headquarters and locked up.

AFTER MANOBOS A RAZOR DUEL

Troops Kill Riotous Tribesmen

Quarrel Over Girl Ends in Murder

NEWTON, Nov. 28.—Two rival suitors for a sweetheart in sunny Italy slashed and cut each other in a duel with razors in the Chestnut Hill district of Newton Center at dusk last night and when the fray was ended Tony de Filipo, aged 22 years, was lying dead in the road and Giuseppe Dimio, aged 25 years, was being treated by a physician in a neighboring house to which he had fled.

The two men with three companions, all Italians, were walking through the woods and roads of the wooded district, when, according to one of the men, De Filipo made a remark about the Italian girl to which Dimio took offense. Both men drew razors and attacked each other, while their companions fled.

De Filipo's body was found by a passing automobile party on Boylston street near Langley street and the police notified. At the same time, Dr. George West, who is also the medical examiner, had been called to the home of Arthur Muddoon to treat a man who had entered the house bleeding badly from wounds in the face and arms. Dr. West notified the police who came and placed Dimio under arrest. He was taken to the Newton hospital and is held charged with the murder of his companion.

BOTH DEAD

LEMUEL HARMON KILLS WIFE AND HIMSELF

ALBANY, N. Y., Nov. 28.—Lemuel Harmon, aged 52, shot and killed his wife and himself at their home Saturday night. Their dead bodies were found yesterday by Frank Harmon, the son. Harmon was a carpenter in the West Albany shops of the New York Central railroad company. His friends say he had acted queer for two years, following recovery from a serious illness.

MAYOR MEEHAN Goes Over the Scene of the Glover Murder

Got a Rousing Reception at the Machine Shop Gate

Dealt With Administration of His Republican Opponent and Asked Him to Explain What Harris and MacBrayne Meant When They Said They Could Not Continue to Hold Office Under Him and Maintain Their Self Respect

More than 1200 people, including a generous sprinkling of the fair sex, heard Mayor John F. Meehan at the Lowell Machine shop between the noon hour and 1 o'clock this afternoon, and the mayor supplied the men with a whole lot to think about before casting their ballots at the city election on Tuesday, December 13. It was one of the biggest "out-door" rallies ever held at the big shop and it was plain to be seen that the crowd was with the mayor. Several times during his speech he was interrupted by applause and when he had finished, three cheers were given with a vengeance. Mayor Meehan got a rousing reception and handled his opponent without gloves. His Honor said that when his republican opponent was mayor it was a case of turmoil from the beginning to the end of the year, and that instead of saving the city money he had cost the city more than $4000 on one item alone, that of the removal of the police board. He called upon his republican opponent to tell the people why it was that the two commissioners appointed by him felt obliged to resign and to state in their letter of resignation that they could no longer remain in office under him and maintain their self-respect. In part, he said: "I am glad to open my campaign here at the gate of the big shop where I opened by campaign of a year ago. I have been your mayor for one year and I come to you today with an accounting of my stewardship. A great deal devolves upon the voters in the coming election, and I sincerely hope that they will pursue the right course. You know the kind of administration my republican opponent gave you when he was mayor, and you know the kind of administration that I have given you."

Lived Up to Promises
"I have lived up to my promises as mayor of the city of Lowell. I promised that I would give you a safe, sane and progressive administration and that is what I gave you. Good government is what we need and we have it at the present time. We have good schools, good and efficient police and fire departments, decent roads and good sewers. Some people would have you believe that we are a lot of thieves; that we are destructionists rather than constructionists, but we know that the men who make those statements are looking at us through their own mirror.

"My purpose as mayor of the city of Lowell has been to build up, not to tear down. Harmony reigns supreme in all the departments of the city at the present time, and they are all co-operating for the common good whereas by a change of administration you might find them disorganized and in a state of turmoil in which nothing of importance could be accomplished.

"You can't build a trolley line to the moon or hitch your chariot to a star and I have not attempted any of these impossibilities. I undertake to say that we have done more work with less noise and less publicity, ten times over than was accomplished by my republican opponent.

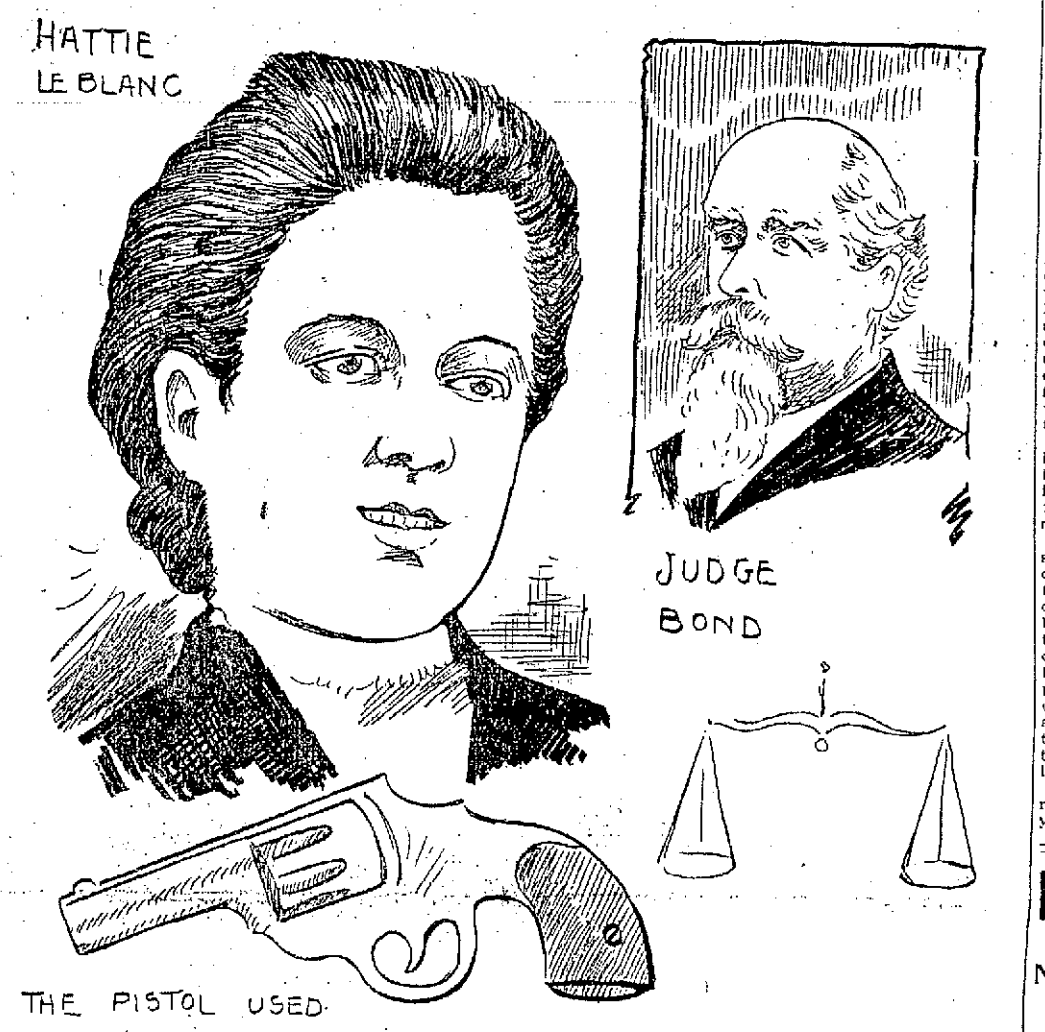

"My opponent says that he sprung from the ranks and I want to ask you if when he was mayor of Lowell he appointed to public office a man from the ranks, with one exception and that was a man to the charity board. I would like to have the voters of Lowell go to the legislators in Boston and ask them what their impression was of my republican opponent when he appeared before them on the question of a new charter for Lowell.

"I have not the time to go into details relative to the things that my opponent as mayor promised to do and didn't do. He told you that he was going to drive two prominent citizens out of town. Did he do it? He told you that he was going to investigate the water and assessors' departments. Did he do it? No. Why?

"He unseated a police board and what was the consequence? The police board was reinstated and because Judge Dana said that to any impartial mind there was no evidence enough to warrant their discharge and the city had to pay the bill. Where were all the scandals that he said he was going to unearth at city hall and elsewhere? As

HATTIE LE BLANC AND JUDGE BOND BEFORE WHOM SHE WILL BE TRIED ON CHARGE OF MURDER

Judge Bond Announces That the Leblanc Trial Will Proceed Without Delay—P. S. Ward of North Chelmsford Drawn on Jury

CAMBRIDGE, Nov. 28.—The Middlesex county court house at East Cambridge was thronged today by talesmen—124 in number—from whom will be drawn the jury which will try 17-year-old Hattie Leblanc for the murder of her employer, Clarence F. Glover, at Waltham, Nov. 20, 1909. The trial opened at 10 a. m. today before Justice Daniel W. Bond, the oldest member of the Massachusetts superior court bench, both in age and seniority of service. The trial of the little French-Canadian girl from West Aitchat, C. B. was notable in many respects. She is the youngest woman ever tried in Massachusetts for murder in the first degree. The case is generally considered one of the most mysterious with which the authorities have had to deal and for the first time in the history of the Middlesex county courts a single justice is presiding at a murder trial.

When court opened today all spectators were denied admission pending the empaneling of the jury. It was expected that the entire day would be given over to selecting the men who will pass judgment on the case.

District Attorney John J. Higgins conducted the case for the government and the interests of the youthful defendant were in the hands of Attorney Melvin M. Johnson.

Clarence Glover, proprietor of a Waltham laundry, died in a private hospital at Waltham on the night of Nov. 20, 1909. In an ante-mortem statement he declared that he had been shot by the Leblanc girl, who was employed as a domestic in his family. The girl was found three days after the death of Glover hiding under a bed in the Glover home.

Motion to Quash Overruled
The trial began with the customary motion by the defense for the quashing of the indictment for various reasons and of the overruling of the motion by the court. This gave Mr. Johnson, for Miss Leblanc, a chance to file exceptions, which will be one of the pleas for a new trial in case of an adverse verdict at the present trial.

The work of drawing a jury then began and in the first hour three men had taken seats in the box, out of 20 called from the panel.

"Pat" Ward on Jury
The jury was completed shortly after one o'clock, 38 talesmen having been examined. Court then adjourned for luncheon, after which it was thought the jury might visit Waltham. The jury is composed as follows:

Winthrop H. Fairbanks, Sudbury, farmer, foreman.
Charles H. Perry, Burlington, painter.
Stillman R. Parker, Reading, clerk.
J. Frank Robbins, Stow, farmer.
James C. McGrath, Newton, painter.
Elmer D. Martell, Ayer, retired.
Lawrence F. Yeager, Natick, teamster.
William H. Campbell, Wayland, farmer.
Albee Anis, Shirley, elastic web weaver.

Wilfrid A. Clark, Newton, harness manufacturer.
Patrick S. Ward, North Chelmsford, merchant.
Leon Whitcomb, Pepperell, lawyer.

Jury Visits Waltham
The members of the jury were taken in automobiles to Waltham this afternoon to look over the various points connected with the murder. Before leaving Judge Bond stated that an early return to the court house was expected and that the government would at once open the case.

Federal Government Petitions for Its Dissolution

Government Charges Illegal Combination in Restraint of Trade Against American Sugar Refining Co. and 29 Other Corporations

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—The federal government today began one of its most important actions against great corporations which are said to have violated the Sherman anti-trust law. Henry A. Wise, United States District attorney, filed in the United States district court for the southern district of New York a petition asking for the dissolution of the American Sugar Refining Co. and 29 other corporations, which compose the so-called sugar trust.

The petition charges that it is an illegal combination in restraint of trade and asks from the court relief in whatever form may be necessary, including a receivership, if deemed advisable.

The thirty companies composing the sugar combination have an aggregate capitalization of $230,000,000 and control a large percentage of the output of sugar in this country. The combination is able, the government alleges, to fix prices arbitrarily, to control the market, to oppress competitors and ground them out of existence. Railroad rebates and custom house frauds are mentioned as devices which were employed to raise the combine to the commanding position which it occupies today.

The present suit, which it is estimated, will be in the courts for two years before a final adjudication is reached, is the result of many weeks of preparation. District Attorney Wise made his investigation under the direction of Attorney General Wickensham and spent several days in Washington last week in conferring with the attorney general in the final plans.

Opposed to the government in the struggle will be some of the most able corporation lawyers of the country. James M. Beck, former assistant United States attorney-general and now counsel for the American Sugar Refining Co., will lead the attack on the government's position.

The filing of the suit was a simple process.

The government's petition, in the form of a printed book, was handed to the clerk of the district court by the district attorney. Mr. Wise declined to make any comment at this time. He said that the petition had been filed and that it must speak for itself.

Mr. Beck said that the sugar combine was not a monopoly but that if it appeared when the supreme court interpreted the Sherman law in the tobacco and oil cases that the sugar company was in any respect violating the law, steps would be taken immediately to comply with the law as thus interpreted.

RECOUNTS ARE ON NARROW ESCAPE

No Changes Are Shown Thus Far

The aldermanic and councilmanic recounts, the councilmanic in ward three, four, five and nine were begun by the board of registrars in the public hearing room at the city hall this forenoon and at 3 o'clock one ward, ward three, was finished. It did not show any change either in the aldermanic or councilmanic votes.

BRILLIANT METEOR

WITNESSED IN THE HEAVENS LAST EVENING
A brilliant meteor, the most attractive sight in the heavens in a long time, swept across the sky at 10.30 last evening and was viewed by hundreds of Lowell people. A trail of light swept across the heavens ending in a great flash of highly colored flame, evidently an explosion, though the meteor was so far away to permit of the noise being heard here.

Contrary to the usual thing, this particular meteor left a trail of varicolored flame in its wake, and the final momentary display was also marked by a wonderful combination of all the primary colors.

The meteor was seen in other New England cities.

CORONER'S JURY DRAWN

NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 28.—A coroner's jury was drawn today to make an official investigation into the Newark fire, by which 24 girls lost their lives. This is the first time in 20 years that such an inquest has been called, previous cases of the kind as a rule having been put into the hands of the county physician.

Another charred body was recovered by the firemen this afternoon but it was so badly burned that it is unrecognizable.

The coroner's jury was selected after a conference between Prosecutor Mott and County Physician McKenzle who this afternoon made a thorough inspection of the burned factory.

BURNED TO DEATH

PORTLAND WOMAN MEETS, UNTIMELY FATE
PORTLAND, Me., Nov. 28.—Miss Georgia Evans, aged about 50, was seriously burned in a fire in her home at number 16 Wilnot street today, that she died in an ambulance while being taken to the hospital. The origin of the fire was a mystery, but it was supposed that, finding the fire out in the kitchen stove, she struck a match to light the gas stove and set fire to her clothing. Her shouts for help were heard by neighbors and a policeman found her on the floor with most of her clothing burned off. She and a sister, Miss Francis Evans, a teacher in the Shaylor school, lived together.

REAL WHISKERS

MUST BE WORN BY CHICAGO UNIVERSITY GRADS
CHICAGO, Nov. 28.—Seniors who shave will not graduate at the University of Chicago. Diplomas will be given only to upper classmen who wear moustaches, according to a proclamation issued by senior leaders.

According to the new requirement the 60 senior men of the university must refrain from shaving their upper lips for the rest of the college year, which ends next June. All students who disobey the order will be ducked in the swimming pool at Bartlett gymnasium in full costume. The student who on this due receipt of notice raises the finest moustache by Dec. 16 will receive a "valuable" prize at the class dance at the Reynolds club.

The seniors, in retaliation, have forbidden the members of other classes to appear with moustaches. Those who thus offend in this respect will have their lips trimmed by the fourth year men. The seniors declare that their proclamation cannot be regarded as "hazing."

6 O'CLOCK DISASTROUS FIRE

Destroyed Several Buildings in Princeton, Mass.

FITCHBURG, Nov. 28.—The Wachusett house, a four story wooden structure in Princeton Centre, was destroyed by fire this forenoon, a building occupied as a telephone station in the rear of the hotel was badly damaged and two nearby buildings were scorched as a result of a fire which started from a defective chimney in the hotel. Fanned by a strong east wind, the flames for a time threatened all the buildings in the centre of the town and help was sent from Hubbardston and East Princeton. The loss is not expected to exceed $30,000.

The hotel was more than 100 years old. Hampered by the lack of fire fighting apparatus the townspeople devoted the greater part of their time to saving the furniture. The hotel was frequented in the summer time by well to do people but had been closed since Sept. 15. A caretaker, who had charge of the hotel, was out when the fire started.

The burning of the one story building occupied as a telephone station cut off all communication with outside points for several hours.

NEARLY FROZEN

Cold Forced Goodwin to Surrender

DANVERS, Nov. 28.—Shivering with cold and nearly famished, Martin C. R. Goodwin, who shot and killed Bertram W. Galloway at the latter's home, 7 Dodge street, Friday evening, walked into the police station last night and gave himself up.

Goodwin had been hiding in Topsfield since his flight, sleeping the first night in a barn and had little to eat, for he dared not appear at any house. He spent the night outdoors and the possibility of another such night caused him to decide to give himself up. He walked to Danvers and on the way stopped at an inn in Middleton for a lunch, but he still had a good appetite when he arrived.

Goodwin is 22 years old, the son of Mrs. Carrie M. Goodwin of Green street. He, however, made his home with Galloway, the man he killed. Both were employed in the state mill, the termination of which resulted in the argument which followed Goodwin's shot and killed his friend.

After the shooting Goodwin left the home and "by a roundabout way" reached the Topsfield woods, where he remained in hiding until yesterday.

PLEADS NOT GUILTY

SALFEM, Nov. 28.—Chester Goodwin pleaded not guilty when formally charged with the murder of Bertram W. Galloway at Danvers when brought before the first district court in this city today. He waived the reading of the complaint and was held without bail for the January term of the Essex county grand jury.

Goodwin, who worked with Galloway in the moth extermination service and boarded at Galloway's home, is alleged to have shot and killed Galloway.

Masses Changed at St. Peter's Church

REV. FR. BURNS DELIVERED ELOQUENT SERMON

At Memorial Services of Brooklyn Knights of Columbus Last Evening

At all the masses yesterday at St. Peter's church, a change in the hours of the masses on Sundays was announced for the winter season, to go into effect immediately. The masses will be celebrated at 6, 7, 8, 9.15, 10 and 11 o'clock, with the children's mass at 8.30 o'clock. At high mass yesterday Rev. Fr. O'Brien was the celebrant and a thoughtful sermon on the gospel of the day was preached by Rev. Fr. Burns.

Memorial services for the departed members of Seville council, K. of C., were held at St. Edward's church, Brooklyn, last evening and the eulogy was delivered by Rev. Fr. Burns of St. Peter's church, this city, and it was an eloquent effort. He referred to the good the order has done, not only for the families of the needy, and for the orphans, but in a religious and educational way. He praised the order as being one of the great forces in building up Catholic manhood in this country.

Rev. Dr. Keilher, who has been confined to the house with illness, has sufficiently recovered to enable him to be outdoors. The condition of Rev. W. George Mullin who is ill at his home in Cambridge, is reported as favorable.

FUNERAL NOTICES

LEE—Died in Somerville, Mass., Nov. 26, Mrs. Annetta Lee, aged 75 years, who formerly resided in Lowell. Funeral services will be held at the Lowell cemetery chapel Tuesday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock. Friends are invited without further notice. The funeral arrangements are in charge of Undertaker George W. Healey.

BROWN—The funeral of Philip P. Brown will take place tomorrow morning at 8.15 from his late home, 59 Second avenue. At 9.15 a high mass of requiem will be sung at St. Patrick's church. J. F. O'Donnell & Sons in charge.

MAHONEY—The funeral of the late Margaret Mahoney will take place on Tuesday morning at 8 o'clock from her late home, 72 Union street. Funeral mass of requiem will be sung at St. Peter's church at 9 o'clock. Undertakers M. H. McDonough & Sons in charge.

WALSH—The funeral of the late Mrs. Annie V. Walsh will take place tomorrow morning from her late residence, 41 Phillips street, at 7.45 o'clock. Mass of requiem will be celebrated in St. Patrick's church at 8 o'clock. Flowers are being requested not to send flowers. Undertaker John P. Rogers in charge.

QUIGLEY—The funeral of Edward P. Quigley will take place Wednesday morning from his late home, 19 Bowers street at 8.15. High mass of requiem will be sung at St. Patrick's church at 9 o'clock. Funeral arrangements in charge of Undertaker Peter H. Savage.

MCCARTHY—The funeral of the late Mrs. Della J. McCarthy will take place from her late home, 70 Willie street, Tuesday morning at nine o'clock. Services will be held at St. Patrick's church at ten o'clock. Undertaker Thomas J. McDermott in charge.

MATHEW MEETING

THREE NEW MEMBERS WERE ADMITTED

A well attended meeting of the Mathew Temperance Institute was held yesterday at the rooms of the society in Dutton street, Vice-President Doyle in the chair. Three new members were admitted to membership and various standing committees reported progress in their work. Action was taken on the death of ex-President Humphrey P. Sullivan, which occurred Saturday morning at his home in Fourth street, Centerville. A committee of three was appointed to prepare a set of resolutions, the committee to consist of Peter F. Brady, Hugh J. Molloy and James P. Rourke.

On Tuesday evening, December 20th the society will make an innovation in the form of a union of members, both past and present.

The speakers who will be present on that evening will be the Hon. John P. Fitzgerald, mayor of the city of Boston, and Mr. John T. Shea, president of the Catholic Total Abstinence union of the archdiocese of Boston, an orator of note.

The ways and means committee, which has been working untiringly in its efforts in soliciting funds for the benefit of the society, so far reports that a large number of contributions have already been pledged. On Thursday evening, December 22nd, a party of members numbering about 50 will journey to Woburn, to play the first of a series of games with the St. Charles society of that city. A special car has been chartered for the occasion.

JOHNSON—Annie Johnson, aged 19 years, died Saturday night at the Chelmsford street hospital. She leaves one sister, Hilma Mikola of Lawrence. The body was removed to the funeral home of Undertakers M. H. McDonough & Sons.

AVILLA—Rita Avilla, infant child of Manuel and Maria, died Saturday night at the home of her parents, 38 Chippewa street. The funeral took place on Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Burial was in St. Patrick's cemetery. Undertakers M. H. McDonough & Sons had charge.

HERSEY—Died in this city, Nov. 27, Miss Eliza Hersey, aged 73 years, at the home of Mrs. Fred H. Milne, 143 Westford street. The remains were taken to the rooms of Undertaker Geo. W. Healey, 79 Branch street. Funeral notice later.

WALSH—Mrs. Annie V. Walsh, an old and highly esteemed member of St. Patrick's parish died yesterday at her home, 41 Phillips street. Besides her husband, Michael, she is survived by two daughters, Margaret and Catherine; three sons, Charles E., William and Dr. John J. Walsh, the well known dentist; one sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Martin and one brother, Mr. Thomas H. Rogers. Friends are kindly requested not to send flowers.

QUIGLEY—Edward Quigley died at his home, 19 Bowers street, aged 34 years. He was a well known resident of St. Patrick's parish. He leaves his father and mother, four sisters and two brothers.

HERSEY—Miss Eliza Hersey died yesterday at the residence of Mrs. Fred H. Milne of 143 Westford street, aged 73 years. Miss Hersey was an old member of the First Baptist church and had been prominent in its activities for many years. She was a member of the Epworth League and was very active in every work of the church. The body was removed to the rooms of Undertaker George W. Healey.

MILL ACCIDENTS

AMBULANCE CALLED TO REMOVE INJURED OPERATIVES

There were two minor accidents at the Bigelow & Company's mills this morning. At 8.35 the ambulance was summoned to that place and removed Frank Conroy, who resides in the rear of Virgin court, off Gorham street, to the Lowell hospital. He received an injury to his back. At 8.50 o'clock the ambulance was recalled to the mill and removed Frank Brogan, of 249 East Merrimack street to the Lowell hospital. Brogan suffered an injury to one of his eyes.

IN POLICE COURT

Men Fined for Sunday Game of Dominoes

In police court today Krol Winash was charged with failing to, provide the proper and necessary support for his wife and Krol, with what appeared to be natural modesty, denied the soft impeachment.

His wife Mary told Judge Hadley that her spouse had other women upon whom he bestowed his love and affection. She said that he gave other women his money instead of giving it to her. Asked as to his earning capacity Mary allowed that it had deteriorated. There was a time when he earned $15 and $16 a week, but now he is earning about $10 a week, and Mary declared in broken English, punctuated with gestures, that her husband had given her on an average of less than $5 a week and that was not enough to support herself and the children.

Krol said that his wife was not telling the whole truth. He said he gave her on an average of $7.50 a week, besides paying the rent and store bill and after doing all that he wanted to know how much he had left to lavish on other women. Krol answered his own question by stating that he didn't have enough left to buy tobacco. Judge Hadley heard all that Krol had to say and then ordered him to pay his wife $7.50 a week and the probation officer will see to it that Krol lives up to the terms of agreement set by the court.

Game of Dominoes

For playing dominoes on the Lord's day Christos Pappas, Michael Skellis, Anastasios Rydianos and James Maritsos were fined $10 each in police court today, and Charalabos Athanasios, Paulos Dorozeos and Peter Paulos were fined $5 each for being present at the game. They were represented by J. Joseph Hennessy. The men were arrested from a house in Market street by Lieut. Freeman, Inspectors Walsh, Dwyer, Ward and Grady, and Sergeants Duncan and Ryan.

Withdrew His Appeal

James Allen, who was arrested a number of days ago on a charge of attempting to steal clothes in Taibort's store and brought to Lowell by appeal to the house of correction, withdrew his appeal today and his sentence stands affirmed.

The Drunken Offenders

Six first offenders were released; two were fined $2 each; Samuel Scott, a parole man, was returned to the state farm; Michael J. Turner, who was picked up on the road near Methuen and brought to Lowell by an automobile, was given a suspended sentence of four months. Michael's face looked like a way map and he said he had been hooked by a cow. George Leach and John Roddy were fined $5 each.

Charles Pelletier and Wilhelm Beaulieu were charged with illicit habitation. The officers stated that the woman was married and was living apart from her husband. She was fined $75 and the man was fined $50. Joseph Loughran, charged with the woman and James Stuart Murphy for the man.

HOOKED BY COW

Michael Turner Found on the Road

"I thought I was going to bleed to death and I gave myself up to die," said Michael Turner at the police station last night. Michael was found badly injured in the road near William Dooley's farm in Methuen. He was picked up by J. H. Walsh of Boston who, while going along in his automobile, discovered the man in the road. Mr. Walsh brought Michael to the police station. He was suffering from severe cuts about the eyes and nose and he said he had been hooked by a cow. Kipper John Mulry washed Michael's wounds and while Mr. Mulry was doing that Michael was given the hook he had his doubts as to a cow passing it to him, but Michael insisted that it was a cow and "nobody else" that did the trick. "I work for Mr. Dooley," he said, "and I was giving the cows their fodder when one of them raised her head and caught me in the face with her horn. I thought I was going to bleed to death and I gave myself up to die. I thought I was getting pretty near my last kick when the fellow came along with the automobile. It was my first automobile ride and I could have had it before I met the cow." Michael had more of the argument aboard than was good for him and after his wounds had been attended to he was booked for drunkenness and locked up.

THREE KILLED

IN RAILROAD WRECK AT GRAFTON, W. VA.

GRAFTON, W. Va., Nov. 28.—Baltimore and Ohio passenger No. 7, the New York and Chicago express, westbound via Wheeling, one of the fastest trains of the system, was wrecked at midnight at the head of a 17-mile grade, and three trainmen were killed and three injured, while a number of passengers received scratches and bruises. An extra engine had helped the passenger train up the heavy grade and had steamed ahead to take a siding. It was backing on the siding when the collision came with the on-coming passenger train, a miscalculation having been made by one or both of the engineers. The impact was terrific. The helper engine was demolished and its tank thrown upon the adjoining eastbound track. The passenger engine was derailed and overturned, as were the baggage car and the smoker. There were only one or two passengers in the smoker. Freight train No. 64 eastbound, was passing at the time and ran into the tank of engine 1798, causing the derailment of the freight locomotive and several cars.

ALLEOTONE, the New Remedy for Colds and Grippe, Embodies an Interesting Principle

A COLD is due to lowered vitality. Everyone knows that.

But what is lowered vitality?

It is exactly this: Your body is built up of numberless tiny cells which are constructed of certain chemical elements. When the supply of some of these elements runs short, that form of lowered vitality results, which we call "a cold."

All the medicine you ever took was made from drugs that are foreign to the body. They are used because they set up a disturbance in the system which instantly tries to throw them off. True, the cure is often accomplished but the use of drugs has an evil effect on the system, and causes needless waste of vitality.

These statements sound radical. They are radical but true. Hundreds of physicians are prescribing ALLEOTONE for colds, pneumonia, and infectious conditions. Before your cold develops into something worse, get a bottle of ALLEOTONE. You will find it gives speedy relief with no unfavorable reaction.

At Druggists, 50c and $1.00 a Bottle.

A MESSAGE TO THE "LIVE WIRES"

OF LOWELL

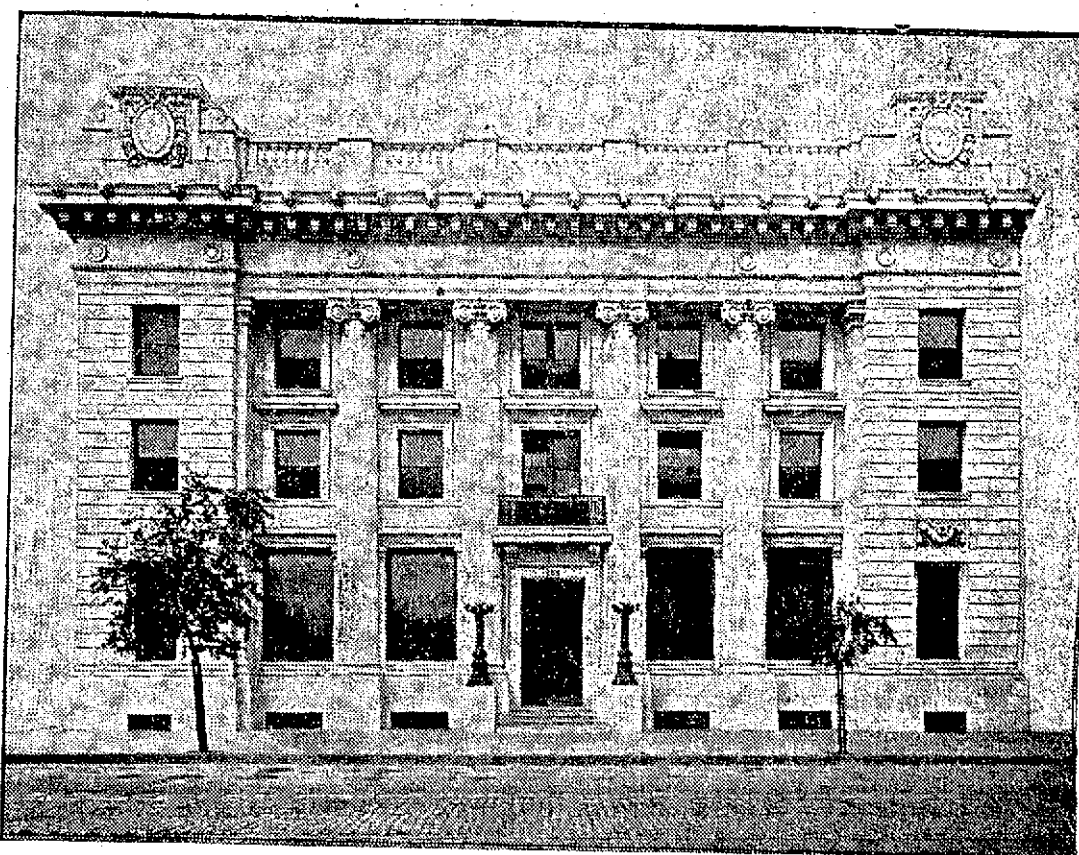

If you take all the men of Lowell and classify them you will have two groups—the "Live Wires" and the Failures. You will find some of the "Live Wires" in every factory, every shop and every busy place where men work together. These "Live Wires" are the men who are making good—they are giving the orders, doing the higher grades of work, and drawing the fat salaries. Ambition has lifted them above their fellows; they are successful because they are trained for their work. Their brain development is paying them dividends. The "Live Wires" are in demand—ask any employer.

There are many "Live Wires" in Lowell getting ready for the big jobs. They are the young men and women who are using their spare time and taking advantage of every opportunity to gain the knowledge that pays.

Then there is the other class—the Failures. They outnumber the "Live Wires" by a large majority. They will never get anywhere because they lack ambition and are content to plod along, working for small pay. There are so many of them that the "Live Wires" have a better chance. Success is only for the ambitious man who is in the game of life to win, and who is willing to pay the price, which is concentration of effort and hard work. The man without training, and without the energy necessary to get it, is beaten—he will remain for life in the ranks of the Failures.

Young Man, Are You a "Live Wire"?

If you are a "Live Wire" but lack the training that is necessary to make you successful, the Students Union can help you no matter what may be your present work or education. We can, through our system of training, place you in the high-salaried class in a short time if you are willing to do your part. The Students Union is a profit-sharing association furnishing the highest grade of technical instruction to its members. Nearly 1000 of the "Live Wires" of Greater Boston are now on its rolls and they are enthusiastic over its liberal plan.

Special Low Rates to Lowell Club of 100

In order to get the Students Union thoroughly introduced in Lowell the first 100 students enrolled will be given a special low rate. We know that when 100 of Lowell's ambitious men have become familiar with our unequalled system of salary-raising training their success will assist us to get hundreds of other students. Every "live wire"—every ambitious young man or woman—who wants to be prepared to fill a good position should grasp this opportunity. Don't let anything prevent you from joining this Club. It means success.

Here is a Partial List of the Positions For Which We Train You:

MECHANICAL DRAFTSMAN, MACHINE DESIGNER, FOREMAN MACHINIST, ELECTRICIAN, GAS ENGINE DESIGNER OR OPERATOR, PLUMBING AND HEATING ENGINEER, FOREMAN CARPENTER, STEAM ENGINEER OR FIREMAN, CIVIL ENGINEER, BOOKKEEPER, STENOGRAPHER, SHOW CARD WRITER, CIVIL SERVICE, ETC.

Recommends the Students Union

I give you much credit for the thorough and practical manner in which you have laid out the course in Gas Engineering. What I thought would be difficult I find, with careful study, is quite easy, and would be glad to recommend the Students Union to every man who has any ambition. I believe it is the best investment and best correspondence school a young man could put his money into.

EXCITING OPENING

Of British Campaign---Row In City of Cork

LONDON, Nov. 28.—The election address of Arthur J. Balfour, leader of the opposition in the house of commons, is a brief document. It declares that the Unionist program of legislation is practically the same as at the general election and asserts that behind the single chamber conspiracy lurks socialism and home rule.

"It is because both nationalists and socialists were aware that their darling projects are not in harmony with the considered will of the people," says Mr. Balfour, "that they press for the abolition of the only constitutional safeguard which at critical moments will enable that will to prevail."

The opposition leader also alludes with the greatest brevity to the alternative scheme for the reform of the house of lords which Lord Lansdowne proposed.

RIOT AT CORK
DUBLIN, Nov. 28.—William Redmond's campaign in Cork against William O'Brien, has led to serious rioting by the rival factions. Several persons were injured there Saturday night and again last night. When a Redmondite procession tried to march through an O'Brienite quarter of the city, police blocked their way. Fights occurred on all hands and about 80 persons were injured. It is said that Mr. O'Brien has $125,000 at his command and will contest 24 seats, he himself contesting three, the constituencies of Cork City, East Cork and West Mayo.

A great demonstration was held in Dublin last night, with torchlight, bands and fireworks in honor of the return of Joseph Devlin, who addressed an enormous crowd on College Green on the success of his mission to America. John E. Redmond and John Dillon also made speeches praising Mr. Devlin's work.

BABIES STARVING

Chicago Strike Committee Reports 5000 Suffering

CHICAGO, Nov. 28.—The Citizens' strike committee, which has investigated conditions in the families of striking garment workers reported yesterday that 5000 babies are starving here as a result of the labor war. The report was made at a meeting at Hull house and a special babies' milk fund was started at once by members of the committee.

Estimates at the meeting showed it would take at least $100 a day to provide milk for babies in actual want, and the suffering appeared so great that $100 was contributed by members of the committee. The fund is to be kept distinct from other strikers' funds.

The strike is no nearer settlement than a week ago, according to representatives of the union and both sides have settled down for a long struggle.

Some part of his system goes wrong—mauses or mumps perhaps attacking him. Sometimes the child is caused by a rough course or perhaps a little nervousness developed during the race, for while near-accidents or bad skids have no after effect on the minds of some players (myself included), they have a decided effect on others.

I think a driver's temper has a great deal to do with his actual physical condition while in a race. Take the French type of driver; as a class they are inclined to be excitable, or fly into a mad rage if something goes wrong while in the contest. Some of these have been known to start out after a slight delay and apparently lose their heads, driving a really "crazy" race, taking corners not only with recklessness, but with bad, novice-like judgment as well. In fact a few years ago the wilder and crazier speed merchant was, the bigger his reputation. There is a certain well known driver who is always cool and perfectly calm while driving at phenomenal speed, but if anything irregular occurs to make him lose time he becomes highly nervous and has been known to bite his fingers or tear his hair in his excitement.

RALPH DE PALMA

Tolls of Experience in Auto Races

That automobile racing has peculiar psychological effects on drivers under certain circumstances is set forth in a rather lucid manner by Ralph De Palma, the well known automobile racer, who didn't do as well as he intended to in the Grand Prize race which was recently held in the south. He has the following to say about the race:

Since the Grand Prize race about everyone I have met after making a few remarks, facetious or otherwise, about the way I secured the lead in the last third of the big race—something I shall never forget—only to break down just before the finish, has inquired as to how much of a strain the contest was upon me physically. While some people may not believe it, that long race was the most enjoyable I have ever experienced on any course. For me, it was a "joy ride" in the true sense of the word. At the finish I do not think I was the least bit tired. If I did not feel fine it was because I was disappointed in losing out with a breakdown, so near the finish, particularly when I had experienced absolutely no tire trouble. It was really remarkable that the Fiat's tires gave me no difficulty running for nearly 400 miles at 71 miles an hour average. It amused me a good deal just to watch how they stood up lap after lap. Why, while I was in the running I was having a great deal of fun waving to my friend, Bruce Brown, to stay back and not drive so fast. We were "kidding" each other frequently. The supposition that a driver's temper is a mistake.

On the other hand, take the case of Ray Harroun, who, when the race was a little more than half over, had to quit because he was exhausted and in bad shape. This statement is by no means any reflection on Harroun's ability, for he is one of the best. It merely shows that drivers cannot always keep in form for long periods under high speed conditions. That was demonstrated in a twenty-four hour race at Brighton last summer, when my arms became paralyzed early in the grind and I quit. Hawley and other seasoned men in the same class had the same trouble. This thing has occurred on other courses—a driver starting out in apparently perfect physical condition, and then having some part of his system go wrong—mauses or mumps perhaps attacking him. Sometimes the child is caused by a rough course or perhaps a little nervousness developed during the race, for while near-accidents or bad skids have no after effect on the minds of some players (myself included), they have a decided effect on others.

I think a driver's temper has a great deal to do with his actual physical condition while in a race. Take the French type of driver; as a class they are inclined to be excitable, or fly into a mad rage if something goes wrong while in the contest. Some of these have been known to start out after a slight delay and apparently lose their heads, driving a really "crazy" race, taking corners not only with recklessness, but with bad, novice-like judgment as well. In fact a few years ago the wilder and crazier speed merchant was, the bigger his reputation. There is a certain well known driver who is always cool and perfectly calm while driving at phenomenal speed, but if anything irregular occurs to make him lose time he becomes highly nervous and has been known to bite his fingers or tear his hair in his excitement.

Now in a pinch such a thing would never occur to me, nor would it occur to many other drivers. For some reason or other when I see that I am hopelessly out of a race, as at Savannah, I burst out with a regular school boy laugh—not that I think it is a joke to lose a race and a fat purse, and not that I do it intentionally. It is merely my substitute for hair-tearing and running up and down like a chicken with its head off. And by the way, losing six or seven thousand dollars when it is just about under your nose is not a thing to bring a big smile to anyone, in view of the high cost of living. But they say I snickered at Savannah, when I examined the car and saw all hope was gone. I don't know.

It has always struck me that most foreign drivers do not try to develop "head-work" as they might and head-work in racing is something I have always paid a lot of attention to. I learned it in the bicycle racing game. Judging distance, speed, and especially gauging and keeping tabs on the other fellows, counts. It is just as necessary to retain your composure and avoid personal fatigue as it is to save the car. In fact what is known as head-work keeps you from "losing your head."

It strikes me that the driver who can remain cool and not get fussed when things go wrong during a contest is better able to stand the physical strain when he gets back in the running and invariably stands a better chance of catching up and I know a number of other drivers who agree with me.

THE QUESTION OF DAMS

CAUSES TAFT WORRIMENT

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—There are dams and dams, and President Taft knows a bit about the difference, but he is not just sure when a dam is a dam, and as a result he is worried. The Chagres river down in Panama is a fearful stream of water. Now and then this river rises in its might and sweeps all before it. Colonel Goethals is sure his locks and dams and culverts will care for the rising of the Chagres, but engineers not in the employ of the government do not agree with him and have submitted much data to the president. Then the question of "slides"—that is, where the sides of the canal are sliding into the ditch—is another grave problem. President Taft has inspected the huge culverts, some twenty-four feet high, and he thinks they should carry off the water with the aid of various dams. But rival engineers are pointing out that the dams are built on insecure ground and that the huge culverts will not save serious breaks in the canal. President Taft hopes to solve some of these problems, or at least make a clear report on the conditions in his message to congress.

RELIEF IS FELT

Rio Janeiro Fleet Again in Control

RIO JANEIRO, Nov. 28.—The city awoke yesterday morning with a feeling of inexpressible relief. The warships of the fleet were again in the hands of the government, which last evening sent officers to take command. "Trains from the interior brought back families which had fled in fear of the bombardment of the mutineers and the newspapers rejoice that the people had been delivered from what they term a nightmare. Several of the newspapers publish articles on "The progress of the rebellion" for the purpose of creating a sympathetic atmosphere.

One of the sailors on the scout ship Bahia denied many of the reports concerning the crews of the various ships taking part in the revolt and the differences among the men which were said to have arisen. All of them, he said, were obedient to the orders issued by the battleship Minas Geraes and Jean Canido, the leader was loved and respected by the entire navy.

At no time did the mutineers have the least fear of the destroyers, which would not have fired upon their sister ships. Nor did they have any fear of the fortresses, which could have been silenced by the big guns on the warships. The mutineers did not lack for certain supplies, but had difficulty in securing water and coal. The principal grievance, adjustment of which the men demanded, was the employment by the officers of a foreigner called "chibata" and the stories of the punishment inflicted upon the men as told in the newspapers show this to have been veritable torture. Journalists here are astonished at the severity of the comments on the rising which have appeared in the foreign newspapers, considering them too hasty.

A series of curious coincidences in conjunction with the mutiny is set forth in one of the papers. In 1711 the French ship Duguay Trouin, bombarded Rio Janeiro, prior to the capture of the city by the French. In 1910 the French training ship Duguay Trouin was in the harbor when the mutineers threw shells into the city. On November 23, 1891, Marshal Deodoro da Fonseca, then president of the republic, was deposed by the navy. On November 23 the present revolt took practical form—a day prior when the three warships on which the mutiny started, the Sao Paulo, the Minas Geraes and the Bahia, are the same as the three states which opposed the candidacy of Moraes da Fonseca for the presidency and, finally, when the Portuguese cruiser Adamaster bombarded the royal palace at Lisbon, the Brazilian battleship Sao Paulo was present, and when the Sao Paulo bombarded Rio Janeiro the Adamaster was present.

DRINKS AND SMOKES

UNITED STATES HAS HAD A BANNER YEAR

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—The United States has just passed through a banner year for drinks and smokes.

and oleomargarine. Here is the nation's record for the twelve months ended on June 30, as it shows in the figures of the internal revenue bureau:

One hundred and sixty-three million gallons of distilled spirits—30,000,000 gallons more than the year before.

Fifty-nine million, four hundred and eighty-five thousand, one hundred and seventeen barrels of fermented liquors, an increase of 3,000,000.

Seven billion, six hundred million cigars—160,000,000 more than 1909.

Six billion, eight hundred and thirty million cigarettes—an increase of a solid billion.

Four hundred and two million pounds of plug, fine cut, cube cut, granulated or sliced smoking or chewing tobacco or snuff—4,000,000 more than the year before.

One hundred and forty-one million eight hundred and sixty-two thousand two hundred and eighty-two pounds of oleomargarine—50,000,000 pounds increase.

Illicit distilling and other manufacturing of moonshine whiskey is on the increase, "especially," the bureau says, "where there are state-wide prohibition laws." Several Southern states led in offenses of that character. During the year officers closed 1911 of such plants, 200 more than the year before.

The internal revenue receipts on all these things—and on many other things, such as playing cards and mixed four—amounted to more than $230,000,000, and Commissioner Cabell's organization collected it all at a cost of about $5,000,000.

When the present year is ended, next June 30 Commissioner Cabell estimates his men will have collected at least $260,000,000.

LUMBERMEN

OF NEW ENGLAND WILL CONSIDER DEMURRAGE RULES

The New Hampshire Lumbermen's association, composed of a large number of lumber operators in various parts of New England, at a meeting which will be held in Manchester, N. H., Thursday, Dec. 22, will consider the demurrage rule of the railroads that has been an important issue the last few months.

The interstate commerce commission made a compromise with the shippers to the extent that the 48-hour rule, which was to have been put into effect October 1, would be suspended sixty days and beginning Dec. 1 the dealers in lumber and other forest products, grain and coal would have 72 hours free time for a period of six months. An independent demurrage board and an arbitrator appointed by the interstate commission to hear complaints and investigate conditions. At the end of the six months the arbitrator is to report to the commission what in his opinion are fair and just demurrage rules for New England, and whether or not the 72-hour time shall be made permanent with reference to lumber and other forest products, grain and coal.

Attorney L. Ashton Thorp of Manchester, who is clerk of the Lumbermen's association, will probably appear before the arbitrator at Boston as counsel for many of the largest shippers in this section of New England. There are a number of shippers who are interested in the demurrage rule which the railroads have tried to put into effect and who will use their influence to have the 72-hour rule adopted.

BISHOP OF LEAVENWORTH
ROME, Nov. 28.—The pope has ratified the proposal of the Consistorial congregation, recommending the appointment of the Very Rev. John Ward, rector of St. Mary's, Kansas City, as bishop of Leavenworth. Mr. Thomas F. Lillis, bishop of Leavenworth, was some months ago appointed coadjutor bishop of Kansas City, with a right of succession.

THREE DOLLARS PER YEAR. TWENTY-FIVE CENTS PER MONTH

The sworn daily average circulation of The Lowell Sun for the year 1909 was

16,828

Sworn to by John H. Harrington, proprietor, Martin H. Reidy, business manager, and Alfred Pilotte, pressman, of The Sun, before me, January 1, 1910. J. JOSEPH HENNESSY, Notary Public.

This is by far the largest average circulation of any newspaper in Lowell.

The story of Cudahy's rise to wealth reads like a romance.

The poor who cannot very well afford to purchase coal have been favored by the remarkably mild weather this fall.

J. Armstrong Drexel is credited with having gone farther heavenward than any other aviator.

There was no skating in Lowell at Thanksgiving but there is a prospect of compensation when the Shedd skating park will have been opened.

Governor-elect Foss is determined to keep his word in regard to stamping the state against Lodge. Should Lodge be elected over all opposition he would undoubtedly be in a position to sneer at his enemies.

The present British crisis is one of the most exciting since the corn law agitation. The house of lords will make a mistake by putting up a battle against the British democracy.

The trial of Hattie Le Blanc will be followed with intense interest all over this state. The case is one of the most puzzling tried for a long time.

The people of Lowell got some good advice from Chief Hosmer in that interview published in Saturday's Sun relative to fires, fire panics and the best methods of saving life. Truly the panic in many cases is more dangerous than the fire.

GOOD PUBLIC POLICY

Not for a long time has any matter of public necessity been taken hold of with such business tact and good judgment as that of the contagious hospital by the Charity and Health Boards in conjunction with the city council. The members of the city council in joint convention listened to the logic of facts as presented by Drs. McCarty and Martin, and having heard the convincing arguments, the committee on appropriations forthwith recommended the appropriation of $1000 for the purpose of having plans drawn. The city council at its next meeting will probably take action on the appointment of a commission to supervise the work. It is gratifying to find that the question has been handled so promptly and in such a practical manner.

It is good public policy to comply with the law that requires every city to have an infectious hospital. It is a protection to the health of the community against epidemics or outbreaks of any kind that may cause many deaths for lack of isolation.

DO THE PEOPLE LIKE TO BE HUMBUGGED?

The democratic party of this city has nominated a good municipal ticket and should now get together and elect it. Whatever little bickerings may have existed because of the failure of this or that man to be appointed to office, should be put aside and forgotten in the face of the imperative party duty. It will be said that Mayor Meehan should have appointed this or that man to such and such an office, and that because of being overlooked certain candidates have a right to be "sore" and to oppose the mayor's election. The mayor could not multiply the number of appointments so as to have enough to go around, and when he made his selection acting under his privilege as mayor, we do not believe it is the right policy for any democrat on that ground to oppose the success of the democratic ticket. The motive is purely selfish, and for that reason should not appeal to loyal democrats as justifying party treachery. There are others who at some time in the past failed to secure a nomination or election to some office and they want to get square with somebody and to vent their spleen by voting against the party ticket. The number of the disgruntled is very small, but their action is unjust, unreasonable, and will recoil upon themselves later on.

If the democrats this year are loyal to their ticket they can elect it easily; if they are disloyal, it is likely that they will throw away the best opportunity they may have for several years to win a signal victory for good government.

Mayor Meehan's administration has been eminently successful although quiet and conservative. He did not deem it advisable as a gallery play to trump up charges against any official board and remove them only to have them restored after the city had incurred considerable expense. He has demonstrated that it is not necessary for the mayor of a city who honestly conducts the business of his office to keep continually in the limelight.

It is time the people of Lowell should realize that they have been imposed upon in the past by irresponsible demagogues who raise up bugaboos for the purpose of exciting the popular mind and thereby winning popular support.

When will the people begin to see the difference between the genuine and the counterfeit in politics, between hot air and political buncombe on the one side and common sense and the honest logic of facts on the other?

The man of quiet, conservative yet progressive methods, will conserve the city's interests, promote her prosperity and maintain her reputation unshaken while the sensationalist and the political horn-blower would keep up continual turmoil and excitement which lead people who do not know the circumstances to assume that our city is victimized by grafting, turbulence and political disorder. Thus we are injured as a city in the eyes of the outside world. We have had enough of such turmoil, and if the people should return to it again it would prove the truth of Barnum's dictum that "the people like to be humbugged."

SEEN AND HEARD

The telephone is a great convenience, especially to the kitchen maid, who never remembers to give the whole of the order to the grocer.

Even the man who is so discouraged with life that he stands in the street and tells you dolefully that he wishes he were dead will jump promptly when an automobile goes "Honk! Honk!" behind him.

Children should be seen and not heard, and they ought not to be seen after nine o'clock at night.

COULD WE BUT KNOW

Could we but know what influence we wield over our fellowmen each day we live.

How frowns may hurt, or how a smile may give courage to some faint heart in life's great field.

Of battles, ah! methinks that we would be more careful of our actions as we go through this strange world of ours.

Could we but know.

Could we but stand in some one else's place, seeing our own selves from his point of view.

Our faults, of which we thought we had but few.

Would seem as countless as the stars in space.

And all the great, good traits we thought we had.

And all that we had done to lessen we.

Might all be overbalanced by the bad, could we but know.

Could we but know how just the little things which we call commonplaces mould the lives.

Of all or us! The struggling man who is so stout and fearless.

To reach a goal, and fails, and feels the sting.

Of unjust critics pierce his very soul.

A kind word might have helped him reach the goal.

Could we but know.

Could we but know! Ah! what could we but know.

The hearts that we have made to ache with pain.

By little thoughtless deeds, we would refrain.

From doing them again; and we would go.

With tear-wet eyes and beg them to forgive.

Alas, yes, our hearts would ever grow warmer.

Toward all mankind as long as we should live.

Could we but know.

THE BLESSED PAIR

There was a young woman without any mother.

Or father or sister or aunt or brother, Who met a young man in her own walk and station.

Who had, I am told, not a single relation.

This motherless maid and this fatherless fellow

Went courting each other, and life seemed all mellow

And sweet, for they had to please only each other.

And not any aunt or father or mother.

"I love you," he said, and he never diluted

His love with the hope that his father was suited;

"I love you," she said, and she added

Remark about how he'd please her dear mother.

And love seemed to smile on the whole of their wooing;

For they passed no stand of relation

They wanted each other and not some odd dozens

Of uncles and aunts and parents and cousins.

And these kinless youngsters, pray note ye the moral,

Were married without having had a real quarrel.

They were not distinguished or wealthy or clever—

But oh, they were happy for ever and ever!

LETTER CARRIERS

Made Merry at Elks Hall Saturday Night

The Lowell Letter Carriers association, branch 25, held a very interesting meeting and smoke talk at Elks hall Saturday night. Almost every letter carrier who is a member of the association was present.

President John J. Dillon was in the chair. There was much business transacted. Several letters were read by Ed. J. Lynch from a dozen or more congressmen in regard to the retirement or civil pension for letter carriers. The contents were well applauded by the large number present. A committee of twelve was appointed to abolish Sunday work.

Brother George S. Howard spoke in regard to longer vacations. He pointed out the fact that the president and the department are heartily in favor of longer vacations. Hence it was the wish of those present that congress would favorably grant a longer vacation for the postal employees so that they may return to their work rested and prepared to give the public the best possible service.

Brother Edward A. Howe, one of the oldest letter carriers in the country made remarks and he would be one of the first to make up his bag for the last time and lay aside his suit of gray if congress would only "get busy" and hasten the day for the retirement of worthy letter carriers. Brother Al. Willis read a paper on what constitutes a "good letter carrier" and Brother Joseph Sullivan made remarks.

Wm. J. Higgins, secretary of the recent ball, made special mention of the carriers who sold so many tickets. Edward J. Lynch, recording secretary, read many communications from branches in other cities on the good of the order. John P. Sheehan reported that the catering had been attended to and a sumptuous spread awaited the members. President Dillon presented Charles A. Carey to the meeting as chairman of the entertainment committee.

The following program was carried out under the chairman's direction: Piano solo, "Sons of the Bride Elect," Robert E. Fay; reading, "Light Brigade," Edward J. Lynch; solo, "My Heart Has Learned to Love You," Fred Campbell; violin solo, "The Bird That Sings," the Barley; John P. Sheehan; solo and wing dance, Whitston and Howard; solo, "Sweet Sixteen," Thomas F. Mengher; solo, "I'm a Member of the Midnight Crew," Albert E. Willis; piano solo, "Il Trovatore," Robert E. Fay; character song, "Emma Carra," "Mary Ann," by Charles A. Carey. Several encores were demanded and the latter added Blanche King's latest "Come Up Josephine in My Flying Machine."

FIERCE GALE

LASHED BAY OF FUNDY FOR 48 HOURS

DIGBY, N. S., Nov. 28.—For 48 hours the Bay of Fundy has been lashed by a fierce northeast gale which at times reached a velocity of 50 miles an hour. The storm was the longest and the worst for many years. Great damage has been done to the fishing stages and small craft that were anchored at points along the coast. The most serious disaster reported is that to the Nova Scotia schooner Mercedes, Captain H. H. Henshaw, from Clementsport, N. S., for Boston with a cargo of piling which is ashore at Butter's point and will probably be a total loss. The crew escaped.

On land the storm was also very severe, telegraph and telephone lines being carried down in all directions.

CONSTITUTION

ARIZONA'S WILL CONTAIN ONLY 16,000 WORDS

PHOENIX, Ariz., Nov. 23.—Arizona's constitution will be the briefest written in recent years by any state. According to estimates it will contain less than 16,000 words, as against 35,000 for New Mexico constitution and 104,000 in that of Oklahoma.

A significant fact in connection with these figures is that the constitution of New Mexico was written by a majority written on a "flexible" platform, while the democratic delegates who control the Arizona convention were elected on platforms promising reforms, variously designated as "progressive" and "radical." Democratic members point out that the convention has followed the suggestion of Pres. Taft, who when in Arizona held up the Oklahoma constitution as a "horrible example," and advised Arizonians to make their constitution as brief as possible and free from legislative details. The final adoption will not take place before the middle of next week.

According to the returns made to the internal revenue bureau, the capital stock of the corporations was $52,371,626,752, and their bonded and other indebtedness was $31,333,952,696.

CHARTER REVISION

Public Meeting Held in Hamilton Hall Yesterday Afternoon

Free Discussion of the Charter From Every Point of View—Dr. McAvinee Makes a Sensible Speech

The proposed new charter for the city of Lowell was discussed by prominent citizens of Lowell yesterday afternoon at a public meeting held at Hamilton hall in Odd Fellows temple, this meeting being the first of a series of meetings to be held next Wednesday night at the Odd Fellows hall, at which ex-President Elliot of Harvard college is to be the principal speaker.

The virtues of the initiative and referendum were explained as was the Des Moines charter.

The attendance was very large. The principal speakers were, William N. Osgood, Carl M. Phil and Fred C. Weld.

The first speaker was Mr. Osgood. He called to order shortly after four o'clock and spoke on the proposal of the proposed charter, the two elections which would be necessary for the choice of candidates for mayor and of the voting out process which would obtain, providing the Des Moines, or Haverhill ideas were put into effect.

Mr. Phil, the next speaker, spoke, in part, as follows:

"We want a consensus of opinion relative to a certain sort of charter. We must know before we appeal to the legislature for the right to have the matter placed on our ballots. When the citizens of Lowell know what they want and when they get together and state that they want it, then they will get it."

"The city solicitor of Haverhill, Mr. Nichols, who spoke before the board of trade recently, said that the year previous to the adoption of the new charter of $67,000. At the end of the year, after the adoption of the new charter, all bills were paid and there was a surplus of $36,000 to the credit of the city. The city is now running its affairs on a tax basis of $12 per $1000."

"We may have had a better administration and better personnel than had Haverhill prior to the new charter, and perhaps that's why we are in better shape."

"When you hire a man to run a lathe you do not expect that he is a paper-maker, and that only. You hire a man who knows how to run a lathe. This holds good in the running of municipal affairs, as in everything else.

"Your police, fire and pauper departments eat up immense sums of money yearly, and you want somebody who understands something about the spending of money for you."

"A new charter will give us a place where we can always place the responsibility for anything we want done, or for things which should have been done and are not. The municipal council of a smaller number of men brings us down nearer the old town meeting standing. We usually know something about the men at the top of the ticket, but we don't often know much about the riders. If we don't

"If the Des Moines idea comes into vogue here then the five men receiving the highest vote will be those to run the city's affairs. This gives a broader opportunity for the citizens, and it gives the men in office more authority and a better chance to do something for the city, without being hampered by a mass of red tape. In Haverhill the men on the council there figure the city's income just as men do anywhere. The best part of the charter idea was taken from the charter of the city of Galveston, Texas. There was waste and extravagance. The workers for the charter there worked for a charter slightly different from the form of the New England town meeting, where the selectmen and a town treasurer are elected annually. Possibly a dozen of the voters do all the talking at a town meeting, but the others can listen to what they say, said Mr. Weld. Then all go to vote."

Mr. Weld said that there is always the suspicion where the new form of charter has not been tried that it is to be a less popular form of government. "You go to the polls in a city election," he said, "and vote for a mayor, nine aldermen and three councilmen. There are 37 men elected altogether, yet you do not have an opportunity to vote for one-half of those 37 men. The new plan strikes me as being more popular than the one we have in use today, and it certainly is a better business form."

Mr. Weld then asked everybody present to attend the meeting in Assodate hall next Wednesday night to hear Dr. Elliot speak on city charters. In conclusion he said that in Des Moines the five members of the municipal council are elected every two years; in Haverhill, three men are elected one year and two the next. A speaker thought the Des Moines plan more perfect than any of the others.

At this point the meeting was invited to ask questions relative to the proposed charters. John Walsh asked if Dr. Elliot was close enough to the plain people to know what they want for their charter. Mr. Phil stated that Mr. Elliot knew a lot about charters.

William J. Carroll

William J. Carroll said that the matter to be discussed was so much self. He favored providing a charter for future contingencies, a charter which would allow the owning by the city of its public utilities, without forcing the people years hence, to go before the legislature to ask for the permission to vote on such a question. He wanted provision made for the future tearing down of the rat-trap tenements in the city and for the purchase of land on the outskirts, where modern, sanitary homes might be erected.

Andrew Barrett

Andrew Barrett said he wanted to get away from Dr. Elliot, because he had given forth statements since he left Harvard university which had been condemned throughout the country. He wanted to know something about the initiative and referendum.

Mr. Osgood in reply to the question said: "The initiative and referendum acts more as a club over the heads of the representatives of the people than anything else. It is to be used only when absolutely necessary. As an illustration, I may mention the case of Somerville a few years ago. A big corporation wanted to erect a slaughter house there, notwithstanding the fact that public opinion was very much against its erection. And the board of aldermen there voted to grant a permit for the erection of the slaughter house. The wrong was done, and the turning of the tide of the men who had voted for the building of the slaughter house, at the end of the year, didn't right it."

Mr. Barrett wanted to know if the initiative and referendum had ever been used in Haverhill. He said: "It would require a whole lot of time to get 4000 or 5000 names to any petition. He believed the recall all-bombard. Where are you going to draw the line?" he asked. "Some matters must be acted upon immediately. You can't wait 80 days on there until the people can decide whether they want to have them re-submitted."

"The municipal council must appropriate certain amounts of money at the opening of the year, for current expenses," said Mr. Osgood.

"These, of course, are not the subject for a referendum. A riot, if it requires an amount of money to quell it, doesn't need a referendum vote taken. If there should be a flood, or an epidemic of disease, the safety of the citizens demands immediate action and the appropriation and expenditure of public money. Of course, no referendum would be asked or needed in those instances. The referendum would be asked to those things which are important but not urgent. It is not important that a sewer, or a schoolhouse be built in 60 days, although the sewer and the schoolhouse are in themselves absolutely necessary things."

"I believe in the initiative and referendum, but I want it to be practical and effective," said Mr. Barrett.

The subject was discussed at length by Andrew Barrett, Mr. Phil, Henry Carr, Robert J. Crowley and others.

Dr. McAvinee made a stirring speech in which he said:

"It is not the thing to come here and make statements about something underneath the charter movement unless that something can be explained. I don't like to hear such statements made unless something can be shown that it is true, unless there is tangible evidence of such things. It is a statement much in line with what I have received several times recently, but on no occasion could I get anything tangible in support of such a statement. Men are liable to judge men by their own feelings. Unless we can get something more definite I think we are doing a great injustice to the city of Lowell by making such statements. It would be detrimental to the city whether you change your charter or not. A commission is an unfortunate word to use. It is a stench in the nostrils of decent citizens, sometimes. There are commissions which believe to be of the very best, and one of them is the park commission. However, to apply the word commission to this council is unfortunate. I think this new brand of government is surely coming, or something like it. It is coming because it is progressive. Not only is it coming, but it has gone back to the old charter. You will have to make men all over if you don't want men to try and get ahead of his fellows. Any system of government by men as men are made nowadays will reveal men striving to do their fellows. But that does not argue in the slightest against the new charter. Occasionally this new plan may get men who do not serve the people faithfully. The recall is the sword to hang over their heads, the sword which will make any man inclined to be derelict in their duty to the right thing. I think this new order of things is coming. I hope you will not allow the remarks made about something underneath this movement to sink deeply into your minds, until there is more in support of such statements. We don't want Lawrence to get ahead of us. Down there, the other night, they had a meeting of citizens to consider a new charter. Lawrence has beaten us in one way. She had a better plan, and we do not envy her. I hope to God we'll never have anything like that here. Think this thing over."

Mr. Kirkpatrick spoke in favor of having laboring men consulted in framing the charter.

Thomas J. Goyette said the committee of sixty were from all walks of life and that no charter had yet been drafted while none would be drawn until every society in Lowell was heard from.

WORK OF THE ASSOCIATION IN UNITED STATES

Educational State Secretary, Spoke at High Street Church—Told of Wonderful Development of Association Work in This Country

Yesterday was Y. M. C. A. Sunday and it was quite generally observed in this city, official representatives of the association speaking at several of the Protestant churches.

W. C. Smith, Educational secretary of the state committee of the Y. M. C. A. for Massachusetts, and Rhode Island, spoke on "The Association and its Community," at the High Street church yesterday morning. He said:

"The wonderful development of the association work in the United States, in which it has been so largely used of men and blessed of God, is first shown in the tremendous material and equipment in association building in 10 years from $25,000,000 to $50,000,000, and in the various activities ranging from 150 per cent. to 700 per cent. the tremendous response which the people of the United States have given to this universal call for brotherhood has placed upon the association a great responsibility, which it has sought to discharge in its help toward making for efficient, Christian manhood in meeting the young man at the point of his greatest need, speeding him on to a higher and better type of manhood and citizenship."

"This problem of the conservation of human life and character among its young men is a problem of supreme importance to the future economic welfare of our country. The association has had a definite program to offer the young man for his leisure time, and it is because it has helped young men in such a wide range of activities that the work has been so blessed. These activities have extended themselves in a large number of departments, and it will be interesting to take up briefly the work in the individual department."

"The army and navy department has done a tremendous work for our sailor and sailor boys who are denied the privilege of home life, so many ways; who lead a lonely life, and the association has given these men a haven of rest in the various ports and places where they locate. The wonderful influence it has upon their life is shown in the use to which two of our associations are put by the men in Newport and Charlestown."

"Early this month, the cornerstone of a $250,000 building was laid at Newport, by Senator Wetmore, the gift of Mrs. Thomas J. Emery, and a similar building has already been completed at Norfolk."

Meetings are held in all of the ports on board ship, and the tremendous interest which a large number of the soldiers and sailors attending these meetings have shown is an example of their appreciation of this need in their lives."

WORK OF THE ASSOCIATION IN UNITED STATES

Educational State Secretary, Spoke at High Street Church—Told of Wonderful Development of Association Work in This Country

Yesterday was Y. M. C. A. Sunday and it was quite generally observed in this city, official representatives of the association speaking at several of the Protestant churches.

W. C. Smith, Educational secretary of the state committee of the Y. M. C. A. for Massachusetts, and Rhode Island, spoke on "The Association and its Community," at the High Street church yesterday morning. He said:

"The wonderful development of the association work in the United States, in which it has been so largely used of men and blessed of God, is first shown in the tremendous material and equipment in association building in 10 years from $25,000,000 to $50,000,000, and in the various activities ranging from 150 per cent. to 700 per cent. the tremendous response which the people of the United States have given to this universal call for brotherhood has placed upon the association a great responsibility, which it has sought to discharge in its help toward making for efficient, Christian manhood in meeting the young man at the point of his greatest need, speeding him on to a higher and better type of manhood and citizenship."

"This problem of the conservation of human life and character among its young men is a problem of supreme importance to the future economic welfare of our country. The association has had a definite program to offer the young man for his leisure time, and it is because it has helped young men in such a wide range of activities that the work has been so blessed. These activities have extended themselves in a large number of departments, and it will be interesting to take up briefly the work in the individual department."

"The army and navy department has done a tremendous work for our sailor and sailor boys who are denied the privilege of home life, so many ways; who lead a lonely life, and the association has given these men a haven of rest in the various ports and places where they locate. The wonderful influence it has upon their life is shown in the use to which two of our associations are put by the men in Newport and Charlestown."

"Early this month, the cornerstone of a $250,000 building was laid at Newport, by Senator Wetmore, the gift of Mrs. Thomas J. Emery, and a similar building has already been completed at Norfolk."

Meetings are held in all of the ports on board ship, and the tremendous interest which a large number of the soldiers and sailors attending these meetings have shown is an example of their appreciation of this need in their lives."

"The industrial department is doing a wonderful work in the civic education of the immigrant and in cultivating the spirit of Christian brotherhood in its social service. When we consider that 78 per cent. of 25 of the largest Massachusetts cities are foreign born, we consider the tremendous significance of this work which has as its objective, first, to bring them into contact with Christian ideals by personal contact and by teaching, and to cultivate in our own men a spirit of missionary service; to the resident immigrant and to the returning immigrant. Thousands of immigrants are being taught the elements of English through a system outlined by Dr. Peter Roberts."

The Young Men's Christian Association

"said the president, 'has demonstrated its usefulness throughout the United States, and we know what we are talking about when we speak of it as an instrument for the elevation of any community in which it is established. Those of us who have looked into it know its practical value. In these days of innate desire for improvement, the danger that we encounter is in having that feeling go off in smoke because we do not get down to details, and practical method of doing things.'

"The boys' department has expressed itself in a group of boys' activities, inviting the boy to a healthful, natural unfolding of his best self and amid the most wholesome surroundings. The state department of the two states conducted two camps, one at Becket, Mass., and another at Friendship, Mass., where some 400 boys each year, for a period of nine weeks, get a concrete example of helping the other fellow."

The association has taken steps to form an organization known as the Boy Scouts of America, which will not be confounded with the American Boy Scouts, and presents the greatest opportunity to organize boys on wholesome lines of character building, which has yet been presented to the American people. With its watchword 'preparedness' it is sweeping the country."

The railroad and county work were also treated.

BOWLING SCORES

Result of Last Week's Contests

The announcement of the withdrawal of the Burkes team from the Catholic League bowling team, undoubtedly came as a surprise to members of the league as well as the bowlers in general throughout the city. Francis Duggan, secretary-treasurer of the league, and one of the leading members of the organization, has also tendered his resignation.

The Y. M. C. A. leads the league with the Knights of Columbus in second place. Coleman of the Y. M. C. A. leads the list of individual averages. PERIN AND FIELDING Perin and Fielding were the winners of the two-man team match at the Bridge Street Bowling Alley last week. Their scores were respectively 320 and 280, a total of 600. Chester Martel won the turkey contest with a three-strike total of 335. In the Manufacturers' League Saturday afternoon, in one game the Appletons captured two points from the Bigelows and in the other the Lowell Machine shop defeated the Massachusetts quintet.

The Phil S. S. shop and Lamson C. S. S. teams met on the alley Saturday afternoon and the former team won all three points. The scores:

BADLY INJURED

Two Lowell Men Fell Between Cars

BOSTON, Nov. 28.—When the Montreal express was leaving the North station last night the drawbar between the second and third last cars parted, separating the vestibules just as they were about to start. Two men, Michael McInerney, 56, of 459 Broadway, Lowell, and Patrick J. Marvin, 35, another Lowell man, were going through. Both fell to the tracks and were so severely injured they were taken to the Massachusetts General hospital.

McInerney sustained two fractured ribs and a sprained back, and was seriously scalded by steam. Marvin is suffering from contusions of the scalp. The train was in charge of Conductor Hind and Engineer Edward Chandler.

KING GEORGE'S SPEECH DEATH ROLL 25

Makes Hopeful Reference to Gloom Rests Over City of New-Fisheries Dispute ark, New Jersey

At Closing of Parliament Today—King's Speech Was Notable for Its Brevity

LONDON, Nov. 23.—The second parliament in the reign of the late King Edward VII, which met on Feb. 15 last, was dissolved today in pursuance of the program of the liberal government to go before the country on the question of the prerogatives of the house of lords. The king's speech was notable for its brevity, the only reference to the legislative crisis being a colorless expression of regret that the conference between the leaders of the opposing controlling parties had failed of an agreement over the reformation of the upper chamber.

The longest and most interesting paragraph which immediately followed an allusion to the death of his majesty's father, dealt with the recent arbitration of the New Foundland fisheries dispute with the United States and read:

"I confidently hope that the questions connected with the North Atlantic fisheries between Canada and New Foundland on one hand and the United States of America on the other, which have been the subject of controversy for nearly a century, have been at last finally settled by the award of the Hague tribunal. It is a cause of special satisfaction that it has been found possible to solve by arbitration problems of such an intricate and difficult nature and that the award has been received by both sides in a spirit which must tend to increase good will."

Today's dissolution of parliament brings to a crisis the supreme struggle now in progress to limit the legislative powers of the house of lords and thereby permit the elective branch of parliament, the house of commons, to exert larger powers in effecting legislation, more particularly measures relating to Irish home rule and the financial budgets.

The present house of commons has a ministerial majority of 124 and the present strength of 387 as against the opposition strength of 213 or a net ministerial majority of 174. The probabilities of dissolution sum up a new parliament to assemble on Jan. 12, 1911.

NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 23.—Only one unidentified body remained in the morgue here last night, only one employee of the Wolf Manufacturing company is still missing, and it now seems that Saturday night's estimate of the death list from Saturday's factory fire will still stand at 25. Five additional identifications were made yesterday among the bodies at the morgue. They are:

MUNNIE GOTTLEB.
TILLIE GOTTLEB.
DORA GOTTLEB.
CHARLOTTE HECKLER.
MRS. LUCY SULLIVAN.

No bodies were found in the burned building and Fire Chief James was convinced last night that no more will be found. He will keep his men at work, however, until the ruins have been turned over, brick by brick. All approaches to the scene were crowded while daylight lasted with a moving mass of humanity. It was estimated that 200,000 sightseers pushed against the police lines.

While the firemen were digging among the tumbled walls, a start of detectives from the county prosecutor's office were making examinations of their own in an effort to determine responsibility for the loss of life. Photographs and measurements were taken to be used in the official inquiry that will be held later.

The factory was an old one and the city authorities take the stand that they cannot be held accountable for any lack of fire escapes the inquiry may reveal. They say they have jurisdiction only over new buildings and additions or alterations to those already in use. Then they can enforce the city ordinances, but in the case of a building already standing the state law holds, and that law, they say, is less rigid than the more modern city ordinances.

No date for the inquiry has yet been set.

Near the morgue clustered a great crowd of morbidly curious, who were kept in check by lines of policemen. Doorkeepers were kept busy denying admissions to persons who sought mythical dead.

Yesterday morning in churches of all denominations there were references in the sermons to the tragedy. In some churches prayers for the dead were said.

PHELPS ON TRIAL

Monroe Bridge Bandit Charged With Murder

GREENFIELD, Nov. 23.—Silas N. Phelps, known throughout the north-west section of Massachusetts as the "Monroe Bridge desperado," was today placed on trial for the murder of Deputy Sheriff Emmet Haskins, last June at Phelps' home at Monroe Bridge. Judge William Schofield presided at the trial. District Attorney Irwin of Northampton conducted the prosecution and Attorney William Davenport of Greenfield appeared for the defendant.

The empanelling of a jury from the 101 talesmen who were served with venire was expected to occupy the entire day and at least one more day was considered necessary to allow the jury to visit the scene of the murder. Phelps is alleged to have killed Haskins when the officer attempted to arrest him on a warrant charging him with stabbing W. N. Benham, superintendent of a paper mill at Monroe Bridge, where Phelps was employed. After the death of Haskins Phelps fled to the wooded mountainside, taking his rifle with him. He was a skilled woodsman and "sure shot" and for several days caused a reign of terror. At last, nearly dead from exposure and thirst, Phelps was captured.

FUNERALS

BROOKS.—The funeral services of Albert Theodore Erickson, son of Oscar and Mary Erickson, were held yesterday afternoon from the home of his parents, 100 Elm avenue, South Lowell, at 3 o'clock, and were largely attended. Among the beautiful floral tributes were a pillow inscribed "Garrett," from godmother, Mrs. John Dolan, and a large wreath of roses from the family. The bearers were Jeremiah Moylan, Edward Gilliland, Edward Bourdon, Edward Peterson, T. O'Neill and Andrew Roach. At the grave Rev. Denis Murphy of St. Michael's church read the committal prayers, and the burial was in St. Patrick's cemetery, in charge of Undertakers J. F. O'Donnell & Sons.

BUTTERWORTH.—The funeral of Mrs. Louisa Butterworth took place yesterday afternoon from the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Leach, of 830 Lakeview avenue, Rev. F. A. Macdonald, pastor of the Fifth Street Baptist church, officiated. The bearers were George H. Alexander, Brooke, Hilton Schofield and James Bax. Among the many beautiful floral offerings were: large pillow, inscribed "Mother," the family; sprays, Mr. and Mrs. Stevens, Mr. and Mrs. Bax, Merrimack cloth room, Mr. and Mrs. Hilton Schofield, Mr. and Mrs. Holmes and family, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Howarth, Mrs. Ker-shaw and family, and others. Burial was in the Westlawn cemetery under the direction of Undertaker George M. Eastman.

COLLINS.—The funeral of the late Denis Collins took place this morning at 9:30 o'clock from his home in Shaw-shen street, Tewksbury, and was largely attended. At 10 o'clock a mass of requiem was sung at the O. M. I. novitiate, Tewksbury. Rev. Patrick Phelan, O. M. I., officiating. The choir sang the Gregorian mass and during services appropriate selections were rendered. There were many beautiful floral tributes. The bearers were John Keating, Francis S. O'Brien, Patrick O'Brien, Joseph O'Brien. At the grave Rev. John Flynn, O. M. I., of the Sacred Heart church, this city, read the committal prayers and the burial was in St. Patrick's cemetery in charge of Undertakers J. F. O'Donnell & Sons.

QUINN.—The body of the late Joseph Quinn, a former resident of this city, who died recently in St. Paul, Minn., arrived in this city Saturday afternoon and was interred in St. Patrick's cemetery.

TRUNK MYSTERY

Police Hear From Two New Witnesses

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—A new turn was given the trunk murder mystery today by statements of witnesses who declare that Albert Callier, the supposed victim, was seen alive in 1905, three years after the date when the crime is believed to have been committed. The trunk containing the partially mummified body recently discovered in a dwelling house basement is alleged to have been left there in 1902 by William Lewis, a waiter, for whom a wide-spread search is now progressing. Callier, a French artist, who was a close friend of Lewis, disappeared in 1902 and until now no one has reported having seen him since. The authorities today, however, are in communication with two persons who declare that they saw Callier in this city in 1905. The investigation of the mysterious crime is turning today largely in the direction of inquiries whether the murder may have been committed in a later year than 1902.

AUTO DESTROYED

Dr. Mahony's Machine Burned to Frame

BLAZE IN THE MASSACHUSETTS MILL

Fire in a Walker Street Building Caused by Lighted Candle—Chimney Fire

An automobile belonging to Dr. Francis Mahony was destroyed by fire on the Pawtucket boulevard shortly before midnight Saturday night. Engine 5 was summoned to extinguish the flames, but by the time the apparatus arrived nothing but the framework of the machine was left.

The auto had been in the repair shop for several days, and it is thought that one of the garage employees was trying out the machine when it caught fire.

Slight Mill Fire

The alarm from box 13, Morrillack square, sent in Saturday night about 7:40 o'clock, was for a threatening blaze in the Massachusetts mill. A kettie of grease in the wheel room caught fire in some unknown manner and, fearing that it would spread, the department was called. The damage was confined entirely to the wheel room, and was slight.

Fire on Walker Street

Saturday night about nine o'clock a telephone alarm summoned a portion of the fire department to a house in Walker street, belonging to Mrs. Nora J. Rafter. Some papers entered the shed in the rear of the house and placed a lighted candle on the floor. In returning the person forgot the candle and when it burned to the floor it set fire to the woodwork. The department responded promptly and the blaze was extinguished before much damage was done.

Chimney Fire

A chimney fire yesterday forenoon and two grass fires, one of the Rogers street side of the Lowell cemetery and another in Humphrey street, kept the department busy.

MICHAEL CUDAHY

Millionaire Packer Dies of Pneumonia

CHICAGO, Nov. 23.—Michael Cudahy, founder and president of the packing firm bearing his name, died last night at a hospital here of pneumonia. Mr. Cudahy had been ill for five days, the disease becoming serious early Saturday morning.

Mr. Cudahy was 69 years old. He was the last of the old guard of packers.

He came with his parents from Calican county, Kilkenny, Ireland, when 8 years old, and at 14 was working for packer Edward Reddis in Milwaukee for $6 per week. Later he was with Plankinton. His brothers began work in packing houses as soon as they were able.

In 1895 he came to Chicago and became superintendent for Armour & Co. For 17 years he had charge of all of the packing business of Armour & Co. and had a one-eighth interest in the company.

An intimate friendship existed between Cudahy and P. D. Armour. Mr. Armour was deeply grieved one day to hear Mr. Cudahy say:

"I'm going to quit. I'm going into business for myself."

"Why, Mike," exclaimed Mr. Armour in surprise, "haven't I always treated you right? We have always been the best of friends, and I don't see why you want to leave me."

"But you cannot blame me for desiring to run my own business. You know the pleasure of property and I want to enjoy some of it," replied Mr. Cudahy.

An examination of the books revealed that Mr. Cudahy's interest was worth a little more than $2,000,000, and Mr. Armour agreed to give Mr. Cudahy a bonus of that much if Mr. Cudahy would remain with the firm two years longer.

J. Ogden Armour had been working at the yards under the tutelage of Mr. Cudahy about a year. This younger Armour had proven an adept pupil. Mr. Cudahy pointed this out and argued that with a few instructions now and again from his father, the junior Armour could take care of the plant. Mr. Cudahy told Mr. Armour that he would not feel inclined to go were it not for the boy's (J. Ogden Armour) success.

When Mr. Armour found there was no way to prevent their business separation he promptly handed over to Mr. Cudahy warmly and said, "Well, all right, Mike, and we shall always be good friends. Two million dollars is not much money to enter an industry that is already crowded, but any time you need my help write me and it will be forthcoming immediately."

This was in 1899. Later that promise of the great packer was made good. In 1932 John Cudahy, who was the plunger of the family had made $1,000,000 selling wheat short in connection with N. K. Ream and "Nat" Jones, saw what he considered a chance for millions on the long side of provisions. Associated with him were N. K. Fairbanks and Austin Wright.

They carried hog products up at that time to the highest prices since the war; pork was $21 a barrel and lard 12 cents a pound. Then came on a cholera scare, followed by the panic of that year. The pool went to smash.

John Cudahy lost $2,500,000, mostly to Armour. Wright went into bankruptcy. Fairbanks, who always had a long pocket, paid his losses. Cudahy was forced to give notes for $1,500,000, which Michael Cudahy indorsed. They were paid promptly on maturity.

Michael Cudahy went into bankruptcy to quit the plunging and gambling end of business. Since then the only deals "Jack" Cudahy has been interested in are the sales and purchases of provisions on the board of trade; result, he is a millionaire, due largely to the generosity of his brother, Michael.

Michael Cudahy's fortune is rated at between $7,000,000 and $10,000,000. He was a strict Catholic and a liberal giver to charity.

Mr. Cudahy was one of the organizers and president of the North American transportation and trading company.

A NORTHERLY GALE

Incoming Ships Battered by Wind and Mountainous Seas—Boston Threatened With Scarcity of Fish

BOSTON, Nov. 28.—With unabated severity the northerly gale that for the past thirty-six hours has swept the Atlantic coast continued yesterday, and captains of steamers reaching port reported there were no signs of a let-up. The sea ran so heavy during the day some of the steamers due to arrive yesterday anchored outside in Massachusetts bay rather than run a chance of making port. It was the worst gale of the season and the wind varied from forty to sixty miles an hour during the day.

Schooner Ashore
On Cape Cod the storm was accompanied by snow and rain squalls, with occasional spells of blustering clear weather. As the storm center is north-east Cape Cod, incoming liners during the next few days probably will have stories to tell of its effects. The Nova Scotia schooner Mercator, bound for Boston, is ashore in the Bay of Fundy, and will likely be a total loss. Unable to get around the Cape because of the terrific seas running, the British steel bark Sunlight, from Marcoria, San Domingo, with 450,000 gallons of molasses on board, is anchored off Wood End, near Provincetown. Capt. Crowley ran into shallows a few days ago when the gale started, fearing if he attempted to make this port his craft might meet with a mishap.

Seas Swept Decks
Capt. Ernest Kinney of the steamer Prince Arthur, from Yarmouth, N. S., which docked at Long wharf at noon yesterday, reported that almost the entire passage was made in a blinding snow storm. The wind, he said, blew at the rate of sixty miles an hour, and for a brief period did it abate. During the trip, one of the passengers said, no one ventured out on the decks, as the high waves made it extremely dangerous.

More than fifty schooners of the fishing fleet were obliged to remain at T wharf yesterday because of the gale, and as a consequence Boston will experience a scarcity of fish this week. Only four schooners made port yesterday, and the skippers of each reported having passed through one of the worst gales in years. At times the waves swept over the decks and threatened to sweep dories and men overboard.

The E. C. Hussey, while coming into the harbor Saturday night, was caught in the gale and lost her mauling. She went into port yesterday morning. The schooner Lillian had a tough experience in the gale, but was fortunate in escaping damage. She received a severe pounding while coming around the cape. The Mattakesett and the Gloucester schooner John Hays Hammond were the others to come in.

Indian Forced to Anchor
Word reached the Merchant and Marine steamship docks yesterday that the steamer Indian of the company, bound for this port from Philadelphia, anchored off Handkerchief lightship on account of the first gale. The steamer Howard of the same company, from Baltimore, Newport News and Norfolk, with a large freight cargo and several passengers, reached port after dark. Capt. Henry S. Chase and the officers and crew of the steamer reported a howling gale blowing outside. The steamer Transportation, bound for Baltimore, which left her berth Saturday night, did not continue on her passage. When she reached quarantine the wind was blowing so fast and the sea was so rough she dropped anchor to wait until the storm was over.

The Ray State, which sailed from Portland at 8 o'clock yesterday morning, reached Central wharf at 5.30 last night with 100 passengers, all cheerful after their breezy trip. The steamer had a very rough passage, but Capt. Lincoff reported it was uneventful. The Governor Dingley, which should have sailed for Portland Saturday night, did not leave this port until 7 o'clock yesterday morning.

The Metropolitan steamer Herman Winter, Capt. Colbert, poked her nose up the harbor after dusk with three passengers on board and a general cargo. She was towed about some and a few waves washed over her deck, but no damage was done. The Belfast, from Bangor, which sailed yesterday morning, arrived at her berth here after 5 o'clock noon the worse for her rough passage. Capt. Curtis reported he did not think the weather was very rough; he had experienced worse.

The British freighter Burnholme, which was scheduled to reach port yesterday with a valuable cargo of sugar from Java, did not put in an appearance. No anxiety is felt for her safety, for she is a staunch craft and probably has been delayed by the rough sea. She is looked for today.

Seven Steamers Due
At least seven large steamers from foreign ports are scheduled to reach port today unless delayed by the storm. The Red Star liner Marquette from Antwerp, with a large passenger list, will probably arrive early this morning. Before tonight the Bucknall liner Katanga from Calcutta and Colombo; the Houston steamer Hyperia from South American ports, with a cargo of wool, hides, etc.; the Leyland liner Bostonian, from Manchester, Eng.; the first steamer Esparta from Port Lincoln, C. R. and Admiral Schley from Port Antonio should arrive.

There are three passenger steamers due this week, the White Star liner Canopic from Mediterranean ports, the Leyland liner Winifredian from Liverpool. The Canopic has on board 1417 passengers, mostly in the steerage.

FOUR FISHERMEN ARRIVE
BOSTON, Nov. 28.—A total amount of 140,800 pounds of fish was brought in on the four schooners that reached T wharf yesterday. Of that amount 62,000 pounds are haddock, 50,500 pounds cod, 19,000 pounds hake, 1800 pounds pollock, 6500 pounds cusk, and 1000 pounds halibut.

The Gloucester fishing schooner John Hays Hammond, after a two weeks' trip to Roseway Bank near La Have, Nova Scotia, brought in 51,000 pounds of mixed fish. One thousand pounds were halibut. This was the first trip of the schooner to this port in a year. The E. C. Hussey brought 25,000 pounds of mixed fish, the Lillian 52,000 pounds, and the Mattakesett 12,800 pounds.

WAS ASPHYXIATED
WORCESTER, Nov. 28.—Gas fumes from his automobile over which he was working in his garage, caused the death by asphyxiation yesterday of Edwin M. Hadley, a prominent Worcester manufacturer and capitalist. Mr. Hadley was 56 years of age and lived at 2 Lenox street. He is survived by a widow.

Flags at Half Mast Throughout City Girl Struck With Bat in Chicago

NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 28.—Careful revision today of the list of casualties in the factory fire disaster on Saturday showed that 23 persons, all of them young women, lost their lives in the disaster. Search of the ruins has revealed no more bodies of victims and all the employees in the building at the time the fire broke out have been accounted for. Nineteen persons were injured in the fire. All Newark mourned today. Flags were half-masted on private and public buildings and signs of mourning are everywhere displayed. Public Prosecutor Mott is conducting an investigation and an autopsy will be held. Prosecutor Mott is receiving reports from his detectives as to the origin of the fire, the condition of the fire escapes on the destroyed buildings and the general facilities for escape in case of fire. When all the reports are in he will decide on a plan of action.

GROWING ILL.

THAT IS TO SAY, ILLINOIS IS GROWING

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—The population of the state of Illinois is 5,633,551, according to the statistics of the 13th census, made public today. This is an increase of $17,041, or 18.9 per cent over 4,821,550 in 1900. The increase from 1890 to 1900 was 995,199, or 26 per cent.

WOOLEN MERCHANT

CHARGED WITH VIOLATING CUSTOMS LAWS

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—Clarence A. Walters, a member of the firm of John Briggs & Son, dealers in woolen goods on Ellis 10th street, was arrested today by U. S. Marshal Henkel on a charge of illegally entering through the customs house imported goods at less than their true value. Assistant District Attorney Platt says the alleged frauds will aggregate about $100,000. Walters was arraigned before U. S. Commissioner Shields and held in $10,000 bail for examination on Dec. 15.

SENTENCES HOLD

FIRST CONVICTIONS ON PEONAGE CONSPIRACY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—Sentences of imprisonment imposed on W. S. Harlan, Robert Gallagher, C. S. Hillon and S. B. Huggins of Alabama on peonage conspiracy charges were all served today in the federal court of the United States. These were the first convictions under the recent crusade of the federal government against peonage.

CONSPIRACY CASES

BROUGHT BEFORE SUPREME COURT

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—The supreme court was asked today to review the trial of Frederick A. Hyde and Moses T. A. Schneider on charges of conspiracy with John A. Bepson and Henry P. Dimond, to defraud the government out of lands in California and Oregon. The trial was held in the District of Columbia on the theory that an overt act under the conspiracy had been committed within the district. Hyde and Schneider were convicted and each sentenced to imprisonment and to pay a fine while Bepson and Dimond were acquitted. "If these rulings are correct," attorneys for Hyde and Schneider protest in discussing their petition to the supreme court, "any person who writes a letter to any official in Washington or employs an attorney here in connection with any claim against the United States becomes liable to a prosecution here for conspiracy."

CHICAGO, Nov. 28.—Italians, who the police said, were striking garment workers, engaged in two riots at Wentworth and Alexander streets today. Emma Ginto, a laundry worker, was made unconscious by a blow on the head from a baseball bat. Joseph Benaldi was clubbed senseless by the police after he had remained on slightly injured a police sergeant. Five women and four men were arrested. Police with clubs charged the crowd but had hardly returned to the station when a second riot had to be suppressed.

Miss Ginto told the police the trouble started over the fact that she and several other girls persisted in working after having been asked to go out on a sympathetic strike.

A short time afterward Walter Miller, 12 years old, fired upon a crowd of strikers that had gathered at the Miller home. He shot off one of Miss Frances Vesely's fingers. Miller's sister, Viola, and several other garment workers, had sought in the Miller house refuge from a crowd, which was angry because Viola and her companions had not remained on strike. The mob of nearly 500 fell back from the boy's shots, leaving behind Miss Vesely, who had fainted. The police took her home.

THREE FIRES

ENGAGED ATTENTION OF LOCAL FIRE DEPARTMENT

A telephone alarm at ten o'clock yesterday morning summoned a portion of the fire department to a chimney fire in a house in Agawam street belonging to Timothy O'Connor. There was no damage.

At 1.35 in the afternoon a portion of the apparatus went to the First street dump, where there was a brush fire, and at 2.12 o'clock a brush fire broke out on land in Weed street belonging to Peter O'Neill.

A brush fire broke out on land in Russell street, belonging to F. D. Russell, shortly before three o'clock, and a portion of the department was given a long run.

GARDNER RIGHT

For His Bout With Frank Klaus

"You may tell the people of Lowell that Jimmie Gardner is in the pink of condition," said Billy Pierce, match-maker of the Army A. A. in a letter to the sporting editor of The Sun today.

Mr. Pierce to assure himself of Gardner's condition visited George Byers' training camp yesterday, where Gardner has been training with Sam Langford, and found him in great shape. The most confident man of all is Sam Langford who is putting out his money on Gardner.

In the first preliminary Freddie Maguire of this city will meet Tom Flanagan in a six round bout. Since Freddie put Flanagan away a year or more ago the latter has grown in weight and experience and has shown lately at several bouts at the Arrow club and an even fight is anticipated. A bang-up semi-final is assured when Joe Nelson of Lawrence and Tommy Furey of Attleboro will clash.

The Boston sporting writers all predict that if Gardner is in shape, he will beat Klaus as the latter depends entirely on whirlwind swings and they argue that Gardner being a much more skillful boxer can get inside of the swings and do the business at short arms work.

A large delegation from Lowell will attend according to Fred Tighe and Ed Cushing of this city, the local membership representatives of the Army club.

THIRD BASEMAN DOESN'T LIKE CINCINNATI

CINCINNATI, O., Nov. 28.—Third Baseman Grant was secured by the Cincinnati Reds in trade with Philadelphia, has not signed his contract for next season with the local team and wired communications from Boston to say that Grant probably will refuse to sign. He is said to like Philadelphia better than Cincinnati. Grant is in Philadelphia, where he is to hold a conference with Manager Dpoin of the Philadelphia team in order to ascertain if it will not be possible for him to remain there and play next season.

2000 REMOVED

SIX VILLAGES TAKEN TO MAKE A RESERVOIR

EL PASO, Texas, Nov. 28.—Preparations are being made by the government to remove nearly 2000 people from their homes in order to make room for a great Elephant Butt reservoir near El Paso. The villages, ranking in population from 50 to 750, will be inundated when the water is turned in. Among the towns to be obliterated is Paraje, once an important station and distributing point on the Santa Fe trail, with a population, then, of 3000. From Paraje the trail entered on the famous Jornada del Muerto (Journey of death), where scores of immigrants died of thirst in the old freight stage. The government is now engaged in buying up the farms and large property of the residents and by the time water is available the great basin of 40,000 acres will have been deserted.

FIGHT AT JUAREZ

EL PASO, Nov. 28.—A telegram was received by Jose Politico, Fortuna at Juarez last night from Secretary of State Foran at Chihuahua, stating that a fight had taken place between the Insurrectionists and federal forces near that city. According to the despatch 20 Insurrectionists were killed and many wounded. The federal forces have taken several hundred prisoners and captured a large quantity of arms and ammunition. The casualties to the federalists at the time of sending the telegram were one captain and three privates wounded. The Insurrectionists were completely routed and fled back to their stronghold in the hills, with the government forces in pursuit.

15 REBELS KILLED

Federal Troops Routed 400 Maderistas

Skirmish Occurred Near City of Chihuahua and Rebels Were Driven to the Mountains—Police Defied at Juarez, But Without Rioting

CHIHUAHUA, Mex., Nov. 28.—In an engagement near here yesterday which lasted from 9 o'clock in the morning until 2 in the afternoon, 600 federal troops routed a force of 400 Maderistas, driving them repeatedly from strong positions and compelling them to take to the wooded mountain. The revolutionists lost 15 killed and many wounded. There were no fatalities on the federal side, but several including three officers, were wounded.

General Navarro was in command of the federal troops. He left Chihuahua at 5 o'clock yesterday at the head of four companies of the second battalion and two squads of cavalry from the 15th regiment. Near Fresno, 12 miles out, one of the squads of cavalry fell behind to guard the road. They were ambushed by the rebels, who opened fire from hills on both sides of the road. Captain Flor-entina Gavica with 50 troopers, drove the enemy from their position. Captain Gavica waited for a portion of the federals who had gone forward, to reinforce him before pursuing the insurrectionists. In the meantime the latter took a position on another hill, a short distance away and prepared to resist an attack.

Within half an hour General Navarro reached the scene with his infantry and opened fire. Again the rebels retreated, only to seek a new position from which they were again dislodged. At last they fortified themselves behind a stone wall, where they made a determined stand. The firing was heavy and here most of the loss of life occurred.

After several hours of skirmishing the rebels broke for the mountains. They were pursued by the infantry for some three miles. The cavalry did not join in the pursuit because of the rough character of the country. Behind the stone wall the bodies of 15 rebels and 10 dead horses were found. The federals abandoned the pursuit in order to make camp and care for their wounded. Several of the most seriously injured were sent to this city for treatment.

Artillery and cavalry left late last night, it is said, making a detour to intercept the revolutionists.

QUIET AT JUAREZ

EL PASO, Nov. 28.—Sunday passed without any insurrectionary demonstrations in Juarez or at any place on the border near here.

At the bull fight in Juarez scenes of last Sunday were repeated. At the close of the exhibition several young bloods entered the arena and seizing the victorious matador carried him through the streets, shouting defiance to the police.

The races of the Juarez Jockey club took place without interference and were attended by 4000 Americans.

Newsletters received here from Chihuahua yesterday gave a conservative account of the trouble in that city and state. The insurrectionists are referred to as Maderistas. The federal troops, to the number of 1500, are now stationed there. According to the papers, much actual fighting took place at Parral, and a number of persons were killed, including one American.

TEN CONSPIRATORS ARRESTED. MEXICO CITY, Nov. 28.—With the exception of the fighting at Chihuahua, reports reaching this city up to a late hour last night indicated no disturbances.

A company of the second cavalry and four pieces of artillery arrived at Orizaba to guard that place and Rio Blanco, where rioting has occurred recently. Ten men charged with conspiracy against the government were arrested and sent to this city for trial.

Saltillo reported the state of Coahuila tranquil and Monterey and vicinity were said to be peaceful.

MEXICO QUIET

NO DISTURBANCE WAS RECORDED YESTERDAY

LAREDO, Tex., Nov. 28.—Sunday was a day of quiet in northern Mexico, according to official advices received by General Villar, commander of the frontier forces of the Mexican army. Detachments stationed at different points about Matamoros and Ciudad Porfirio Diaz sent despatches early yesterday morning and all were of the same tenor, that practically normal conditions prevail.

Similar statements were received from the detail of troops stationed along the border on the American side of the river. General fear of a formidable formation in the southern republic, seems to be dissipated.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

PAISED BY FIFTH AVENUE PASTOR

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—Women's clubs are superior to men's clubs, thinks Dr. Charles R. Aked, pastor of the Fifth Avenue Baptist church.

"A man's club is for personal ease, good cooking and good company," he said in his sermon yesterday. "The woman's club of this country, so striking a feature in our national life, are organized for work. It may be for education, or propaganda, or charity, or philanthropy. They have not always lived up to their professions, a peculiarity which they share with churches, but at least they have in view something more than a comfortable chair and a well cooked supper."

"Our churches are generally manned by women. There is not a church in existence today which would be in existence but for love and yearnings of a woman's heart."

FOOTBALL RULES

Dr. Williams of Penn Discusses Them

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 28.—Dr. Carl Williams, representative of the University of Pennsylvania on the football rules committee and chairman of the advisory board of coaches, speaking of the new football rules yesterday said:

"There is no question that under the new rules there has been a decrease in the number of injuries. I contend, though, that the new rules have not succeeded in making the game more interesting to the public. The game has been marred by the fact that under the new rules prohibiting giving assistance to the runner, it is almost impossible for either of two evenly matched teams to gain more than two or three consecutive first downs. I would remedy this by permitting the runner to receive the assistance of at least one man. If such a rule were passed, it would be possible to restrict the forward pass to back of the line of scrimmage. This would give the offense an even chance. Then I would remove the 20 yard restriction from the on-side kick."

"With the experience of this year as a guide, next year's game should be far more interesting and just as safe."

Dr. Albert H. Sharpe, of Yale, coach of Penn Charter school, this city, and one of the best known referees in the country, said:

"As a coach and an official, I feel sure that the new game has reduced injuries, but it has not been an unqualified success. To improve it, I would remove the restrictions from the on-side kick. I would also eliminate the 20-yard zone intended to protect men going down the field under kicks and also the 5-yard zone back of the line of scrimmage beyond which a man had to stand when making a kick."

"I also think that the rules should be so framed as to permit a runner to catch hold of his interference, but I would not permit the runner to be shoved or pushed. The removal of restrictions from the on-side kick would compel the defense to open up and the attack could gain more consistently."

GENERAL OAKES

DROPPED ON SIDEWALK AND DIED SUDDENLY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—General James Oakes, who was retired in 1870 after thirty years of active service in the Mexican and Civil wars as well as the Indian uprisings in the southwest, sank unconscious to the pavement yesterday near his home and died 20 minutes later at a local hospital. Death was caused by heart trouble. General Oakes was 85 years old.

NICHOLS DEAD

WAS PROMINENTLY IDENTIFIED WITH RAILROADS

MONROE, La., Nov. 28.—D. H. Nichols of Springfield, Mo., prominently identified with several railways of the country, died suddenly here yesterday from heart failure.

Mr. Nichols had been general superintendent of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad.

AFTER MANOBOS A RAZOR DUEL

Troops Kill Riotous Tribesmen

MANILA, Nov. 28.—Detachments of troops and constabulary are operating against the hostile Manobos in Davao, Mindanao island. One column has killed several of the tribesmen, including two who were implicated in the murder of Earl Gert, a planter from Seattle. Another column has killed three of the tribesmen implicated in the murder of Gert and other planters, and has succeeded in recovering Gert's body.

A third detachment had two soldiers wounded while a fourth lost one soldier, killed in ambush. The rounding up of the tribesmen continues.

BROKEN RIB

SOWELL PLAYED GAME, THOUGH INJURED

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Nov. 28.—After the return from Philadelphia of the victorious Naval Academy football squad Saturday night it was learned that Ingram C. Sowell, the quarterback, played almost the entire game with the West Point Cadets Saturday suffering from a broken rib and probably a punctured lung.

The injury was sustained during the first few minutes of play, but Sowell paid no attention to it and his hurt was not known to any one else until the expiration of the first period. The quarterback's chest is heavily muscled and it was perhaps owing to this that examination on the field did not disclose serious injury. He was allowed to continue playing, but was told not to run with the ball. He disregarded that order, however.

Dr. A. H. Murphy, one of the Naval Academy surgeons, who was with the squad and who has since carefully examined Sowell, says that a rib is undoubtedly broken, but that he is not sure the lung has been punctured.

Sowell was put to bed at the hotel in Philadelphia soon after the game, but was considered well enough to return to Annapolis with the squad yesterday. The trip caused a rise in his temperature and last night it was 102 degrees. Dr. Murphy is authority for the statement that the only possibility of danger lies in the chance of infection, of which there are no indications whatever.

TWO OVERCOME

IN FIRE AT READING LAST EVENING

READING, Nov. 28.—Two persons were overcome and rescued with difficulty and eleven others got to the street in their nightclothes barely in time to escape death in a fire which destroyed the home of C. W. Black, opposite the Reading car yards early yesterday morning.

The flames had broken through the roof before they were discovered by M. C. Parkins, night foreman of the car yards. He ran across the street to awaken the inmates, while John Ronco, a workman, sent in an alarm. In the house, asleep, were Mr. Black, his wife, their four children and seven lodgers. Parkins first awakened Black and assisted him in getting Mrs. Black and the children to the street in their nightclothes. The lodgers were awakened and reached the street without trouble, except two, Ed Connors and Richard Bowman. The men were unconscious, and Black, Ronco and Parkins took them from the room and down into the street.

By the time the apparatus arrived the house was far gone. It is a total loss of about $5000.

ON A PIPE

TWO GAMBLERS TOOK A LONG CHANCE

LYNN, Nov. 28.—It was just by luck "Reddy" Perkins, who weighs 250 pounds, and another man whose name was lost in the shuffle, landed in jail, instead of on the pavements last night, when in an attempt to escape arrest in a gambling raid they crawled out of a third story window and perched themselves on a two-inch water pipe running along the side of the house underneath.

Officers Stringer and Remsen made the raid. They soft-footed their way up the stairs at 127 Oxford street, which was under suspicion of being a gambling resort, and entered a room on the third floor. As they did so they counted nine men present. It was in the hubbub that followed their arrival they missed sight of some of those present, but after everything, including the other occupants of the room, had subsided, and they counted noses, there were but seven. It was a mystery they couldn't fathom until Stringer noticed the window was open.

Looking out he saw Perkins and the other man clinging to the side of the house, with the pipe slowly pulling away, just in time to save their necks. The two men were then taken to police headquarters and locked up.

NINETY YEARS OLD

Mrs. Gratia A. Coburn Observed Birthday Yesterday

Mrs. Gratia A. Coburn, of 878 Chelmsford street, was 90 years old yesterday and four generations were present at the birthday observance of her birthday. She was made the recipient of many beautiful bouquets of choice flowers and she received innumerable postal cards from friends. Mrs. Coburn, despite her long chain of years, is in excellent health. She is a member of the Episcopalian church. Her maiden name was Gratia A. Parker. She was born in Chelmsford, on the Boston road, November 27, 1820. She lived there until her marriage, June 22, 1846, to S. Adams Coburn of this city. Mr. Coburn died over 20 years ago, and since that time Mrs. Coburn has lived with Mr. and Mrs. Caleb L. Smith, Mrs. Smith being her daughter.

She has two children living, Mrs. Caleb L. Smith and George A. Coburn, both living with her at the old Coburn homestead, and five grandchildren, Mrs. Royal K. Dexter, Ralph C. Smith, Frank A. P. Coburn, Joseph H. Coburn and Miss Belle Coburn, the latter three residents of Chelmsford, and seven great grandchildren.

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

Tonight the opera house will offer Low Docketader and his "twentieth century minstrels," now under the management of the Messrs. Shubert. As usual Docketader comes this year with an all new show, not one feature of last year's production having been retained. The effort of this comedian has always been aimed at producing real minstrelsy and in this direction his show differs considerably from the usual minstrel bills which present the old familiar first part circle, followed by the vaudeville olio. All this has been eliminated and real minstrelsy, as Mr. Docketader knows it is the result.

The book and lyrics for this year's entertainment, for it is "minstrelsy with a plot," are the contribution of Vincent Bryan who has earned quite a reputation for himself as a writer on account of his work in several musical comedy successes. The first curtain rises on "The Poem Hunt Club Revue," showing the lawn of the club house brilliantly illuminated and the members of the club all attired in English hunting costume. The plot or story of the play begins at the introduction of Mr. Docketader, who is persuaded by the president of the club to participate in a draught which takes him to the second part of the evening. Impersonating many well known public men, "Some of the scenes of special mention are the island of 'Shantiel,' the costume for this act alone it is believed will create unusual comment on account of their richness, a spectacular travesty, and a dancing act which serves to introduce Carroll Johnson called 'Louisiana'."

Mr. Docketader has an abundance of new songs, jokes and stories, and proves his claim of up-to-date by flying out over the heads of the audience in a real acrobatic. The singing strength of this year's company is another feature believed to be deserving of special mention including Chas. Falk, Harry A. Ellis and Tom McKenna, late of "The Quartette," Allen Campbell and Wm. Smith. Associated with Mr. Docketader on the fun list are Carroll Johnson, Eddie Mazier, "Happy" Nauty, Johnny Foley and in all about eighty persons.

HATHAWAY THEATRE

A really good dramatic act is one of the best contributions to a first class vaudeville entertainment, but it is hard to get them. That this can be accomplished, however, is proved by the enterprise of the Hathaway management, which has secured for this week the presence of one of the brightest lights of the theatrical world—Miss Valerie Rogers, one of the most gifted and popular actresses that has graced the make-up in many years. Miss Rogers and her company will present "The Japanese Wife," vaudeville's classic and most beautiful one-act playlet. She is assisted by a most efficient support in the person of her husband, the artistically natural and perfect in every detail. The story is a pretty one, and it is most vividly told through the splendid acting of the star, who is fortunate in having such a vehicle for the exhibition of her talent.

Anita Diaz and her trained simians give a performance that will be a delight to all the ladies and children among the "regulars" at the Hathaway. There are eight or ten of the "monks" in the troupe, and they are well trained as they are intelligent. Welligh human is manifest in their exhibition.

Robinson and Le Fever, comedy acrobats and original barrel jumpers, come to show the budget of fun by their odd and entertaining antics.

Lillian Levier is a winsome comedienne, possessed of both vocal talent and a captivating style, and she is certain to make innumerable friends in this city during the week.

Two other acts, man and woman, are duo who are the most original and cleverly diverting in their originality and cleverness. Their comedy is light, bright and sparkling, and their songs up-to-date and well sung. "At the Mouth of the Crater" will be presented by Barry Johnson & Co. This is based on the "Desperate Desmond" cartoons, which have recently appeared and it is heralded as a screamingly funny comedy. There is much special scenery used in the presentation. New motion pictures close the show.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

Mrs. Tom Thumb and her company of midgets come to the Merrimack Square theatre this week as the top of an unusually varied bill, one well calculated to please. Mrs. Tom Thumb is herself without question the most wonderful, as she is the best known, midget in the world. Her theatrical experiences, covering the years from Barnum's early fame, are beyond those of probably any other woman on the stage.

This week, with her company, none of whom is hardly larger than a small elf, she will present the sort of an act which will please everybody, young and old alike.

Another first class act is that presented by Homer's Six Imperial Dancers, one of the most remarkable comedies in vaudeville. The six do some really wonderful dancing, and the setting is unusually elaborate and marked by special electrical effects.

The bill is a rare and original one, and the management has decided to reserve a few seats in the balcony of the theatre, at 15 cents, in addition to the price of admission, in acknowledgment to the orchestra. Reserved seats may be purchased one week in advance. The new order goes into effect with tonight's performance.

CLARK-URBAN COMPANY

The Clark-Urban company which will appear at the Lowell opera house for a three night and two matinee engagement has secured for its opening play, David Higgins' great comedy drama, "His Last Night," which is full of comedy and pathos, remarkable for the number of strong parts it contains and will be produced with all special scenery, electrical and mechanical effects. The following high class vaudeville features will be introduced at each and every performance. Fred Bollinger, aerial artist, A. E. Tenny, comedy juggler; Roberta and Edith, bounding rope and slack wire; Marion Alden, acrobatic dancer; Marie Hodgkins, vocalist; Grace Leith, the funny

COLONIAL THEATRE

The present management has secured that team of fun-makers, Pace and Johnson, for the first part of the week and that means many laughs at the Colonial while they are there. The other acts are high-class and refined and will make hits. The pictures in this theatre are carefully selected and nothing is shown to offend in any way. The aim is the aim of the management to produce nothing but the best.

and to give to its patrons a large clean performance. Special efforts are made to please the ladies and children. Performances begin at 2 in the afternoon and at 8:45 and 8:30 in the evening.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC

A big show will be presented at this house this week. The Electric 4 are the greatest funmakers in the business. They should see them. They are wonderful. This in itself will be worth the price of admission, while there will be several other novelty acts on the bill, including Brobet, magic whistler, and a comedy sketch by Mr. and Mrs. Corbett, entitled "The Tamer," which is full of fun. The pictures will be all new. The subjects and prove to be entertaining and instructive. You cannot find any better place to spend an afternoon or evening than the Academy as it is the best show in town for the money and don't forget Wednesday evening is amateur night.

EMPIRE THEATRE

The bill for the first three days of next week at this popular little house contains many novel features, chief among them being Willard & Co. in a stirring dramatic playlet, entitled "The Blue and the Gray."

Stein and Marie, an exceptionally clever sketch team will present a Dutch comedy act, "The Arrival of Lena," that has called forth encore after encore wherever they have appeared, and Bob Fink in his songs and funny stories will complete a thoroughly enjoyable entertainment.

For our Grand Sacred concert, on Sunday, there will be an entire change of pictures, and the Italian Troubadours in some new selections.

"WOMEN FIRST"

Boston Clergymen Attacks L Road Signs

BOSTON, Nov. 28.—Declaring the newly erected signs asking for preference to women are an insult to the male traveling public as a whole, the Rev. Allan A. S. Van Hook, of the Congregational church last night concluded his sermon on "Women First, Please," with a satirical little poem against the recent action of the Elevated.

"I think the proportion of men who risk life and limb in boarding the cars before they have reached a stop is very few. I think there is no need of insulting the whole traveling male public for the sake of getting at those few 'monks' in the troupe," declared the pastor in beginning his sermon.

"It's bound to produce revulsion, antipathy and perked-up spirit sooner or later. I do not think that the men who are traveling in the cars are unchivalrous or selfish."

"I myself have offered a seat to a lady, because if she is very young and pretty you are accused of favoritism, and if the lady is slightly advanced in years she will refuse the seat as a reflection on her age."

"I myself have stood back and stood back and let car after car go by and I have given it up. I don't see how a woman can have the privilege of her own private carriage at Dudley street. First come, first served, must prevail."

"The women are put in a false light by this new order of things. They are so fussy, timid or weak as those signs suggest."

"What will the visiting journalists think of the chivalry of the men of this town when they see those signs? I think there will be a lot of letters received by the Boston Elevated company from women complaining of the actions of men at Dudley street, and those few were not representative of the whole play that exists in the hearts of the women of Boston."

"There is something in that seat that can be done to reach those rude and unchivalrous few without giving the general impression that the men of Boston are impolite."

DR. STOCKDALE'S POEM

We are living in the age
When it seems to be the rage
With our women everywhere in all the land
To get mixed right up in things,
All the works of serfs and kings,
And in everything that's going take a hand.

Sellings goods and casting votes,
Filling up the trains and boats;
Everywhere their flag of freedom
They unfurl.

They are bound to show the men
That good things lie upon when
They have come into their own
And run the world.

House of Commons, House of Lords,
States and cities, men in hurries,
They have got to bow right down and Feel the yoke.

For the woman in her might
Is now standing for her right
And the man that talked regretted
That he spoke.

THEATRE VOYONS

These are probably several hundred Irishmen in Lowell who came to this country, poor and by their pluck, courage and industry have made names and riches for themselves in the Land of the Free. Today the Theatre Voyons shows a picture taken in Ireland on a trans-Atlantic steamer, and in New York telling the story of an Irish lad who does just this thing. The scenes taken in Ireland show his hard work and poorer conditions of life. He becomes discouraged and starts for America where he finds prosperity. In the reward of industry and thrift in time goes back to the old country to live his boyhood sweetheart. There must be a picture that the Irishman will readily recognize both in Ireland and in the scenes taken in Ireland and it will prove a real treat to everyone who sees it.
